FOES IN SENATE CONCEDE VICTORY FOR RECIPROCITY

McCumber Admits Agreement Will Pass, but Still He Insists on Arguing.

AMENDMENTS ARE DOOMED

Not on Program to Deliver Principal Speech in Defense of Measure.

KNOX SUBMITS TRADE FIGURES

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—The senatorial opponents of Canadian reciprocity have thrown up the sponge.

Their spokesman, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, who has labored incessantly to arouse antagonism to President Taft's policy, was forced reluctantly today to admit in the open senate that he and those who feel as he does have abandoned the fight.

From now on they merely will argue in support of the position they have assumed and seek to show the farmer how terribly wronged he will be as a result of the enactment of the agreement.

McCumber Admits Hopelessness.

Mr. McCumber delivered a long set speech wherein he described the calamity reciprocity will precipitate. As an introductory to his remarks he thus indicated the hopelessness of the opposition to the Taft measure:

"This measure will pass the senate by a vote of nearly two to one. It will be supported by the Democrats as a party measure and expected by them to destroy the Republican policy of protection. It will be reluctantly supported by a number of Republican senators whose reasons, I presume, will be given in the course of this debate.

"I do not expect my discussion will change a single vote in this fight. I do expect, however, I shall be able to establish beyond any possible controversy that the enactment of this pact into law will grievously injure the agricultural interests of every northern state and will not benefit the agricultural interests of any state."

With this regretful commencement the North Dakota senator took up his tale of the woes about to be inflicted upon the country in consequence of better trade relations with Canada.

Mr. McCumber was heard by not more than a dozen senators who occasionally interrupted him with questions, but only languid interest was manifested in his speech. The same also is true of the speech made by Senator Curtis of Kansas, who was equally positive the United States is about to sacrifice its home market.

Stirs Only Languid Interest.

While these speeches were being delivered senators in the cloak rooms were figuring upon the chances of the Root paper and pulp amendment. No one has any doubt that the amendment will be rejected, as will be the so-called "farmers' free list" amendment which will be offered by Democrats.

The debate will drag along for several weeks, the floor being occupied principally by opponents of the legislation. The master speech in defense of the agreement is expected to be delivered by Senator Root of New York. It is not his intention to dwell with any especial force upon his amendment, but to devote his argument principally to establishing the excellent results which will follow commercially and politically from the operation of the agreement.

Assert Canada Gets Most Benefit.

It is asserted by those opposed to the agreement the United States has surrendered practically everything, while Canada will enjoy the bulk of the benefit. Secretary Knox has just laid before the senate information in regard to the imports into Canada from the United States affected by reciprocity, covering the Canadian fiscal year ending March 31 last.

When reciprocity negotiations were under way the only statistics available were for the fiscal year 1909. The Canadian figures show a much larger trade in commodities affected by reciprocity during 1911 than during 1910, and consequently a larger amount of duties remitted.

Based on the trade of 1910, the total remission of duties by Canada on American products would have amounted to $2,561,000, while on the basis of 1911 the amount would be $3,268,000, an increase in remitted duties of $707,000.

The heaviest remission of duties is in the free list and particularly on agricultural products. This is slightly under $2,000,000 and is an increase of more than $500,000.

Heaviest Remission on Fruit.

The Canadian figures show the greatest amount of duties which would have been remitted had the agreement been in force was in fruit of all classes. Vegetables and live animals come next. An increased trade is reported in cottonseed oil timothy, and clover seed, and garden seeds.

Hays are an important item of larger business. Canadian imports of this product from the United States having risen 2,200,000 dozen in 1910. Miscellaneous farm products, such as are raised along the border, show a uniform increase.

In manufactured articles it appears the total remissions of duty under reciprocity would be more than $810,000, as compared with $378,000 the previous year. Agricultural implements, motor vehicles and parts of motor vehicles, including automobiles, form the heaviest single commodities in this list. In these the total remission of duties would be about $300,000.

Of the special list on which the Canadian duty is lowered without any corresponding reduction by the United States, bituminous coal is the leading commodity.

E. S. COOKE STOLE $22,000, MRS. J. S. FORD TESTIFIES.

Witness, Ill, Carried Into Court—Says Chicagoan Admitted Taking Money and She Hid It for Him.

Cincinnati, O., June 14.—Charles L. Warriner, defaulter to the extent of $643,000, stepped from the court scene in the trial of Edgar S. Cooke here today back to his cell and then entered Jeannette Stewart Ford, once reputed a veritable Du Barry, now a pathetic, palsied invalid.

With quavering voice, shaking hand holding a handkerchief unsteadily to her eyes, she admitted having hidden $22,000 in money for Cooke and then declared that he had told her that it had been taken from the Big Four railway.

She said that she had received $1,200 or $1,500 of this amount for herself, and then, when shown a check signed by her and indorsed by Cooke for $1,000 said that the former bookkeeper of the railroad had forced her to return that amount to him.

In all essential details her testimny fitted into and supplemented that of Warriner. Warriner had related that when he discovered that Cooke was short the defendant had promised to return some of the money and had subsequently visited Warriner's home and given him $2,000.

HOUNDED TO DEATH BY U. S. SLEUTHS? INQUIRY TO DECIDE

Coroner Today Will Reopen Case of Man Who Fell from Hotel Window.

LAND FRAUD SUIT WITNESS

L. M. Snell Wanted by Government for Alleged False Testimony in Texas.

SUICIDE, SAY FEDERAL AGENTS

To prove the falsity of charges that United States secret service officers caused the death of L. M. Snell, who jumped from a hotel window on May 26, Coroner Hoffman today will reopen the inquest and there will be a thorough investigation of the case.

Snell was 45 years old and had been employed as a real estate agent by H. O. Stone & Co. He had separated from his wife, who resides at 1510 East Sixty-sixth place.

Snell had been a guest of the Albes' hotel, 229 North Clark street, from Feb. 1 up to the time of his suicidal leap. A few minutes after 12 o'clock noon on May 26 he was seen to jump from the window of his room on the third floor. He struck the cobble stone pavement of a narrow alley between the Albes and the St. Charles hotels.

Was Witness in U. S. Case.

He was taken by the police to the county hospital and died there June 7. Before and after his death reports were circulated that Snell had been thrown out of the window by government secret service men. About a year ago he was a witness in a government land fraud case in Texas, and according to the reports circulated following his leap from the hotel window he had been hounded by government detectives. It was openly declared by persons who knew the history of the land fraud affair in which Snell had been a witness that agents of the government had killed him and tried to make it appear as a case of suicide.

Anonymous letters were sent to Washington regarding the case, and the matter was turned over to Charles DeWoody, chief of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice. Mr. DeWoody assigned W. C. Dennenberg to investigate the case, with the result that proof positive, it is said, will be produced at the coroner's hearing today that Snell was a suicide.

The land fraud case, which, it is declared, preyed upon his mind and drove him to suicide, was against W. J. Hogue, a former resident of Chicago. After the trial of the case Snell made an affidavit in which it is declared by government officials he committed perjury. He was about to be arrested for making the false affidavit when he leaped to death. Before he jumped from the hotel window he wrote a message on a card to his wife. This note will be one of the proofs of suicide that the government officers will introduce at the hearing of the case this afternoon.

The note written by Snell to his wife read: "Notify Mrs. L. M. Snell, 1010 East Sixty-sixth place. Good-by. I forgive every one. Let them forgive me. L. M. SNELL."

Say Woman Saw Leap.

According to the police report of the case, Snell was seen to jump from the window by Mrs. Mary Lambert, an actress, who was a guest of the St. Charles hotel. Telegraphic dispatches were sent yesterday to a dozen cities in an effort to find Mrs. Lambert, whose testimony is needed by the government representatives at today's hearing. When last heard of she was in Des Moines, Ia.

Herman Schneider, one of the proprietors of the St. Charles, talked with Mrs. Lambert about the case, and she told him of having seen Snell leap from the window.

"Mrs. Lamber occupied a room on the third floor of the St. Charles," said Schneider, "and it was directly opposite the window from which Snell leaped. She told me she was arranging her hair and noticed the man across the alley in a room at the Albes. He came to the window several times. Mrs. Lambert said, and looked down into the alley. She was standing in front of a mirror and observed his actions.

"Suddenly the man, who was Snell, stepped up on the window sill and jumped. I was in the saloon on the first floor of the St. Charles and heard his body strike the cobble stones.

"I ran out the side door to the alley and found him bleeding from the mouth, nose and ears. My first thought was that he was a guest of our hotel.

Man Taken to Hospital.

"While I was bending over him Mrs. Lambert came running out into the alley and told me of seeing him jump from the Albes. The police were called and he was taken to the hospital."

Investigator Dannenberg says he will prove that the reports of Snell being killed by secret service agents are without foundation.

"It is absurd even to think of Snell being the victim of government officers," said Mr. Dannenberg. "He made a false affidavit in the Hogue land fraud case, and the government detectives were on his trail. He knew that he was going to be arrested and taken to Dallas for trial. The matter preyed upon his mind and he killed himself by leaping from the hotel window.

Ask Reopening of Case.

"Vicious reports have been circulated since the death of Snell, and it is to disprove these that Coroner Hoffman was asked to reopen the case.

"There is no doubt that Snell killed himself because he feared imprisonment. I understand that Hogue has been in Chicago recently."

Mrs. Snell, the widow, admitted last night that she had heard the report that her husband was thrown from the window by government officers. She has been confined to her room since hearing of Snell's suicidal leap.

POLICE ESCORTS FOR LADIES.

Desk Sergeant—"Say, Bill, here's a lady wants an escort. Hustle over right away, will you?"

"Some chromo, probably." "! ! ! ! !" "So kind of you to come." "Do you enjoy music?" "Sure thing. Why? Don't you?"

Desk Sergeant—"Say, Bill, here's another call for an escort. Chase yourself over right away!"

"I've read up some dope on music and art." "Oh, Mr. Officer, I want to be escorted in the moonlight for a walk." "Isn't this romantic?" "Let's hurry. I've got to get back."

RELENTING WIFE CLIMBS TO FLAT

Husband and Detectives Watch Her Mount Fire Escape for Four Stories.

QUITS MEAL IN A HUFF.

Mrs. Louis D. Frede, 1506 West Lake street, is a climber—not the social sort, but just what Webster says the word means, "one who climbs, mounts, rises by the hands and feet."

She used both with effect and through her climbing abilities peace once more has settled down over the Frede household.

After a little "family jar" yesterday morning Mrs. Frede gathered her jewelry and trinkets and departed after her husband had gone to work.

Husband Sends for Police.

Mr. Frede returned home at night. He first thought his wife was visiting neighbors, but when he found his wife's bureau in a disheveled state he thought "burglars" and summoned aid from Lake street police station.

Detectives O'Hara and Engel came along the double-quick and met the excited man at the entrance to the apartment building. Then the trio happened to look down an alley alongside the building, saw Mrs. Frede run from the other end and start up a fire escape.

Shouts Hurry Climber.

The men called to the climber, but that only made her mount faster until she gained Frede's fourth story apartment. Then the trio ran back to the front entrance, hurried up the stairs, and arrived in the home just as Mrs. Frede crawled through a kitchen window.

"I must have lost my key, for I couldn't get in through the door," she told the policemen. "Believe me, it won't happen again."

"There's no place like home, hubby dear," she whispered. "I may have been a bit too hasty, but, see, I have come back to you and brought all my things back with me. It won't happen again, will it, Louis?"

Louis "guessed not."

TRIES TO UNTIE "STACEY" KNOT.

Girl Bride's Plea Denies Power of "Marrying Squire" to Perform Marriage Ceremonies.

The validity of a marriage performed by Justice Stacey was attacked in a bill filed yesterday in the Superior court. This is the first formal challenge of the "marrying squire's" powers, and should the courts hold in this case that the justice had not the power to perform the ceremony, marriages of over a thousand other couples will be affected.

Miss Katherine Hagler, daughter of Frederick Hagler, met Walter Keck in a north side skating rink. The following day, Aug. 8, 1910, they were rushed through the matrimonial mill in Stacey's cubby hole in the clerk of the County court's office. The girl is 17, the boy 19 years old.

Now she wants a divorce.

WEST SIDE "SPECTER" LAID; PRANKISH BOYS IN SECRET.

Police Get Clew to Ghost Which Terrorized Madison Street Block—Neighbors Give Them Hint.

The pranks of an adventurous youth who has nightly donned a robe of snowy white and prowled about a vacant house at 4726 West Madison street has caused the block between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth avenues to be shunned by pedestrians after dark.

The wanderings of the "thing" reached the Lake street police station. Tuesday night a half dozen complaints were telephoned. The police took the trail.

A neighbor at one side of the vacant house kept vigil in a window, revolver in hand, last night until after 11 o'clock. He gave the information that for two weeks boys have been gathering near the house nearly every night. One of their number would go to the building and dress himself in white. Then when the stage was set the boys would yell and run down the street pursued by the "spook."

JONES' ACTS UPSET BANKER.

Director of the Chicago Union Bank Resigns After Indorsing Alleged Forger's Paper.

Charles L. Johnson, who has been connected with Frank G. Jones, the alleged Muskegon, Mich., forger of $500,000 worth of paper and credits, has resigned from the directorate of the Union Bank of Chicago. It is asserted that he forestalled a demand for his resignation by giving his personal check for $7,000 to President Schlytern on Tuesday. He had indorsed $7,000 worth of Jones' paper held by the bank.

Johnson admitted owning half the stock in the American Fuse company until September, 1909, when he says he sold out to Jones.

He said he did not know of the existence of the West. Electric company until the arrest of Jones in Muskegon. Johnson formerly was president of the Western State bank.

"O. K.'S" SMALL FIRECRACKERS.

Cannon Variety, However, Will Be Barred This Fourth, Says Sane Celebration Leader.

The garden variety of firecracker—the kind that fizzle and merely pop—can be purchased in any desired abundance this year during the Fourth of July season, but the sale of cannon crackers will be prohibited. President Marquis Eaton of the Sane Fourth association made this statement yesterday. The San Fourth association, by means of instructive pageants, said Mr. Eaton, plans to wean the mischievous boy away from hurtful fireworks, small and large, but "that takes time."

STABS HORSE; SENT TO PRISON.

Teamster Who Killed Animal When It Would Not Stand Given Year's Sentence by Judge Kavanagh.

John O'Brien, 2010 Cottage Grove avenue, a teamster, was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary by Judge Kavanagh yesterday for stabbing a horse to death because it would not stand.

HOLDUP MEN KILL SALOON KEEPER

J. Harry Nohren Murdered After Robbery in West Side Place by Negroes.

CATCH FLEEING MAN.

J. Harry Nohren, saloonkeeper at 251 North Paulina street, was shot and instantly killed at about 1:05 o'clock this morning by one of two negro highwaymen.

The shots were heard by Policemen Bennett and Schumacher, who were in the neighborhood at the time, and they dashed toward the place. As they neared the saloon door it opened and two negroes ran from the building, saw the bluecoats, turned, and fled down the street to an alley.

One Robber Escapes; Pursued.

The policemen darted in pursuit and overhauled a negro about half way down the alley.

The other negro evaded the officers in the alley, but detectives were sent out from Lake street station on his trail soon after.

Bennett and Schumacher sent their prisoner to Lake street station in the patrol wagon, after discovering that he had a revolver, one chamber of which, they say, recently had been discharged, and contained an empty cartridge.

Prisoner Refuses to Talk.

Upon being taken to Lake street station the negro gave the name of Fred Waldron and said he lived at 1931 Fulton street. He refused to explain his actions. He said he was with a man named Smith, also colored, that evening.

According to the policemen who made the capture the two negroes had been in the vicinity before that evening. They evidently had lain in hiding about Nohren's saloon, waiting for the customers to leave his place.

As closing up time neared the place became empty and the two negroes entered the building. They ordered Nohren to hold up his hands. Evidently Nohren ventured to resist and one of the holdup men shot him in the back. He died instantly.

Rob Five on North Side.

Two unsentimental holdup men plied their profession along north shore streets last night and robbed two strolling couples of money and jewelry valued at over $100. They wound up by robbing a priest.

The first couple who fell victims to the robbers were Miss G. Peterson, 2112 Gidding street, and William Baker, 4168 Clarendon avenue. A diamond solitaire ring was taken from Miss Peterson. The next couple included S. W. Lawton, 1726 Wilson avenue, and a girl who lost two rings. She would not give her name.

Within the hour they robbed Father Sixt, pastor of St. Matthias' church, Claremont avenue and Ainslie street. He was held up at Lawrence avenue and Robey street and robbed of a watch and $17.

WATERWAY FIGHT STARTS IN HOUSE; SENATE FOR BILL

Governor's Friends Fail in Effort to Keep Measure from Smejkal Committee.

ADKINS ALLOWS ROLL CALL

Anti-Deneen Forces Ask Stead's Opinion on Seventeen Illinois Issues.

DELAYS WORK UNTIL NEXT WEEK

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Deneen's waterway bill, without amendment of any kind, was reported favorably this afternoon by the senate waterway committee and will be on second reading in the senate tomorrow.

There is substantial prospect that it will travel through the second reading stage without great difficulty, and that it will be passed by the senate at another midnight session, and certainly not later than Friday morning.

An identical measure was introduced in the house by Representative Noble B. Judah and, after a brilliant oratorical skirmish, culminating in a roll call which Speaker Adkins granted, according to his promise of last night, went to Representative Smejkal's deep waterway committee.

First Test on Waterway Issue.

This reference by the speaker, after full and free discussion, a roll call, a call of the absentees, and a verification of the roll, was the first test on waterway legislation in the house of the forty-seventh general assembly and the feature of the first day of the extraordinary session.

The governor's friends mustered forty-six votes for a motion by Mr. Judah to send the house bill along to second reading without reference to the committees, where it, Johnson bill was choked to death without consideration of any sort at the regular session.

The opposition lined up exactly forty votes. Under the ruling of the speaker and the rules of the house two-thirds of a quorum were necessary to suspend the rules. This would have required sixty-four votes at that particular stage.

The roll call was not particularly significant except that the known administration men were joined by the Democrats who are close to Roger Sullivan.

Roll Call on Suspending Rules.

The roll call on the motion of Representative Judah to suspend the rules was as follows:

Gov. Deneen's Message.

In his message to the special session urging immediate action on the waterway the governor said at the outset the call was limited to the one subject because of the importance which the executive attaches to early action.

"In order to carry out the purpose and object of the constitutional amendment," said the message, "it is necessary that the state acquire the water power sites required for the development and control of the incidental water power from which alone the state can derive revenue because the waterway, as such, is not a revenue producing project.

"Delay in the enactment of this legislation is jeopardizing the public rights and endangering the interest of the state in this valuable resource."

The house had ninety-five members present when the roll was called. The waterway bill was introduced and the anti-administration forces, aided by new and unexpected recruits, developed their hand by the passage of a resolution, offered by Representative Chiperfield, asking for the opinion of Attorney General Stead on seventeen direct questions touching upon the legal relation of the state of Illinois to the proposition involved in the waterway controversy.

"Gentlemen's Agreement" On.

These questions, which ordinarily might be expected to cut out the summer vacation of the attorney general, he is expected to answer not later than next Tuesday. The list gave a good excuse for a "gentlemen's agreement" that there be no quorum in the house until next Wednesday.

This cuts off further transaction of business in the house until next week.

Representative Smejkal, following the reference of the Judah bill to his committee, said he had called no committee meeting and one would not be held tomorrow or Friday. He permitted the inference to be drawn that there will be a committee meeting in Chicago on Saturday.

Representative Judah said the pro-administration representatives had accomplished all they expected in getting a first test at this particular juncture and the real fight will be made when the senate bill comes over from the upper branch next week.

The house battle was made on behalf of the waterway by Mr. Judah and Mr. Hamilton. They developed the fire of the opposition, which was led by Representatives Chiperfield, Shanahan, and Lee O'Neil Browne for the Democrats. The last named said in passing that he expected to vote for the bill, but "strong arm" methods would deter him from so lining up. It was notably true that most of Browne's Democratic following voted against the Judah motion to suspend the rules.

Proceedings in Senate.

In the senate, the administration bill was presented by Henry W. Johnson of La Salle county, the introducer of the bill in the regular session. There was some talk of reference to committee of the whole, but it went to the deep waterway committee, of which Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet is the chairman. He immediately called a meeting of the committee and the bill was reported out with a favorable recommendation upon the motion of Senator Dailey.

It was a two hour session, in which Senator Potter attempted to amend the bill by providing that the Illinois waterway commissioners should not be appointed until congress had passed a federal cooperation law.

Senator Dunlap shattered the Potter argument in a stiff speech, in which he said the power companies and corporations are responsible for insidious attempts to stop waterway and water power legislation. The Potter amendment was badly beaten and the real temper of the senate was demonstrated.

Features of Waterway Bill.

The substantial features of the Johnson-Judah bill, introduced in the senate and house this morning, follow:

That there be constructed a deep waterway or canal by the state from the water power plant of the sanitary district at Lockport to a point at or near Utica, sixty-one miles downstream, and that there be erected, equipped, and maintained by the state power plants, locks, bridges, dams, and appliances for the development and utilizaton of the water power, and that the cost be paid out of the proceeds of the $20,000,000 bond issue already authorized.

The construction, management, and operation of the waterway and water power shall be in the control of five commissioners appointed by the governor, no more than three from any one political party. Salary of chairman to be $7,500 yearly and of the commissioners $5,000 yearly.

Reliable plans and specifications shall be made for the construction of the public works upon the $20,000,000 basis, and no change shall be made which would increase the aggregate cost without further authorization.

Waterway Route and Depth.

The route of the deep waterway shall be along the sanitary district channel from the Lockport power plant to Joliet, thence along the Desplaines and Illinois rivers to Utica.

The channel shall have a depth of not less than 24 feet from Lockport to Brandon's bridge, below Joliet, and a width of not less than 300 feet from the confluence of the Desplaines river with the "upper basin" to Brandon's bridge. From Brandon's bridge to Utica, not less than 14 feet depth and a bottom width of not less than 200 feet. All permanent structures shall be built with a view to an ultimate depth along the entire length of the waterway of 24 feet.

The preliminary engineering plans would provide for a 9 foot channel from Brandon's bridge to Utica.

Modern bridges shall be constructed full channel width to replace all present existing structures. One-fourth of the cost of maintenance shall be borne by the municipality, township, or county and three-fourths by the state.

Right of eminent domain is conferred upon the commissioners for the use of public or private property.

Details of Construction.

All contracts for work or material exceeding $1,000 shall be by competitive bids unless four commissioners believe it can more economically be performed under the direction of the chief engineer. Machinery may be purchased by a like vote without competitive bidding.

In case the state undertakes construction work direct it shall establish a compensation system for the workmen.

Police powers are vested in the commissioners within a two mile strip on either side of the channel, excepting the territory within municipal corporations.

The commissioners shall float the $20,000,000 bond issue after sixty day advertisement. It shall be "popular," one-fifth of each issue in the denomination of $200, one-fifth in the denomination of $500, and three-fifths in the denomination of $1,000. Preference shall be given to bidders for the smaller quantity.

Item of Water Power Leases.

Water power leases shall be made by the commissioners only after the water power machinery and appliance shall have been substantially completed by the state. Then ninety days' public notice shall be given by public advertising for bids for such water power. No lease shall be for a period exceeding ten years.

All rents and other moneys after cost of maintenance and repair shall be deposited in the state treasury as a "waterway sinking fund" for the payment of the interest on the bond issue and the retirement of the bonds.

The federal cooperation section, approved by President Taft, reads as follows:

"When the channel shall have been completed, or so much of said channel as shall have been built and paid for with the proceeds of the $20,000,000 of bonds, then the said channel, or so much thereof as shall have been completed, shall be tendered to the government of the United States for navigable uses conditioned upon the obligation of said government to maintain the channel for navigation and to operate and maintain the locks free of cost to the state of Illinois. For all use other than navigation the channel and its appurtenances shall be and forever remain the property of the state."

BOARD WONDERS HOW TO GET CASH

Election Commissioners Say They Had Not Weighed Money Feature Before.

'FACTS SHOW OTHERWISE'

Expert Quotes Brundage to Prove Inability of Body to Buy Voting Machines.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

[Late Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.]

The election commissioners frankly and unanimously admitted yesterday they do not know where they will get the necessary $1,000,000 to buy 1,200 voting machines, on which they have received bids from four makers.

They did not even predict they will soon find the money. They said they had not considered that important phase of the subject.

Previously, certain election officials had given out the impression they believed they had the power to issue bonds. They had read the opinion of Wood & Oakley, bond lawyers, in THE TRIBUNE during the day that the board is without power to issue bonds and that their certificates of indebtedness are without commercial value. Members of the election board, with a little sarcasm, asked why attorneys should pass upon bonds before they are issued.

"The issuance of bonds has not been considered by the board," asserted William H. Stuart, chief clerk of the board.

Questions Clerk's Opinion.

Here are some other facts: The board has advertised for bids on 1,200 machines; has received them, with deposits of from $54,000 to $60,000 supplied by bidders. The attorney of the board has rendered an opinion to County Judge Owens on the election law, and devotes a large part of it to a discussion of the board's power to issue bonds. No other means is suggested in the document by which the election machines can be paid for. The board has passed a resolution asking for an opinion of the attorney.

Mr. Mitchell said that he gave his views to the county judge with the understanding they should be transmitted to the election board—the court having asked for the opinion first. That opinion has been transmitted from the county building to the offices of the election commissioners. It would seem to an outsider that the board has taken the subject of issuance of bonds under consideration.

"Appropriation Improbable."

The board has no appropriation to buy voting machines, and there is a law forbidding more than one appropriation a year by the city from its tax receipts. So it is improbable that an appropriation would be made at this time of the fiscal year.

The framer of the voting machine law, former Corporation Counsel Brundage, who steered it through the legislature, was asked during the day regarding his intention to confer the power upon the election commissioners to issue bonds. He was a member of the general assembly in 1903 when the voting machine bill was passed.

"The election board does not have the power to issue bonds," said Mr. Brundage. "It is not intended to give them that authority. It was intended in the law to supply a means of getting voting machines by a bond issue. A body which cannot levy taxes cannot issue bonds. The city will have to issue the bonds."

This, aided to the views of Henry C. Wood of Wood & Oakley, experts on municipal bonds, indicates vividly that the election board has no power of itself to increase the city's bonded indebtedness.

Board Chairman Speaks.

Chairman Kellermann of the election board said that they will lean heavily upon the financial experts of the city.

"This is our program," he said. "We want to find the right machine first. The three experts have finished their investigation and are now preparing their report. I have no information when it will be finished, but I rather expect it will be ready by the end of this week.

"At present members of the board are making a personal investigation of each machine, so that when we get the report of the experts we can decide whether any machines submitted will meet the conditions in Chicago. We will decide that as the next step. If we find an acceptable machine then we will confer with Mayor Harrison, Controller Traeger, and Chairman Richert of the finance committee regarding money. I don't know where we can get the money. Perhaps they will know. About the same time we will also have all legal questions looked up.

Will Invite Expert Study.

"I forgot to add," continued Mr. Kellermann, "that after the board has decided what it thinks of the machines invitations will be extended to any experts or civic bodies to make an investigation of any or all the machines. If they can find any defects we will be highly pleased."

All three commissioners said they thought it will be a month before the board gets to the vital question of awarding a contract.

Some new light came forth during the day on te advisability of buying 1,200 machines. Robert Shrubb, custodian of Milwaukee's 150 voting machines for over seven years, visited Commissioner Taylor of Chicago's election board.

Dr. Taylor asked his guest to give a written interview. Among other things Mr. Shrubb said that Milwaukee only has three extra machines and that these have never been used. In view of this some of the reasons advanced for buying 1,200 machines for Chicago are without much weight. If Chicago were redistricted at present in accordance with the voting machine law there would be less than 700 precincts, and one machine to a precinct is sufficient, according to the manufacturers.

PUSHES MADE LAND SUITS.

Corporation Counsel Sexton to Rush Hearing of Seven Cases Started by State, County and City.

Corporation Counsel Sexton is preparing to rush the hearing of the seven cases for lake shore land reclamation begun by the state, county, and city jointly last year.

He said he had assigned James G. Skinner, an assistant, to prepare himself on these cases, which include the claim to several acres of made land adjoining the Chicago Beach hotel, and that he now is ready to use every effort to force them to a hearing. In this Mr. Sexton has the approval of Attorney General Stead and State's Attorney Wayman.

Mr. Sexton also ordered the Iroquois Iron company to stop the construction of a dock in the Calumet river which would close up the entrance of a slip that has been in existence for several years.

Driver Shot by Peddler.

Charles Meyers, a driver for the Frank Parmelee Transfer company, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday by an unidentified Italian peddler during an altercation at East Fifty-third street and Drexel boulevard. His assailant escaped.

OUTLINES A 20 MILE SUBWAY

Outside Engineer Would Give Chicago $56,000,000 System.

LOOP STRUCTURE MUST GO.

Shuttle Scheme One Innovation Suggested.

Outlines of plans for a subway system to cost $56,000,000 were laid before the council committee on local transportation yesterday by A. S. Robinson, an engineer in charge of important railway construction now going on in the southwest.

He proposed that ultimately Chicago should have at least twenty miles of subways and he estimated the cost of construction at about $2,513,000 a mile. The initial bores, two in number, one running from the north to the south side and the other running in from the west, crossing through the loop district and returning west, he estimated would cost $8,638,000.

His scheme he calls a "shuttle system," a term that bewildered a number of the aldermen until he explained that he suggested that trains from the north would run into a "shuttle" or stub terminal in the downtown district and immediately, reversing their direction, return over a parallel track.

The same would be true of trains from the south, the two having a common terminal where transfers could be made.

Chief Features of System.

The chief features of his system he outlined as follows:

A high level subway.

All stations on this upper level and located at every street intersection if desired.

No grade crossings.

Straight line routes.

Room under the subways for most of the public utilities.

A comprehensive system designed to cover all the streets of the business district with straight line subways in which high speed consistent with safety may be attained.

A feneral plan that admits of the extension of rapid transit subways of reinforced concrete elevated tracks outward into the residence districts on any approved plan of municipal improvement.

Leaving room for a large increase in future traffic in the area east of Michigan avenue.

Loop Structure Must Go.

A beginning to be made with two unit routes that will afford a large percentage of relief to surface congestion with a small outlay.

A plan that will give the elevated roads ample trackage, but remove the present loop structure.

No loops and, therefore, very little curvature.

Transfer system between all lines, the plan consisting of individual routes, any one of which may be built and operated separately.

Simplicity of routing easily understood by everybody.

Transportation for 1,000,000 people an hour.

No more than four tracks in any street.

No grades greater than 4 per cent.

The initial routes he urged take in the street car tunnels at La Salle, Washington, and Van Buren streets, a feature to which Mayor Harrison and the committee now are opposed, because their use probably would give the traction companies some claim against the city's title to the bores.

Routes Under His Plan.

The north and south route he suggested begins at the north entrance of the La Salle street tunnel at Michigan street and follows La Salle street as far south as Taylor street, where it swings east to Clark street and proceeds to between Fifeenth and Sixteenth streets, where he said it could come to the surface.

The east and west tracks he outlined began at the west entrance of the Van Buren street tunnel at Clinton street and ended at the Clinton street entrance of the Washington street tunnel. They followed Van Buren street to Clark and thence north to Washington street.

Both of these bores he advocated for the use of the surface lines and would each hold four tracks except through the tunnels, the capacity of which is two tracks. After their completion Engineer Robinson would build two other bores for the elevated roads which would permit the tearing down of the loop.

GRILL WHOLESALE GROCERS AS ALLIES OF PEDDLERS.

Retail Men Condemn Efforts to Repeal "Anti-Noise" Ordinance, Which Forbids Crying of Wares.

Accused of supporting the peddlers of groceries who hawk their wares through the streets, the wholesale grocers of Chicago were criticised in bitter terms last night by the Chicago Grocers and Butchers' association at a meeting in the Masonic temple. The grocers say that the wholesale merchants have taken an unwarranted step in coming to the aid of the peddlers by urging the repeal of the "anti-noise" ordinance.

"We have knowledge of cases where peddlers have sorted their fruit out on blankets in which they sleep by night," said H. F. Petersen, secretary of the association. "The fruits and vegetables which these men sell are of inferior quality and a menace to the public health.

"We are supported in our fight against the repeal of the ordinance by 150,000 Chicago men and women who work by night and sleep by day and who do not want to have their rest spoiled by the yells of the fruit hawkers."

The association decided to hold its annual picnic Sunday, June 18, at Elliott's park.

HARRISON SHOWS HAND IN GAS WAR

McGann Gets Word to Refuse and Cancel Permits for All New Work.

SURPRISE TO COMPANY.

Bureau of Streets Employes Think Citizens Will Complain; Damage Claim Made.

Construing its truce agreement to cover only court proceedings, the city administration yesterday formally began carrying out its threat to "hammer" the People's Gas Light and Coke company.

A resolution was introduced in the state senate at its special session during the day at Springfield asking that a committee of ten be appointed to investigate the gas situation in Chicago. Five members were to come from each the senate and the house. The resolution was introduced by Senator Clark of South Chicago, but was ruled out of order.

Incidentally Mayor Harrison's personal activity appeared in the effort of his law department to gain possession of W. J. Hagenah's 77 cent gas rate analysis. In a communication from Maclay Hoyne, first assistant corporation counsel, to Commissioner McGann of the public works department following a conference with the mayor and Corporation Counsel Sexton, cooperation of McGann's department in the campaign was requested.

The revealed attitude of the city officials in reference to granting permits for construction and repair work by the gas company was more extreme than had been threatened. Besides requesting Commissioner McGann to refuse all permits except for emergency work, Mr. Hoyne asked the commissioner to revoke all outstanding permits for work not completed.

Letter Urges Blockade.

This letter follows:

"The People's Gas Light and Coke company has been holding certain property which belongs to the city of Chicago. In view of its belligerent attitude I would request, after a conference with the mayor and the corporation counsel, that you instruct the various bureaus connected with your department to issue no further permits to the gas company for any new construction work or for work of any kind other than necessary repairs to the leaking mains and work of that character.

"I would further request that you revoke all existing permits where the work has not been completed. There is one permit of this character for work on Sedgwick street. Under the contract ordinance of the city of Chicago the gas company does not possess a free and unrestricted right to permits."

Outlines City's Position.

The property to which Mr. Hoyne referred as "which belong to the city," and "held" by the gas company is the Hagenah material.

"Those papers are our property," said Mr. Hoyne. "There is no question about that; and we are acting with the gas company just as it would toward a customer if he didn't pay his bills. If you didn't pay your bills, they would cut off your gas immediately; and now we are cutting them off."

James F. Meagher, vice president and general counsel for the company, declined to discuss Mr. Hoyne's letter beyond stating that he had not expected such action from the city administration.

Affected Citizens to Complain?

Employés in the bureau of streets said scores of protests would be made if all permits are refused.

"If a man wants gas service and the extension of the company's mains is prevented by the city, he will kick hard," said one of them. "Where the company is working in streets about to be paved they should be allowed to go ahead or the pavement will suffer later. Also uncompleted work should not be stopped, for it will leave a lot of holes and trenches unfilled."

The second blow at the company was a letter to L. A. Wiley, secretary of the gas corporation, threatening by intimation that suits will be begun by the city for damages resulting from the killing of trees by leaking gas. Many such claims are in the hands of City Forester Prost.

Vote on Legislative Measure Today?

Legislative inquiry into Chicago's gas problem was urged in the resolution which was introduced in the senate by Senator A. C. Clark of South Chicago.

Senator Clark asked that an investigation of the company's capital stock, bonds, receipts and expenditures, dividends and interests, salaries of officers, wages of employés, properties, franchises, and all facts pertaining to the operation and maintenance of the plant be made.

ONE FARE FOR SOUTH SIDE

Chicago City Railway Will Absorb Southern Traction.

COUNCIL MAY FIX VALUE.

Last Under "Standard" Ordinances; Plan Rehabilitation

One street car fare to the loop practically was assured residents of the extreme southwestern section of the city, including Morgan Park, yesterday. The Chicago City Railway company announced that it has agreed to take over the lines of the Chicago and Southern Traction company.

Attorney L. A. Busby, representing the larger corporation, and Receiver Matthew Slush for the interurban company told the council committee on local transportation that they have reached an agreement whereby the absorption will be possible if the city approve. The council will fix the valuation figures as it did when the Consolidated lines were merged with the Chicago Railways company.

Last to Come Under Ordinance.

If the plan succeeds its completion will mark another milepost reached in the standardization of the city's surface lines, these being the last to be brought under the "standard" traction ordinances. They will be rehabilitated as have all the other lines of the city.

Ever since the 1907 ordinances were passed the residents of the district south of Seventy-ninth street have been clamoring for service to the loop for 5 cents. They have been compelled to use the steam roads or to pay the Southern Traction company 5 cents and then pay the City Railway company another fare if they wished to go north of Seventy-ninth street.

Committee to Make Appraisal.

Questions arose upon who shall bear the cost of the appraisal and whether equipment that cannot be used by the purchaser shall be allowed to figure in the purchase price, but Chairman Peter Reinberg appointed Ald. Eugene Block head of a subcommittee to take up these questions. His associates are Ald. T. K. Long and Ald. Charles M. Foell.

An effort of the Chicago Railways company to extend its Western avenue line north of Roscoe street was stopped by Corporation Counsel Sexton. The tracks had been laid for a distance of 250 feet and the trolley poles still further when he directed Commissioner McGann of the public works department to stop the work. Attorney W. W. Gurley and Williston Fish, assistant to President Roach of the corporation, called on Mr. Sexton and told him that the construction work was the result of a "mistake" and that the frontage consents would be obtained immediately.

MRS. LOVE GAINS POINT IN TRIAL

Attorneys Granted Thirty Days' Delay in Which to Collect Evidence.

MAN AGAIN A WITNESS.

Plaintiff Denies Many Charges and Makes Bitter Attack Upon Wife.

Baker, Ore., June 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sidney C. Love's attorneys gained an advantage today when they secured an order granting them thirty days after the plaintiff completes his case in which to gather additional evidence. This came as a surprise to Love and his attorneys, who had no notice of the move. This will enable Mrs. Love to overcome in part the advantage Love has sought in suing her for divorce in this state among his new friends.

Love, when on the stand today, refused to answer any questions while under cross-amination relating to the charge made by his wife that he had been unfaithful to his marriage vows. His sister, Elizabeth Love of Chicago, in her testimony denied that Mrs. Love had been rendered unhappy by the brutal treatment of Love even before they sailed for England.

Miss Love testified she spent two days with the Loves just prior to their sailing and that Mrs. Love would not talk of anything except her husband and how devoted he was. Mrs. Love also declared that she did not care about Love's financial failure and that she would be content to live in a flat in Hoboken if necessary, and that she had offered him her jewels and her money, but that he would accept neither.

Admits Playing Cards Often.

In answer to questions tending to show that he seldom spent his nights at home in New York, Love said he played cards at the Metropolitan, Union, Polo, and Raquet clubs and others. He denied he ever sent a valet from a club early in the morning to get a business suit.

Love testified that Mrs. Love had taken legal steps to prevent him from obtaining his personal possessions, which were stored in a warehouse in New York. These, he said, included all his polo trophies, racing trophies, books, and furniture. He declared he did not interfere with Mrs. Love when she wished to obtain her things stored there.

A great deal of testimony was given to show that Love paid some of the bills at Rewfant, England. He declared he had been able to provide a home for his wife and child and that he had been willing to. He reiterated the statement that Mrs. Love's mother had attempted to poison her mind against him and said that he had succeeded in delaying the marriage for more than a year.

Love Refuses to Answer.

The hardest legal battle occurred in the forenoon when Mrs. Love's attorneys attempted to question Love with reference to his relations with other women and asked him specifically about four of those named in Mrs. Love's answer and in her complaint in the New York suit. Upon instructions from his attorney Love refused to answer these questions and the defendant's attorneys desisted, remarking that they had many more at the proper time they would introduce.

Love was questioned with reference to the reports that Mrs. Love and Mrs. Burnes had sought the protection of Ambassador Reid in London as cabled to Chicago and he denied he was in London at the time.

For the first time the whereabouts of the child Muriel were brought into the court proceedings. Love has believed the child was secreted in Baker and has searched for her. The attorney for the defense offered to tell the attorney for the plaintiff. When Love demanded to know he avoided answering by saying that Love was a witness, not he.

SWEARS ENRIGHT FLED WITH COAT

New Witness Identifies Briggs House Garment and Slugger as the Wearer.

TELLS GRAND JURY STORY

Widows of Altman and Gentleman Also Give More Evidence.

A newly discovered witness whose testimony, the police declare, clinches the state's case against Maurice ("Mossy") Enright, accused of murdering Vincent Altman, rival labor slugger, was the central figure yesterday in the grand jury investigation of the assaults and murders by labor sluggers and gun men.

The witness, closely guarded by detectives, was hurried to the grand jury rooms following the return of fourteen indictments against nine members of the slugging gang headed by Enright and Joseph Kane, business agents of the steamfitters' union, associated with the United Association of Plumbers.

State's Attorney Wayman and the police "could not remember" the name of the lawyer of the new testimony, but it was said to be Longtree. This man declared that he had seen the man who dropped the gray overcoat on a settee in the Briggs house after the shooting of Altman, and swore that the man was Enright.

"I picked up the overcoat after the man dropped it," he is said to have told the grand jury, "and I was 'some scared' when I saw there was a revolver in one of the pockets."

Identifies Enright in Jail.

"Longtree" also asserted that another man was with him and saw Enright, too. The witness, in company with detectives, was sent out last evening by Inspector Hunt to search for the friend, who is expected to corroborate the story.

Before being taken before the grand jury "Longtree" was questioned by State's Attorney Wayman, Inspector Hunt, and Capt. Halpin, and was taken to the county jail where, it was declared, he identified Enright as the man who had discarded the gray overcoat.

Two new names were added to the indicted slugger list of seven in yesterday's batch of true bills. They were Peter Gentleman, brother of William ("Dutchy") Gentleman, and Arthur O'Connor. The fourteen indictments were returned in connection with three separate assaults. Enright, Harry Higgins, and Walter Stevens were charged with an assault with intent to murder upon John Huber at the Heisen building. Joseph Kane, William O'Connor (alias "Red" Connors), Stevens, Edward Storgaard, Gentleman, and Arthur O'Connor are accused in the true bills of an assault upon Morgan H. Bell at the Hygienic Ice company's plant. Barnes, George McCabe, Joseph Kane, Arthur O'Connor, and Gentleman were charged with assault with murderous intent upon Richard O'Donnell at the Hygienic plant. Judge Fitch fixed the bond at $25,000 for each separate offense.

State's Attorney Wayman intimated strongly in the evening that an indictment against Enright for the Altman murder may be expected at any time. He said the grand jury inquiry into the Briggs house killing virtually was completed.

"We now are waiting for Coroner's Physician Warren H. Hunter, who is fishing some place up north," he said. "We want to hear his testimony before we end the inquiry."

Dr. Hunter made the post-mortem examination of the body of Altman, and the autopsy report in the coroner's office has not proved satisfactory to the grand jury.

Two Widows Before Grand Jury.

Outside the new mysterious witness, interest centered during the day in the widows of Gentleman and Altman, both of whom declare Enright is the murderer of their respective husbands. The two chatted together before they were called in to repeat their stories to the grand jury. Mrs. Altman is said to have told of her last conversation with her husband while the mortally wounded man lay in the county hospital.

Mrs. Gentleman again identified the gray overcoat found in the Briggs house as the garment she had seen Enright wear and also the black overcoat of her husband, the only one she declares, Gentleman ever had after he made his acquaintance. She told how a friend had given Gentleman the overcoat, and discarded by the giver's husband. In corroboration of this story, Mrs. Emma Connolly testified that she was the woman who gave the coat to Gentleman.

Witness promised by Attorneys "Charley" Erbstein and James T. Brady to try to clear their client, Enright, of the Altman murder, were on hand. The lawyers were present at the end of the inquiry.

"It's an outrage," Brady declared. "We sent them witnesses over in response to inquiries from the state's attorney. We told them they knew who killed Altman. They were asked if they were at the Briggs house at the time of the killing, if they saw Altman die, and then were dismissed. It's an outrage."

Girl Scout and School Children's Drill Honoring Flag Day.

CAPITOLA HOLMES

The one hundred and thirty-fourth birthday celebration of the stars and stripes was a complete success yesterday. Chicago school children, patriotic societies, and fraternal organizations turned out in force. At the celebration in Lincoln park the most extensive program was carried out by 1,000 children from sixteen north side public schools. All the girls in the school children's parade carried a flag, and the boys shouldered muskets of pine and pewter. One of the girls—Capitola Holmes—carried a gun, too.

Dr. B. J. Cigrand, national president of the American Flag Day association, representing Gov. Deneen, made the principal speech in Lincoln park. Assistant Corporation Counsel Harry T. Ganey, representing Mayor Carter H. Harrison, and Julius Reynolds Kline and Abel M. White also made addresses.

The day was celebrated also at Garfield park, West park No. 1, John Marshall High school, Washington park, where former Ald. Merriam spoke, at the Hamilton club, and in a score of other places.

TO END STEAMFITTERS' WAR

Joint Arbitration Association Sees Building Contractors.

THREE ARE NOW SIGNED.

Organization Decides for International and Will Give It Support.

The executive board of the Joint Arbitration association yesterday waited upon contractors erecting the Mandel building and induced them to employ members of the International Association of Steamfitters instead of steamfitters affiliated with the United Association of Plumbers.

Put Damper on Warfare.

By following this method in connection with other large buildings under construction the arbitration board expects to put an effective damper on the jurisdictional warfare between the plumbers and steamfitters.

A trail of bloodshed has marked the progress of this trouble. Three men have been murdered and labor sluggings occurred every day until Maurice (Mossy) Enright, business agent of the United Association of Plumbers, was placed in jail.

Made a Thorough Inquiry.

Before the arbitration association took sides with the International Association of Steamfitters a thorough investigation of the dispute was made. The association found that the agitation was caused because the international association would not amalgamate with the united association.

The joint association believes the united association will be forced to sue for peace when the contractors of large buildings sign working agreements with the international association. Such agreements have already been signed with the owners and contractors of the Heisen and Harris Trust buildings.

"I attended her about sixteen months ago," Dr. Anderson said, "when she attempted to kill herself with chloroform and gas. She nearly died then."

Mrs. Robson was 55 years old and is survived by two grown children. The coroner's inquest will be held this morning.

"SPENDER" SMOKES IN JAIL

Descendant of Founder of Yale Ready to "Take Medicine."

FACES A FORGERY CHARGE.

Says Relatives on Whose Bank Checks Were Drawn Failed Him.

"That's about it. I've had a good time, always lots of money to spend, and I'm here to take my medicine. Whatever sentence the judge gives me, I'll take it like a man."

Elizur Yale Smith, descendant of the founder of Yale university and son of the late Wallington Smith, who established the Smith Paper Manufacturing company of Lee, Mass., yesterday smoked a Havana cigar during an interview in his cell at the county jail. His clothes were of latest cut, and he wore a cowboy hat, which, however, suggested Broadway more than it did the west.

Brought from New York.

Smith was arrested in Kingston, N. Y., by Detective John W. Burke. He returned to Chicago during the day.

The young man is accused of having passed worthless checks valued at $400 upon the Blackstone hotel in February. The checks were drawn on the Lee National bank of Lee, Mass.

Other checks which Smith drew on this bank were honored at sight, according to the prisoner. The Smith family, he says, controls the bank, but when the checks complained of reached Lee the bank declined to honor them. The family refused to stand by him any longer.

"I went into the Harrison street court today upon my arrival," said Smith. "I was not represented by any attorney, so I personally asked for a continuance of my case. I got a continuance until Friday.

Says He Has an Attorney.

"I have an attorney, but I don't care to give his name.

"My bond has been fixed at $1,000, but I shall not try to get bondsmen until Friday. I can't say whether the Blackstone checks will be made good or not. But you can say that they will be fought.

"You see, I have always had plenty of money like most young fellows in my position. I am 25. My father gave me plenty of money and I spent it."

HONK! HONK! FARE FIVE CENTS: AUTO TO SUPPLANT STREET CAR

Village Board of Lyons Lets Contract for Motor Buses to Solve Suburban Traction Problem.

The village board of Lyons solved its traction problem last evening when it was decided to make a contract with an automobile company for buses to carry passengers to street cars for Chicago.

The buses will be run on a five minute schedule and will be operated on streets formerly used by street cars. Connection will be made with Chicago bound cars at points the village may decide.

R. D. Campbell, representing the White Automobile company, presented photographs of the types of buses to be used. The board then decided to enter a contract which will bring transportation to the village.

The villagers refused to pay the extra 5 cent fare to the County traction lines, but will pay it for the auto ride.

Protest was made at an Oak Park mass-meeting last nigh against the passage of the Chicago and Oak Park track elevation ordinance by the village board.

WIFE STOPS GAY BREAKFAST

Surprises Women with Husband at Home; Treated Chilly.

MRS. WAGNER GETS DECREE.

Swearing Parrot and Sleeveless Meal Features Put Up to Court.

Did J. Herman Wagner teach his poll parrot profanity, or did the bird teach him how to swear?

Then, again, was the same J. Herman Wagner perfectly within his rights when he seated himself at his own dinner table minus his coat?

Doubts Propriety of Act.

Also, did the same J. Herman Wagner act with propriety when he is alleged to have entertained two women at breakfast in his flat when his wife, Mary, was supposed to be visiting her relatives at Madison, Ind.?

On the other hand, was the wife of Wagner a persistent nagger?

These questions were up for consideration in Judge William Fenimore Cooper's court, where the Wagners were suing each other for divorce, and where Mrs. Wagner was given a decree.

Mrs. Wagner told of returning from Indiana unexpectedly one morning and finding her husband entertaining two women at breakfast in their flat.

Breaks In on Spouse's Party.

"When I entered our apartments I found the party seated at the breakfast table," said Mrs. Wagner, "but I was given no recognition aside from chilly glances. Mr. Wagner had a parrot and it would swear almost as glibly as my husband. He compelled me to have the profane bird in the house."

Wagner claimed he did not teach the bird to swear, but learned most of his profanity from the parrot.

Wagner, who is in the publicity business, was on the witness stand the greater part of the time yesterday, while his handsome wife sat at the elbow of her lawyer and heard him relate his long list of grievances.

Went to Father's Home.

The Wagners were married in October, 1902, and got along more or less agreeably until 1909, when Mrs. Wagner started visiting the home of her father, the late Judge Friedley of Madison.

"Mr. Wagner told me that he had purchased a pistol and threatened to use it on me and then on himself, after which he extended to me an invitation to commit suicide, promising to do likewise," Mrs. Wagner said.

RAID GAMBLERS UNDER GROUND

Police Arrest 13 When They Break Into Subterranean Game in the Loop.

PLAY UNDER WATER PIPE

Crap Shooters Can Hear Pedestrians Walking on the Street Above Their Heads.

Sequestered below the gas and water pipes in the rear of the subterranean saloon of Fred Potthast at the northeast corner of State and Van Buren streets last night thirteen men gathered about a crap table as the "bones" flashed across the green expanse of a brand new table.

"Come on, you four; huh, come "Little Joe," a young man shouted excitedly, and in walked four policemen.

There was a wild rush for the one small exit through the saloon, but four big detectives from the headquarters bureau barred the way and a gruff voice remarked:

"Stay where you are. Count 'em, O'Brien."

Detectives Raid the Game.

Detectives Carmody, O'Brien, Blaul, and O'Donnell were the raiders of the underground game, and they called the wagon after thirteen men in the cubby hole had been taken in tow and two men annexed who were standing outside in the saloon as the outer guard for the game. Then the patrol wagon was called. At the station A. B. Weinstein was booked as the keeper of the game and the others as frequenters. All were released on bonds.

The game was in operation throughout the evening until the appearance of the detectives, and was so cleverly hidden that had it not been for the courteous "steerer" no one would have been able to have found his way to the green table, hidden away under the State street sidewalk and extending back under the floor of the building.

But the "steerer" was on the job right at the foot of the stairs leading down into the saloon from Van Buren street. He "sized up" every man who entered, and to nine out of ten he remarked:

"Interested in a crap game? Better look in at ours. Turn to the right, around the free lunch counter, and then straight north. Can't miss it."

Players Hear Pedestrians Above.

He accompanied prospective players back under the water pipes, where the crap table was set upon a newly laid floor of rough boards, and over which electric lights were strung. There were no walls to the place. Only a vista of building supports and columns met the eye. The east extension of the place ran under the sidewalk and the steady tramp of State street promenaders could be plainly heard as the players called for the "points."

GUARDIAN FOR AGED GROOM.

Echo of James T. Polk Elopement to Chicago Monday Heard in Court at Greenwood, Ind.

The honeymoon of James T. Polk, age 68, and Edna Coughlin, 31, of Greenwood, Ind., who eloped in an automobile to Chicago on Monday was rudely interrupted yesterday.

A son of Polk went before the Circuit court at Greenwood and asked for the appointment of a guardian for his father. His petition set forth that the elder Polk was not in a proper mental condition to care for his property, which is said to be worth $200,000, with an annual income of $6,000.

The elder Polk, who is the head of a large canning syndicate in Indiana, came to Chicago with Miss Coughlin, who had been his nurse and for twenty years employed in the family, on Monday. Ralph Polk, the petitioning son, said at that time he would endeavor to have annulled any marriage his father might contract. He tried to find the couple in the city, but was unable to ascertain whether they had been married or not or where they went. James T. Polk is ordered before the court June 23 to show cause why a guardian should not be appointed.

Mr. Polk and bride were at the Sherman house last night. He said he was happy and would take his wife to Greenwood next week.

SEEKING COUNSEL IN LORIMER CASE

Committee Informed Attorney Pepper Cannot Accept Employment Offered.

MARBLE MIGHT TAKE JOB.

Hearing Will Begin Next Thursday Regardless of Pleas for Further Delay.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—The Lorimer investigating committee is having trouble in selecting its counsel. George W. Pepper of Philadelphia, to whom the place was offered, replied that his engagements would not permit his employment in that capacity. According to reports in circulation tonight John H. Marble, chairman of the board of review of the interstate commerce commission, has been sounded as to his willingness to undertake the work and he has indicated that if the position should be offered to him he will accept it.

Mr. Marble is about 40 years old, and most of the work he has done has been in the way of investigating rebates and discriminations for the interstate commerce commission. He has made a distinct success of this work.

Healy to Assist Counsel.

Besides Mr. Marble, the committee has other men under consideration, including Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war. It is believed Holmes Conrad of this city, who was considered, will not be selected, nor A. S. Worthington nor Henry E. Davis, prominent local attorneys.

It is the desire of the committee to select a man who is free from prejudice and who will devote himself entirely to the interests of the committee. The principal counsel will be assisted by John J. Healy, former state's attorney at Chicago, who was counsel for the Helm committee. Mr. Healy has a wide acquaintance among Illinois politicians.

A telegram from Elbridge Hanecy, counsel for Mr. Lorimer, reached Chairman Dillingham today, stating that he was not certain what day next week he would be released from the law case in which he is now engaged in Chicago.

Hearings Begin Next Thursday.

The hearing will begin on Thursday, June 22. It is contended that ample time already has been given to the Illinois senator. Almost a fortnight ago the senate directed the committee on privileges and elections "forthwith" to institute an inquiry into the charges against Mr. Lorimer. By next Thursday three weeks will have elapsed since action was first taken and to ask for delay beyond that date the committee would not consider for a moment.

Stephenson Inquiry Urged.

Madison, Wis., June 14.—[Special.]—The assembly committee on elections tonight decided to recommend concurrence in the senate joint resolution declaring Isaac Stephenson bought his seat in the United States senate and requesting that body to investigate the "manner, method, and means by and through which he secured his election."

HEALY GOES TO WASHINGTON.

John J. Healy, former state's attorney, who conducted the Helm investigation into the Lorimer election this year, left for Washington yesterday afternoon to consult with Chairman Dillingham and other members of the senate investigating committee.

Though not announcing his acceptance of the position as one of the attorneys representing the committee, it is expected that he will do so after meeting Senator Dillingham and the committee today.

"Fire-escape" Gus Nohe, who has charge of the campaign to win popular favor for Lorimer in Illinois, yesterday received advance copies of the junior senator's speech of defense, of which 1,000,000 are to be distributed in this state in districts not easily reached by Chicago newspapers. The pamphlets are to be prefaced by a short biography of Lorimer telling of his rise from street car conductor. No advance sheets have been given the newspapers.

THE TRIBUNE want ads have disproved time and again the old theory that because one is past his youth he is down and out. We have printed several spirited narratives to this effect, and today we have another recital by a man who was enabled to "come back" through the medium of THE TRIBUNE want ads.

I want to tell how a TRIBUNE "want adlet" made it possible for a man relegated to the shelf as "old" to "come back." A railroad accident a few years ago incapacitated me temporarily for active work, forced me to dispose of my business in Toledo, and finally dissipated my little capital, calling for a new start in the world. I found myself at the age of 45 without employment.

While I was better equipped mentally and physically than at any other period in my lifetime for producing original, forceful literature, I was turned down on every hand. Kindly, it is true, and seldom with reference made to the reason; still, the reason was there—"too old." Thus I searched for months, at times almost living upon nothing, eking out my slim purse with a chance billet here and there.

It was after this weary experience that I decided to try the "want" columns, and, of course, I had long learned that THE TRIBUNE was the proper and only medium. By this time I needed clothing, dental work, and almost anything else needed in the daily life of a man in a great city, and I advertised that I would exchange writing for various items, placing the modest little three line adlet in the "barter and exchange" column.

At once things changed. My first commission was executed in exchange for dental work, and directly brought me $500 worth of other work.

I now realized that an office would be needed. I searched the want columns of THE TRIBUNE, and soon found elegant quarters in the Ashland block. From that day on I have been kept busy, at fair prices, at this most fascinating labor.

A short time ago I learned through a client of a new appliance that I considered a sure winner. I needed a partner with some capital to enable me to take advantage of this opportunity, and—this time without waste of precious days in fruitless search—I at once told my needs to the thousands of readers of the SUNDAY TRIBUNE want ads, getting a partner the next day, having twelve from which to select.

THUS, thanks to THE TRIBUNE, I am in lucrative business and free from care, and all I can say to the wandering, employment hunting throng that is constantly with us is: "Go thou and do likewise."

LETTER FROM KOSSUTH BELL TELLS OF VISIONARY SCHEME.

C. W. Hotchkiss of Indiana Southern Offers Remarkable Document in Hearing of Insanity Proceedings.

"At lunch today with Gens. Sheridan, Sherman, and Grant. We discussed the project of building a highway three hundred feet wide from Milwaukee to Springfield, Ill. They wanted your services as consulting engineer. I have arranged for another conference."

The foregoing note, said to have been written by Kossuth H. Bell, who is on trial before County Judge Owens for alleged insanity, to Charles W. Hotchkiss, general manager of the Chicago and Indiana Southern railway and the Indiana Harbor Belt line, was read in court yesterday.

Hotchkiss told of a conference at the Bell home at which Attorney George A. Trude, Mrs. Emma M. Bell, and Bell were present.

"Bell told me then that he would have to do something to 'keep that woman quiet,' and Mrs. Bell suggested that $5,000 should be paid to her," Hotchkiss said.

Mrs. Bell, in her testimony, declared that she paid Attorney George A. Trude $5,000, which was to be given to Mrs. Alice Gelder, whom Bell had known since 1896.

Peterson of Joliet was reelected president and Charles P. Gaede, Springfield, secretary-treasurer.

HINES IN BATTLE FOR GULF HARBOR

Design Believed Disclosed by Filing of Lease in State of Mississippi.

J. T. JONES ON OTHER SIDE

Seen as Move of Illinois Central and Gould Roads for Terminals.

New Orleans, La., June 14.—[Special.]—Edward Hines, the wealthy Chicago lumberman and lobbyist, apparently is engaged in a fight with J. T. Jones for the control of the harbor at Gulfport, Miss. Two explanations for the Chicagoan's attitude are advanced. One is that the Illinois Central and Gould systems are working through him to get terminals at Gulfport, with a view of extending their lines to that point.

The other explanation is that Mr. Hines hopes to see the restrictions on the size of corporate holdings in Mississippi removed. He has been a leader in the campaign for the repeal of the statute.

Seek Deep Water Outlet.

Mr. Hines and his associates own large areas of timber land in lower Mississippi. Several years ago they planned the construction of a railway into Gulfport, the object being to get a deep water outlet for export lumber from the Hines mills.

A charter was obtained for the Gulfport and Northwestern railway, but construction work never was started. The state of Mississippi invoked its statute forbidding any corporation to hold property exceeding $2,000,000 in value in the state, and the courts held the Hines projects illegal.

Mr. Hines found himself with a lease on his hands, by which Mr. Jones granted the right to use the Gulfport piers of the Gulf & Ship Island company for a rental of $100,000 a year, and also granting harbor rights for the construction of a system of steel piers. The Chicagoan had plans drawn for a million dollar pier system.

Stirred by Filing of Lease.

For some reason known only to the lumberman the lease was not filed for record until a few days ago, although the contract stipulated that within three years from the date, Dec. 14, 1906, work should be started along the western border of the anchorage basin at Gulfport.

The fact that the lease now is being filed gives color to the story that Mr. Hines got a verbal renewal from Mr. Jones, and is now trying to enforce his claims.

PASSES INCOME TAX BILL

Wisconsin Senate Gives Voters Referendum on Issue.

BANK GUARANTY KILLED.

Assembly Decides to Make Rival Pho Concerns Connect Lines.

Madison, Wis., June 14.—[Special.]—After a debate lasting four hours the Wisconsin senate tonight passed the bill providing a graduated tax on incomes. Just before the bill passed a referendum clause was attached to it providing that it shall not go into effect unless approved by a majority of the voters at the general election a year from next November.

The bill provides for a tax ranging from one-half of 1 to 6 per cent on all incomes of individuals, firms, and corporations. Exemption for an unmarried person is $1,000, with $200 additional for every person dependent on him for support. For a married person the exemption is $1,200 with $200 additional for every minor child or other person dependent on him for support.

The Owen bill requiring the state banks to create a deposit guaranty fund equal to 2 per cent of their deposit liabilities was killed in the senate.

The assembly passed the bill requiring the telephone companies to connect their lines with one another at such rates as the state railroad commission may decide.

DECKS OF MAINE TO APPEAR TOD

TESTS FOR COFFERD

Delay of Several Days Needed Insure Against Peril of Accident.

HAVANA, June 14.—Before sundown tomorrow the work of removing the water from the cofferdam inclosing the wreck of the battleship Maine will be carried to a point low enough to reveal a part of the middle section immediately affected by the explosion, the whole quarterdeck and a portion of the berth deck, in which it is believed the bodies of most of the undiscovered victims.

This was determined after a conference today between Gen. Bixbee and Cols. Black and Patrick, following a minute examination of the wreck, the board of officers being satisfied that the stability of the cofferdam warrants them in proceeding with the pumping operations.

Some Delay After Today.

Tomorrow morning the most powerful pumps will be put to work with the object of reducing the level during the day to a few feet, which will permit the partial exploration of the upper part of the aftersection of the stern to immediately forward of the engine room space, where the explosion separated the forward section, including the ten inch turret on the starboard side.

All this latter portion of the vessel is submerged many feet in excess of the after part and probably will not be revealed until the dam is emptied and a great quantity of mud excavated.

The present intention of the board is to permit the water to remain at the ten foot level possibly for several days, for the purpose of making observations and tests of the cofferdam to determine beyond question its ability to resist the tremendous inward pressure when completely emptied.

Will Tear Wreck Apart.

Col. Patrick said tonight the board believed it feasible to separate the after two-thirds of the ship from the forward third, severing the parts shattered by the explosion by the use of an acetylene blast.

On the completion of the separation it is intended to dissect the forward section by acetylene blasts into portable fragments which will be taken out piecemeal. Add that, in default of further orders from Congress, it is the intention to build a bulkhead across the rear section, float it out from the dam, bring it alongside a wharf in the harbor, make a complete examination, and finally tow it to sea and sink it.

PORTUGAL WAITS AN ATTACK

Republican Troops Line Border to Keep Royalists Out.

CONFIDENT OF A VICTORY.

Attempt to Overthrow Government Receives New Life.

LISBON, June 14.—The provisional government learned Sunday that the monarchists, who have renewed their activities to overthrow the republic, were approaching Chaves in great numbers. The republican troops were immediately concentrated there.

Capt. Couceiro and Commander Coutinho, the royalist leaders, thereupon moved their forces from the hills of Serre de Louroco into the territory near Braga, which is the weakest point along the frontier. The government hastily dispatched troops to Ponte da Barca and Montalegre.

The general opinion is that the royalists will not attempt to force their way into Portugal.

Last night the government concentrated troops in the territory opposite the royalist positions and posted artillery in the hills. Confidence is felt that any attack of the invaders can be repulsed.

To Be Tried for Sacrilege.

JERUSALEM, June 14.—The sheiks and other officials of the mosque of Omar were sent under armed escort today to Beirut for trial on charges growing out of the operations of the English explorers, who, it is alleged, were permitted to violate the mosque while excavating for sacred relics.

Unprecedented Scenes of Life and Activity in Metropolis.

OLD ABBEY GAYLY ADORNED.

Preparations for the Coronation of King and Queen Rushing.

LONDON, June 14.—With the hourly inflow of foreign visitors the streets of London exhibit extraordinary scenes of life and bustle.

The interior decoration of the abbey is well advanced. Priceless Persian carpets, rare tapestries, and other hangings have been lent by Lord Curzon, the Earl of Dalkeith, the Earl of Buccleuch, and others. The king and queen have presented exquisitely embroidered altar cloths.

The royal throne chairs of the Jacobean model have been reproduced from originals at Knole in the possession of Lord Sackville.

FRANCE YIELDS IN WINE WAR.

STRIKE AGAINST ATLANTIC LINES

Seamen Walk Out at All English Ports and at Many Places on Continent.

DENY SERIOUS TROUBLE.

Officials Say That Few Vessels Will Be Tied Up as Result of the Dispute.

LONDON, June 14.—The seamen's strike was formally declared tonight at London, Glasgow, Liverpool, Cardiff, Bristol, Southampton, and other British ports and also at Belgian and Dutch ports, but the chances of any real international strike being declared seem remote.

So far as tonight's indications show, the confidence of the Shipping Federation is well placed, for at hardly any of these ports was enthusiasm displayed for the strike and the shipowners maintain an attitude of indifference, seemingly satisfied that they will have no trouble in filling the places of the strikers, who thus far can be counted by hundreds.

Demands Made by Rebels.

Tom Mann at Liverpool, Benn Tillett at London, and Havelock Wilson at Southampton are doing their utmost to galvanize the movement, but with small success. They demand chiefly a conciliation board and the establishment of a minimum wage and complain bitterly of the wholesale employment of Asiatics by shipowners.

There appears small hope that either Germany, Norway, or Denmark will come into the movement.

At a massmeeting in East London tonight, attended by 3,000 sailors and firemen, the signal for the strike was given. This consisted in the firing of three rockets and the unfurling of a banner inscribed: "The war is now declared."

Big Liner Olympic Sails.

Despite the recent efforts of the strike leaders to hold it up, the Olympic of the White Star line, the largest steamer afloat, got away from Southampton on its maiden voyage to New York early this afternoon.

Even this morning there was some doubt that the Olympic would sail on time, but a settlement with the deck hands was finally effected. Great crowds watched the departure of the new craft and gave it a rousing sendoff. It carried 450 saloon passengers, a record for a westward voyage in June.

The Olympic is due in New York on Wednesday of next week.

It is reported from Amsterdam that the crews of three of the Royal Steamship company's vessels refused to sign and were dismissed. The dock hands declined to join the strikers. Chinese seamen are standing by ready to act as strike breakers if the mail steamers have difficulty in obtaining crews.

Antwerp reports that the officials of the Red Star Steamship company are unconcerned over the strike situation there and they do not expect an interruption of their service. It was announced that the Marquette would sail for Boston tomorrow and that the Finland would sail for New York on Saturday. The shipowners refused to enter into negotiations with the union.

PROTEST SPEECH BY CONSUL

Irish in America Opposed to Griffiths' Pro-English Talk.

CONGRESS URGES ACTION.

State Department May Reprimand Envoy for London Address.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—Consul General John L. Griffiths of Indianapolis, who is stationed at London, has been asked to furnish the state department with a copy of the speech he delivered at the recent Pilgrims' day dinner at the Savoy hotel, London. It is charged that the hands across the sea feeling got the better of Mr. Griffiths and that he gave utterance to remarks about a British-American alliance calculated to arouse distrust among other friendly nations.

Carries Out Earl Grey Idea.

The part of the speech which has caused the comment is that wherein Griffiths approved some of the sentiments expressed by Earl Grey, wherein the British minister predicted a closer alliance between the two nations.

Mr. Griffiths' alleged statements were reported to Congressman Hamill of New Jersey, who at once intorduced a resolution calling upon the department of state for information in reference to the speech and the action which the secretary of state proposed to take thereon. This resolution was referred to the foreign affairs committee of the house, and no attention was paid to it until protests from the Irish in this country began pouring in on congress.

Probably Will Be Reprimanded.

The consul general is an accomplished speaker, and it is not believed by the department that he has transgressed the diplomatic proprieties. If he has done so he will be reprimanded as was Commander Sims of the navy because he expressed too warmly his sympathy for closer relations with Great Britain.

FEARS INVASION OF YANKEES.

Russian Newspaper Protests at Reported Plans of American Agricultural Interests to Enter Manchuria.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 14.—The Novoe Vremya is devoting much attention to reported plans of American agricultural interests to invade Manchuria.

In a leading article today it attacks American representatives in the far east and asserts that the recent loan to China was a covert resuscitation of Secretary Knox's proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways.

The paper says Manchuria has an open door for the commerce of the nations, but that its door is closed against political enterprises of all except its immediate neighbors, namely, Russia, China and Japan.

VETERANS WEEP AS THEY QUIT LINE

Old Soldiers Struggle Hard to March, but Many Find Age the Victor.

SING TO SHOW SPIRIT.

Attend "Campfires" at Night; Only Woman Major in U. S. at G. A. R. Gathering.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Joliet, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—"Straighten up that line there." The old man on the outside looked wearily at his comrades. It was not a long line, only four men across. Three of them were shoulder to shoulder; the old man on the outside had lagged behind. He straightened and lunged forward.

The effort brought him up with the others, but put him out of step. He tried to catch step, and in doing so lost the ground he had gained. With another desperate surge he caught up only to fall back again. Three times he made the attempt, and three times failed. "Guess I'll take a little rest, boys," he said, and melted unobtrusively from the observed to the observers. Hundreds of others did the same thing during the G. A. R. parade here today. It was not a long parade. It began at 2 o'clock and by 3 o'clock it was over.

Only 1,800 Veterans in Line.

The line of march was not more than a mile and a half long; the day was comparatively cool; the sun was hidden most of the time, and all this was in favor of the veterans, but against them were the irrefutable years. The years dragged at their feet and made them lose step; the years bowed the backs they would have held so straight.

Unconquerable, unescapable enemies, they haunted every inch of the line of march, while the old men fought, wept, and, when they could walk no farther, dropped from the line. Not more than 1,800 veterans took part in the parade.

Two hundred men of the George H. Thomas post of Chicago were approaching the bridge across the drainage canal. They had walked eight blocks and were beginning to tire. Behind them was a band, in front of them their own fife and drum corps, composed of men who carried music fifty years ago into a number of most unmusical places. Almost as if by inspiration, the band and the fife and drum corps burst into "Marching Through Georgia." The whole post then joined in the song.

Old Drummer Drums Alone.

At the head of the Stephenson post of Springfield marched a single old man with a snare drum on which he played a single oft repeated tune. The old man was Albert F. Nelson, the only surviving drummer of the Seventeenth Illinois; the drum he played had gone through the war and the rhythm to which it resounded was that of an old camp song which the Seventeenth Illinois sang around its campfires when it numbered 800 instead of eighty-four. Thirty-three of the remaining eighty-four marched behind the old drummer in the parade.

Far and away the showiest post in the parade was Columbia of Chicago. It arrived in the morning with a band and proceeded to serenade the mayor and the two local newspapers. Instead of singing its own song it carried a quartet with it. With the Seventeenth Illinois in the parade rode Mrs. Belle Reynolds, formerly of Springfield, now of Santa Barbara, Cal., the only woman in the United States with the rank of major.

The parade was led by E. W. Willard, commander of the Joliet post, and J. H. Wyss and George W. Carpenter, assistant marshals. Behind them came on horseback W. F. Martin, for seventeen years color bearer of the department of Illinois; then Commander Connolly and the old soldiers. Much of the line of march was hedged by school children, who sang patriotic songs. The old soldiers at night attended four "campfires" and tomorrow will hold their departmental elections.

Boom Chicago for Convention.

During the morning plans for securing the national convention of next year for Chicago were launched. The only other bidder for the encampment is Los Angeles, and the superior situation of Chicago for conventions is considered by the G. A. R. men a strong assurance that Los Angeles will fail in its effort.

Mrs. E. V. Work was elected president of the Woman's Relief corps, in defiance of the custom of giving Chicago a president only once in three years. She combined her forces with those of Mrs. Anna Rioline of Aurora, candidate for treasurer, and it is probable that their entire ticket will go through at the continuation of the election tomorrow morning.

IOWA VETERANS ON PARADE.

Muscatine, Ia., June 14.—[Special.]—On the fiftieth anniversary of the departure of the first Iowa troops to the south the survivors of the Grand Army of the Department of Iowa marched through the streets of Muscatine today and were reviewed by Gov. Carroll and his staff.

After the parade the business sessions of the various bodies were held, at which the election of officers took place. The officers chosen are: Commander, Lot Abraham, Mount Pleasant; senior vice commander, Jerry N. Carl, Muscatine; junior vice commander, A. L. Ogg, Indianola; medical director, Dr. F. H. King; chaplain, Henry B. Barnes of Keokuk, Ia. Iowa City was awarded the 1912 convention.

ASKS PUPILS TO AID ANTHEM

School Board Suggests Small Gifts Toward Prize Fund.

STRIKES BLOW AT FRATS.

Makes "Air-Tight" Definition; Accredit Art Institute Again.

Chicago's army of school children may bear a part, if they wish to, in the movement to bring forth a new national anthem, which was launched by the board of education several months ago.

The special "national anthem" committee appointed by Dr. James B. McFatrich reported yesterday the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That Supt. Ella Flagg Young be authorized and instructed to collect from the pupils not more than 5 cents each for the purpose of financing the scheme of creating a new national anthem. These collections will be made from today to June 23.

That further details be worked out by the president and submitted to the board.

That a committee consisting of Dean Walter T. Sumner, Mrs. Isabelle O'Keeffe, and Julius F. Smietanka present the matter of a proposed national anthem to the National Education association at San Francisco next month.

Deals New Blow at "Greeks."

The board dealt its final blow to Greek letter societies in the high schools by adopting the following rule defining secret societies:

"A secret society is a society whose name, constitution, by-laws, ritual, initiation, membership, qualifications for membership, insignia of membership, meetings, activities, are, or any one of which is, secret or within the knowledge of the members only or intended to be so."

Reinstate Art Institute.

The board adopted the recommendation of Mrs. Young to reinstate the Art institute on the accredited list of the teachers' college extension. This constituted a reversal of one of the most talked of acts of the term of office of Former Supt. E. G. Cooley.

FIRE PREVENTION HOLIDAY URGED

Marshals' Association Would Make the Event a National Affair.

EDUCATE ALL CLASSES.

Speakers at Convention Say Plan Will Help Cut Great Waste.

There's a new holiday brewing to be called Fire Prevention day if the Association of Fire Marshals of North America can wield any influence. Its purpose is to teach adults and children alike the danger that lies in the rapidly growing fire waste of the country and it is called "an important part of the campaign for the conservation of national resources."

The resolutions were introduced yesterday afternoon at the meeting at the Hotel La Salle by the association's president, Cornelius J. Doyle, fire marshal of Illinois, and were adopted unanimously.

Could Save Enough for Waterway.

In his opening address President Doyle called attention to the annual fire waste in the United States by such similes as these:

If the Illinois fire waste could be stamped out sufficient money would be saved in two years to construct the state deep waterway.

If each building that was burned last year in the United States was placed on a sixty-five foot frontage on one street it would reach from Chicago to New York.

He made some comparisons between Ohio and Illinois that were in favor of the Buckeye state, saying that Illinois last year convicted four men of incendiarism, while Ohio landed forty-nine behind the bars. Illinois' fire waste in 1910 was $10,000,000; Ohio's, $6,000,000.

Compares Chicago and Berlin.

Comparing Chicago and Berlin as having about the same population, he said that the German city's fire waste last year was $175,000, while $7,000,000 represented Chicago's total.

Other addresses were made by W. B. Goodwin, John W. Zubner, Ohio fire marshal; F. A. Craft, South Dakota marshal; Charles A. Ellison, West Virginia, and W. H. Merrill. A dinner was held at the La Salle in the evening. This morning's session will conclude the business and the delegates will attend a ball game in the afternoon after visiting the underwriters' laboratories.

HEIKE SHIELDS SUGAR TRUST

Ex-Official Protests Ignorance to House Committee.

SEES SELF AS SCAPEGOAT.

Describes Havemeyer's Method of Collecting Proxies.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Five hours were spent today by Charles R. Heike, for several years preceding last July the $20,000 secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, in telling the house sugar investigating committee that he knew nothing about the policies or inner history of the company, particularly in the years when H. O. Havemeyer was its president.

The witness described his position with the company as that of a "stock transfer man, bookkeeper, and letter writer." He ridiculed the idea that he was the confidential agent of Mr. Havemeyer, saying that he was not a big enough man for that. He declared the government had picked him out as the "mischief maker" in the alleged customs frauds charged to the American Sugar Refining company simply because it had to have some one to fasten them on.

Heike Protests Ignorance.

The matters the committee tried to find out about, but concerning which Mr. Heike asserted he knew but little, were many.

One of the things was the interest of the American Sugar Refining company in the National Sugar Refining company. The witness said the former owned $5,000,000 preferred stock in the latter, or a little more than one-half, but he had no idea why just a little more than one-half was purchased. Neither did he know whether the American company was cognisant of the claim, now under litigation, that $10,000,000 common stock in the National was in existence, at the time it purchased the preferred stock.

Little of the inner history of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company deal was obtained from the witness. He admitted the American company loaned to Adolph Segal through Gustave A. Kissel, of whom Mr. Heike spoke as Segal's agent, $1,250,000, and that a majority of the stock of the Pennsylvania company with the voting power was given as collateral security.

Havemeyer's Proxy Plan.

Mr. Heike was unable to explain why President Havemeyer had such a control over the American if he only held in his own name a comparatively few shares.

"Did Mr. Havemeyer secure the proxies of stockholders?" inquired Mr. Garrett.

"I sent notices out every time to each stockholder," replied the witness. "I would say: 'The term expires of three directors. If you please, be present to vote. If you have no time to come we will vote for you and unless otherwise directed we will vote for the three whose terms expire.' They always wrote to go ahead."

MAYOR TO REVOKE BEACH LICENSES

"If Conditions Are Like They Are Reported," Harrison Says He Will Act.

TALKS VICE WITH CHIEF.

Further Investigation Necessary to Arrange Policy as to West Side Activities.

The social evil, including conditions in the neighborhood of Wilson avenue, and the drinking resorts that have prospered because of the bathing beaches in the vicinity, receive the attention of Mayor Harrison.

He said yesterday that the organization of his cabinet and other similar executive duties have occupied his time so completely that a talk with Chief McWeeny about conditions in the segregated districts during the day marked the first opportunity he has had to discuss that subject since his inauguration.

May Proceed Against Beach.

The mayor was interested in the opinion prepared by Corporation Counsel Sexton on the subject of bathing beach licenses. When he was told that the opinion gives him full power to revoke them, he said that he would take that action against the Wilson avenue establishments if conditions in that neighborhood prove upon investigation to be what they have been pictured.

"A careful investigation is to be made," said the mayor, "and if conditions at the beaches and in resorts patronized by persons brought to the neighborhood by the beaches are anything like what they are reported. I shall revoke the licenses. Private beaches always have been a source of trouble. We had the same trouble with the Windsor Park beach and I revoked the license."

Hears of Reopened Resorts.

The mayor said his conversation with Chief McWeeny had not been long enough to give him thorough information of conditions in the vice districts, but he heard that resorts closed by Chief Steward had been reopened and that all the enforcement of the rules laid down by the former chief for the conduct of immoral resorts had been dropped.

"When we close a place it will stay closed," he said, speaking of the west side district.

Thumb Print Slayer Reprieved.

In order that the case may be taken to the Supreme court, Gov. Deneen yesterday granted a reprieve to Friday, July 14, to Thomas Jennings, sentenced to hang in Chicago next Friday for the murder of Clarence D. Hiller. Jennings was convicted on thumb print evidence.

ARTIST'S RECEIPT UNDER SUSPICION

Chairman Hamlin Raises New Point in Investigation of Day Portrait Case.

QUESTIONS PUT TO KNOX.

Secretary Knows Little About Rosenthal's Charges, but Explains Hale Claim.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—The mystery surrounding the sudden discovery in the state department of the Day portrait voucher, found a week ago on the floor of the office of Disbursing Clerk Morrison, was not cleared up when Secretary of State Knox appeared today before the Hamlin committee of the house in response to the committee's subpoena.

As to the voucher signed by Albert Rosenthal, the portrait painter, calling for $2,450, of which sum Rosenthal got but $850, Mr. Knox could give no new facts.

"You will be interested in another receipt from Mr. Rosenthal that is attached to the papers," he said to the committee. "It was signed Jan. 18, 1904, and is for $700, with a notation that $60 for the frame of Secretary Day's picture had been paid to a Washington picture dealer."

Suspicious of the Receipt.

"Where did this second receipt come from?" asked Mr. Hamlin.

"I found it with the papers; that is all I know of it," said Secretary Knox.

Mr. Hamlin intimated that he believed the receipt had been fixed up, at least as to the explanation written in ink across the bottom, after the present investigation began.

"Then you think Mr. Rosenthal has written at least part of this receipt since the time indicated in it?" asked Mr. Knox.

Mr. Hamlin replied that he thought it was a curious receipt and that he intended to probe the circumstances to the bottom.

"I will welcome such an investigation," said Secretary Knox.

Objection Made by Root.

Secretary Knox introduced the letter Secretary Root had written to W. H. Michaels, now consul general at Calcutta, who was chief clerk when the Rosenthal matter first came up in 1906; and the reply of Mr. Michaels.

"As this amount is greatly in excess of the sum paid by the department for other similar portraits," said Secretary Root, in his letter to Mr. Michaels, "and as it also seems in excess of the figure which this artist is accustomed to receive for his work, the department would be forced to the conclusion that the voucher signed by Rosenthal was actually made out to cover a number of emergency payments of which the portrait was only one, were it not that the voucher for the whole sum was signed by Rosenthal alone."

"I was directed by Secretary Hay," read the Michaels reply, "to write to Judge Day and ascertain whether the portrait was entirely satisfactory to him at the price agreed. In reply to my letter Judge Day said the portrait was satisfactory to him and stated the price to be paid. This letter I handed to Secretary Hay.

"Whatever was done in the premises was done by direction of Secretary Hay."

Explains the Hale Case

Secretary Knox explained the payment of $5,000 to Frederick Hale, son of former Senator Eugene Hale of Maine, for services in connection with Canadian boundary negotiations. Mr. Hale was employed under the treaty in 1908, which authorized negotiations with Canada to established the line through Passamaquoddy bay. He performed his duties to the satisfaction of Secretary Root and Secretary Knox approved his bill of $5,000 a few weeks after coming into control of the state department."

The question of a grand court funeral benefit was the principal topic of discussion, and a recommendation to provide such a fund was adopted.

DEBATE ON LIABILITY LAW

Commission Hears Arguments For and Against Sabath Bill.

OPPOSED BY THE RAILROADS.

Constitutionality of the Proposed Legislation Questioned.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—Arguments for and against proposed national legislation applying the principle of employers' liability and workmen's compensation to railroads and other interstate carriers were heard today by the joint congressional commission, of which Senator Sutherland of Utah is chairman.

The remarks of the railroad representatives and welfare workers who appeared were directed to features of the bill introduced by Representative Sabath of Chicago.

The bill provides for a graduated scale of indemnities for death and injury to be paid to workmen victims by all interstate carriers and all carriers of the mail. Acceptance of the plan will be voluntary by the corporations, but a tax is imposed on each carrier and waived in the case of the carrier which accepts the indemnity system. The taxes collected from the carriers refusing to comply are hed as a fund to be disbursed to victims of accidents.

Attacked by Railway's Counsel.

R. W. Cary of Chicago, general counsel for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway, argued against the measure. He asserted that the constitutionality of the plan is open to grave doubt. He thought it clearly was violation of the freedom of contract guaranteed by the constitution. He admitted the government has authority to impose the system under its taxing power, but not for private purposes, he contended.

Prof. Ernst Freund of the University of Chicago, an authority on constitutional law, said he favored the principle but was not prepared to contend that the federal government has sufficient authority under the constitution to enact the proposed legislation.

Kellogg Supports the Measure.

Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, who as government counsel smashed the Standard Oil company, appeared in behalf of the railroad employes of the country and argued that the proposed law is perfectly constitutional and should be enacted without delay.

REFUSE RECORDS OF MINARD TRIAL

School Officials Decline to Give Coroner Evidence in Old Case.

ENGINEER MADE CHARGES

Principal Was Exonerated, Accuser Discharged; Asks Reinstatement.

Members of the Chicago board of education refused yesterday to permit a representative of the coroner's office to have access to the records of the trial of John F. Gohring, former engineer of the Marquette school, against whom charges were made in 1909 by the principal, Charles F. Minard, and who in turn charged the principal with questionable conduct. Gohring was discharged.

The request formed a part of Coroner Hoffman's investigation into circumstances connected with the death of Mr. Minard's wife, who, according to a jury's verdict, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid last Saturday night.

Board Refuses Trial Records.

George Scrivner, detective sergeant in the coroner's office, was the representative who asked to see the files in the Gohring case, in which it is said that Mr. Minard's name was connected with that of a woman who desired to become janitress in the school.

Mr. Scrivner asked President James B. McFatrich for the name of the woman who had been named in the Gohring trial.

The president put the matter to the board members who were holding a special session prior to the regular board meeting. The members declined to give any information on the subject inasmuch as the trial had been held in executive session and Prof. Minard was exonerated.

Gohring "Talked Too Much"?

President McFatrich said that Goring had made application for reinstatement and that he had written to former President Urion and asked him if there was any reason why a rehearing of the former engineer's case should be granted.

"Gohring came to me some weeks ago and asked for a rehearing," said Dr. McFatrich yesterday, "and I asked him if he meant to say that there had been anything wrong between Mr. Minard and this woman who wished to become janitress of the school. His reply was that he guessed he had been talking too much."

Track Laborer 'Mike' Busch Tells System That Netted $8,000.

LIVED IN A BASEMENT.

Seven Years of Self-Sacrifice Earns Competence for Couple in Hungary.

"Mike" Busch, the Elgin track laborer, who supported a wife on $10.80 a week and managed to save $8,000 in seven years, has told THE TRIBUNE how he managed to do it.

Busch left Chicago Monday and will sail shortly for his former home in Hungary, where he expects to live in comfort on a four acre farm the rest of his days.

Busch and his wife occupied four rooms in a basement of a two story house, for which they paid $5 a month. They rented one room to two lodgers for $6.50 a month. They lived chiefly upon rye bread, buying it several days after baking, two loaves for 5 cents. Sometimes they had a blowout and included half a bologna sausage in their meal. On rare occasions they bought boiling meat.

The coffee used by Busch cost 20 cents a pound, and they had it three times a day, and potatoes were eaten frequently. Their average meal cost 15 or 20 cents.

New clothing never was purchased. The wife did washing and her customers used to give her their partially worn garments. Before Busch and his wife left they bought an entire outfit of clothing for both, costing $60. A relative had died and left them a two acre farm in Hungary, which caused the extravagance. The husband is 47 years old and the wife 50.

BRITT TALKS TO CIRCULATORS ON REDUCED POSTAL RATES.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Says 1 Cent Is Feasible if All the Classes Can Be Equalized.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Britt was the principal speaker before the International Circulation Managers' association at the second day's session at the La Salle Hotel yesterday. He talked of postal rates and assured the delegates to the convention that a 1 cent rate would be feasible if the present rates upon all classes of matter could be equalized.

Other addresses were made by John F. Kelly of New York, Thomas Downey of Boston, W. J. Harrison of Seattle, J. McKernan of New York, Joseph Weimer of Cleveland, Frank E. Frugone of New York, and F. S. Dobson of Detroit.

In the evening the banquet of the association was held in the general dining room of the La Salle and was attended by nearly 300 members, their wives and friends. Owing to a sudden illness, President Harry E. First of the Cincinnati Inquirer was unable to preside. The chief speakers were Corporation Counsel Sexton, Col. William L. Visscher, and Opie Read.

AUTO TRUCKS STRIKE TWO: IOWA CATTLEMAN KILLED.

Man Supposed to Be L. Schlesselman Meets Death—George Walker May Recover at Hospital.

A man supposed to be L. Schlesselman of Victor, Ia., was knocked down and killed by an American Express company motor truck at Van Buren and South State streets last night.

The victim had attempted to cross State street, but became bewildered at the presence of many passing cars and vehicles and stepped in front of the truck while getting out of the way of a car.

There were hundreds of persons at the corner and many saw the man, who was about 50 years old, struck. He was picked up and sent to St. Luke's hospital, but died on the way. Papers found indicate that he was a stock raiser and had shipped several carloads of cattle here.

George Walker, who resides at the Palace hotel in North Clark street, was struck by a motor truck at Peck place and South State street. Walker also became confused while crossing the street. He was taken to the county hospital and will probably recover.

URGES STATE "DRINK" HOMES.

R. A. Woods at Charities Conference Says No Case of Alcoholism Is Beyond Recovery.

Boston, Mass., June 14.—"No case of drunkenness, no matter how far advanced, is considered beyond recovery and no case, however slight, is considered to be without harm," said Robert A. Woods, president of the South End House of Boston, tonight in addressing the final session of the national conference of charities and correction. The subject of the session was drunkenness. Mr. Woods advocated state institutions for non-criminal persons arrested for intoxication.

Chicago's 'Drama Players' Include New Theater Folk.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 14.—[Special.]—Donald Robertson announced here today that in Chicago contracts will be signed tomorrow which will assure the west a prototype of the New York New theater, with many of that institution's players of last year. Mr. Robertson came here to take part in the Milwaukee Normal school's pageant, practically a repetition of last year's Northwestern university pageant.

"The Chicago project will be the western idea developed in the reform of the stage," said Mr. Robertson, "and its chief difference from the New theater will be that while the eastern uplift of the drama centered in the magnificent theater building, the Chicago plan centers in the creating of an audience for the greatest and highest type of dramatic productions. One other great difference will be in the management, for while the New York manager was burdened with a great financial weight in Chicago we shall not be hampered by any such difficulty, and the productions will be entirely in the hands of a trained staff.

"There was a conference in Chicago today at which the contracts of the Shuberts, with myself in charge, were laid before Mrs. Harold McCormick of the Chicago Theater society for her approval. We were given to understand that this contract will be signed tomorrow, and we have the cast already selected, with whom we are ready to sign contracts as soon as the contract with the producers is signed. This contract does not involve any outlay of money, and is merely a guarantee of $60,000 for a ten weeks' season. The burden and the responsibility will be on the producers.

"We hope to be able to come to Milwaukee with our entire company for one or two weeks prior to the opening in Chicago. I cannot give out the names of the players selected, but can say that we have secured the leading members of the New theater company. Many of those who will be with us have in time gone by headed companies of their own.

"We shall call our company the 'Drama Players,' and the works which we shall produce will be on the best plane of the American drama."

Hungarian Home to Open.

Hungarian Woman's home, at 640 Garfield avenue, will be formally opened tonight with simple ceremonies presided over by the Rev. Ladislaws Farkas. The home will be the first Hungarian institution in the city.

It was a simple incident that started the train of events which will culminate in the dedication of the institution. In South Chicago last winter there was a young Hungarian girl who was ill and almost destitute. Yet the desire for companionship of her own nationality was so strong that she would not go into an American institution where her own language was not spoken.

The dedication ceremony will be followed by addresses by Dean Walter Taylor Sumner, the Rev. Timothy Stone, and Prof. Shailer Mathews, all of whom have taken a lively interest in the project.

Escort Duty.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

ANY lady now wishing to borrow a man can have a nice copper all dressed spick and span. No longer need fair ones with terror be pent when there's husky policemen offered for rent. If Friend usband is grouchy and declines to go home, riend Wife need not weep that she must alone; for even if husband does act like mule and hangs 'round the club to play elly pool, Friend Wife to the telephone ickly can hop and any police station will nd her a cop. For any policeman to her ill be let—tall or short, fat or thin, a blonde brunette. So that when she nears home d steps from her train, and shivers in dread the night and the rain, and she is so rvous she feels like she'd drop, O, look! there pears her good angel, the cop.

'AND NAGLE'S ESCORTING FOUR OR FIVE SUFFRAGETS'

The new rule will render some changes, 'tis en, in a life that was formerly all dull utine; for 'twill be quite a rest after trudging beat to escort a lady both gentle and sweet, uch nicer it is to take some one home than have a footpad firing shots at your dome. Hereafter when Casey don't call up on time Nagle has failed to report sharp at 9, and the captain comes in and looks very black, and it seems like some one will be put on the rack, then the sergeant will bid the brave Cap. not to sob and assure him his coppers are right on the job, for Casey is waiting for Mrs. de Betts and Nagle's escorting four or five suffragets; also, Dugan has answered a quick hurry call for a dark eyed policeman, broad shouldered and tall; McGee for two hours has been out in the rain to take home some girls from the one thirty train. O'Fallon has grabbed six umbrellas, they say, to escort home a bunch that has been to the play. The reserves are all out on escort detail, and, unless in true gallantry we seem to fail, I suggest to you, Cap., you hike over to Clark to meet one more lady that's afraid of the dark. If the chief calls you up or I hear your phone ring I'll just tune my voice and so sweetly I'll sing:

"He is taking Nellie ho-o-ome.
He is taking Nellie home.
The Cap. is working like a copper,
He is taking Nellie home."

They start to walk home when "Excuse me," says he, "I have to report to the station, you see." He calls up the station, and when the sarge comes this is the report that the brave copper hums:

"I'm taking Nellie ho-o-ome.
I am taking Nellie home.
She's been out to a neighbor's supper party,
And I'm taking Nellie home."

'I SUGGEST TO YOU, CAP, TO HIKE OVER TO CLARK.'

Stowe Differs with Washington.

Nashville, Tenn., June 14.—The forty-fifth commencement of Fisk university, the college for negroes, was observed here today. The Rev. Charles Edward Stowe, son of Harriet Beecher Stowe, made the commencement address and read letters from President Taft and Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Stowe said it is essential that those young people of the colored race who are being trained for service as ministers, teachers, lawyers, and doctors have the best possible training. "Mere industrial training is utterly inadequate," he added. "Let us suppose that Booker T. Washington had received only industrial education; would it not have been a great loss to our country in its present serious crisis?"

President Taft, in his letter, said: "I am not one of those who believe it is well to educate the mass of negroes with academic or university education. On the contrary, I am firmly convinced that the hope of the negro is in his industrial education. But I also have become convinced that it is necessary to have a few high class negro universities for those who are to be the leaders of the race and who are to figure prominently in a professional way."

Theodore Roosevelt said the general education board plans to give $60,000 to Fisk, provided $300,000 was raised, $200,000 for endowment. Of this nearly $185,000 remains to be raised.

Ripon, Wis., June 14.—[Special.]—The address to the graduating class of Ripon college today was given by Shailer Mathews, dean of the University of Chicago Divinity school. Dr. Mathews' theme was "The Scholar in a Commercial Age." He showed that education and commercialism were supplemental to each other, and not in opposition.

Folk Pleads for Patriotism.

Lafayette, Ind., June 14.—[Special.]—Three hundred and thirty-one young men received bachelor degrees today at Purdue university, the thirty-seventh annual commencement being made notable by the address of Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri, who pleaded for a higher patriotism and regard for law.

Urges Search for Truth.

Grinnell, Ia., June 14.—[Special.]—"Truth" was the subject out of which President Harry Pratt Judson of Chicago university wove one of the most interesting commencement addresses ever heard in Grinnell. The address was an appeal for action, based upon exact knowledge rather than upon prejudice and passion. For this reason he urged higher education. He deplored the hurried life of today, which makes the pursuit of knowledge so difficult.

Chinese Girl Wells Leader.

Auburn, N. Y., June 14.—Commencement exercises at Wells college took place at Aurora today under unpleasant weather conditions, a drizzling rain interfering with the dedication of the new Frances Folsom Cleveland library, given by Andrew Carnegie in honor of the widow of the late President Cleveland.

A class of twenty-eight was graduated, and among these was Miss Yu Kung Chang of Shanghai, China, grandniece of Li Hung Chang. Miss Chang is 19 years old and has completed her college course in four and one-half years, the first half year being spent in taking some preparatory work and in perfecting herself in English.

She will go to New York to study social work, and in November will return to Shanghai to work among her own people.

Seek $1,000,000 Endowment.

Class Day at Morgan Park.

Morgan Park academy celebrated class day yesterday with the seniors in charge.

The following had places on the program: President's address, Samuel C. Beckwith; class oration, Julius A. Buerkin; class history, Franklin B. Evans; advice to undergraduates, Everett C. McGriff; class prophecy, Frank O. Young; giving out souvenirs, Searle H. Lanyon; presentation of class gift, Willis E. Dick.

In the evening the senior "prom" was held in the gymnasium. The alumni reunion was largely attended, a new feature being the unfurling of a pennant to each class graduated from the school. The battalion, in charge of Maj. J. C. Wiggs, fired a salute as each pennant swept up the flagstaff.

Murray T. Morgan presided at the banquet. The following officers were elected: President, Albert S. Long, Evanston; vice president, Oliver D. Mann, Danville; treasurer, David S. Oberg, Morgan Park; secretary, Miss Anna J. Le Fevre, Chicago.

Today is graduation day. This afternoon there will be a complimentary concert by the academy orchestra. At 5 o'clock Gen. E. C. Young reviews the battalion in its final parade. The graduation exercises will be held in Blake hall at 8 o'clock.

President George Edgar Vincent of Minnesota university delivered the annual address to the graduates.

Woman and Her Interests.

Love and Late Hours.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

IT is supposed that when a young man has interest enough to call repeatedly upon a young lady that he is enamored of her.

The more hours he passes in her society seems to strengthen this belief, not only in the girl's heart, but those of her parents and friends as well. It is all very well when his visits are between 8 in the evening and possibly 10:30 at the least.

When he remains beyond that hour he is doing an injustice to the girl. Although she knows that the neighbors on the block are keeping tab behind closed blinds, yet she feels a delicacy in reminding him that it is getting late.

It makes it all the worse, more embarrassing for her, if the young man has no intention of proposing matrimony to her, but is calling just to pass a pleasant evening in her society. Even the brightest and wittiest girls find it is a strain upon the nerves to converse brilliantly three or four hours on a stretch. Indeed, they must be fond of him, not to weary of his companionship altogether. When the conversation commences to lag, and the hands of the clock warningly point to 10, it is too late to begin playing the piano or to sing. She plunges into conversation desperately again, repressing a yawn, and wondering if he will ever realize that it is time to go.

The girl living with her own relatives knows that she has to answer to them.

What can she do? Give him his hat, which would wound his vanity so deeply that he would surely never call again?

Young men should remember that girls do not lead idle lives. If the maiden works for her living she must be up betimes in the morning.

Entertaining him beyond the conventional hour is drawing upon her beauty sleep as well as upon her nerves. She may have an hour's sewing to do before she can seek her pillow. She couldn't bring her mending basket into the parlor. Her duty in that direction must wait or be neglected altogether. The girl who is boarding is at a much greater disadvantage regarding her beau's visits. The landlady puts special stress on the fact that her rules are strictly: "Gentleman callers are expected to leave promptly at 10 o'clock."

What is she to do? This young man may be her one and only chance in life she thinks. She is equally desirous to keep the good will of her landlady. Therefore it is the young man who should feel it incumbent upon himself not to place her in a dilemma; moreover, if his intentions are serious he should make up his mind sooner in the case of the girl who boards. If his calls cease after a few months he leaves her a target for gossip in addition to the heavy aching heart which she carries in her bosom.

A Difficult Disposition.

"Dear Miss Libbey: The young man to whom I am engaged seldom went with girls until he met me and we have known each other more than three years. He takes me places, buys me confectionery and books, and seems thoughtful. I told him I never would marry any man unless he had the wherewithal to buy a home and furnish it. We are young and have agreed to wait. We so easily drift into arguments just from mere trifles. He criticises the place where I am employed, and I have one of the best positions in the city. Only one of my girl friends has escaped criticism, and he says she is old maidish. He is a member of the Christian church, but has no use for the pastor and only a handful of the members. He doesn't want me to attend any social affair at the church, and if I go with any girls he won't bring me home. He says the missionary circle is time wasted. He often says cutting things, but before he leaves he tells me he is sorry and don't know why he does. His father is a disagreeable man at times, and seems jealous of his own son. He is good to his mother and sisters. My family opposes the marriage. In a few years he can command $125 a month. Do you think he would be liable to change his ideal by the time he is 25? I have heard we change them between the ages of 18 and 25. Please tell me what to do when he does and says so many queer things.
A TRIBUNE READER."

The man has many good traits, but evidently has a difficult disposition. He does not realize it. Perhaps you can make him do so. The question of whether or not to marry such a type must be settled by yourself alone.

She Wants Him to Propose.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a widow, having lost two husbands. Although I have grown children and am in my 40s my friends tell me I have a perfectly lovely little figure, and my face is pretty, too. For four years a gentleman some years older than I has come to see me twice a week. Thursday evenings it is a formal call and Sunday evenings he takes me out to dinner. In all these years he has treated me merely as a friend. He kisses me occasionally, but does not make love to me. When he is ill and I telephone him or go to see him he is indifferent—at times almost insulting. I love him so much! How can I make him propose to me? Certainly four years is ample time.
UNHAPPY MAE."

You are an exceptional widow, to say the least. Most widows experience no such difficulty as you complain of. You can't make him propose to you unless he wants to. The man evidently doesn't care for you or he would have asked you to marry him before this.

Was She Forward?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am taking geometry the second time in high school and it seems I never can get through it. I have been doing my best, but cannot manage to pass. This morning I went to the superintendent's office to ask for my credit. When I arrived one of my favorite teachers was there, but I was obliged to state my purpose for calling. I think I said it bluntly, but I said: 'I want to know if I can have my credit in geometry?' I told him why. Now, they both laughed long and hard. One of them said I 'had lots of nerve,' and compared me to the nerviest (may I say that?) boy in the school. Now, please, Miss Libbey, was I too forward? If so, how can I get back into their good graces?
"JEAN."

I don't see that you were forward. You simply were seeking information on a matter you had every reason to wish to know about.

She Wears a Wig.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 22 and am to marry a young man residing in California. I have not seen him for more than a year. In that time my hair has all come out and I wear a wig. I want your advice whether I should tell him or not. Do you think it would be deceiving him not to tell him I wear a wig? I love him dearly. Do you think he will care for me just the same as he did before?
ROSIE."

Doesn't he know you have been ill, Rosie? If you were so seriously ill as to have it affect your hair in such a way you should have told him. Better tell him about the wig.

She Was Shocked.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 24 and think much of a man of 50. He has a business of his own, and I went to work for him. He started to be interested in me, and he was so nice I became just crazy about him. He has given me many valuable presents. One is a diamond ring. He came to the office one day and slipped the ring on my finger. I was shocked. I didn't know what to make of it. Then he took off his ring and showed it to me and he had my name in it. I was provoked about it at the minute, but then he said I was the only girl for him. But I heard he had some one else, and since then I couldn't trust him. I thought it better to leave my place of work. Was I foolish to listen to people's talk?
R."

You acted unwisely in accepting valuable presents from him. Don't go near him. If he is really serious you won't have to run after him. There would be no harm in sending him a post card with some conventional phrase on it. He isn't bashful—that's clear to be seen.

She Tags Along.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been keeping steady company with a desirable young man, for whom I have the highest regard, and know that he has very high regard for me. We are employed by the same company. He has been placed in charge of the night department and we have only one night every two weeks to meet. Is it proper to meet him as I am going home from work and he is on his way to work? Also, there is another young lady, who lives near my residence, who goes home with me, but always when I meet my friend she stays, too. What can I say to her that will not offend her, so that she will walk along and not stop?
J."

There is nothing improper about meeting him on his way to work, although it would be better if you could arrange to meet at your home. Try to arrange not to accompany your girl friend home from work the night that you are to meet your man friend.

Carrots—Italian Recipes.

CARROTS all' Aceto.—Scrape six large carrots and wash them well in cold water, cut them in slices, put them into an earthen pot of boiling water and boil till tender. Then drain and dry, put them into a salad bowl and pour some white wine vinegar over them, with a little chopped onion and celery and two bay leaves.

Carrots alla Béchamel.—Scrape and wash six or eight carrots and slice them very fine. Cook them slowly in a saucepan with two ounces of fresh butter, add a little pounded sugar, salt, and pepper and stir them continually. In another saucepan put one ounce of butter, one ounce of flour, two tumblers of cream or milk and salt to taste. Cook for about ten minutes, then pour it over the carrots and heat again, taking care not to let them boil.

Carrots alla Casalinga.—Cut up some young carrots into small pieces and put them into a saucepan with salted boiling water. Leave them to boil for several minutes, then drain and put them into a saucepan with four ounces of butter, some salt, and a little pepper on a hottish fire to bring out the flavor. Add a little flour and a little broth or water and boil again, taking care that the carrots do not fall to bits. Then make a sauce with the yolks of two eggs, the juice of half a lemon and a little chopped parsley and pour it over the boiling carrots. Take them off the fire at once to prevent the eggs from getting hard, put them on a dish, garnish with fried parsley and fried sippets of bread and serve up hot.

Carrots alla Panna.—Scrape and wash six large carrots and cut them into very fine slices. Put them into a saucepan and cook slowly with two or three ounces of butter, a little sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and mix well together. In another saucepan mix four ounces of butter, four ounces of fine flour, two tumblers of cream or milk and a pinch of salt. Boil for about ten minutes, until the cream begins to bubble, then pour it over the carrots. Keep them on the fire, but do not let them boil. Serve hot.

Carrot Sautés.—Scrape and wash six large carrots and cut them in rounds half an inch thick. Cook them in white broth or salted water for half an hour in a covered pan. Then drain, put them in a sauté pan, add a teacupful of cream or milk and three tablespoonfuls of Béchamel sauce, some salt and pepper and a little nutmeg. Cook for ten minutes, then place them on a hot dish, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve hot.

Carrots in Stufato.—Take one or two pounds of fine carrots, cut them in pieces, put them in an earthen pot of boiling water and cook them until nearly soft. Meanwhile put two ounces of butter, half or three-quarters of a pint of good broth, and one or two tablespoonfuls of powdered white sugar into a frying pan and cook quickly for ten minutes; then take it off the fire, add two well beaten yolks of eggs and a little salt and pepper. Then drain the carrots, pour the hot sauce over them and serve hot.

BRANDS BROWNE A BLOT ON STATE

President Sheets of Illinois Press Association Urges Ban on Corruption.

LORIMER MEN "PIRATES."

Says Effort Was Made to Muzzle Newspapers; Editors in Convention Applaud.

State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, leader of the "bathroom boys," and other members of the Illinois legislature who have forced the state and themselves into the national eye through the confessions of some of their colleagues, and through the investigations of Senator William Lorimer, were roundly denounced yesterday afternoon before the Illinois Press association at the Hotel Sherman. Senator Lorimer was condemned by inference. Irrespective of politics, the members applauded the arraignment.

President J. M. Sheets, editor of the Oblong Oracle, was the man to take the bit between his teeth and overturn association precedents at the close of a long, impassioned plea for purity among the country newspapers, and a stand for independence in politics when "yellow dog" candidates were named by party bosses.

As originally prepared President Sheets' manuscript address denounced many public men of Illinois by name, but in deference to the possible stirring of party strife within the editorial ranks he eliminated all names except that of Lee O'Neil Browne.

Browne Sneered at Newspapers.

Browne in his defense of himself before the Illinois house sneered at newspapers, and especially those of smaller cities and towns, which he contemptuously referred to as of "peanut size." Browne's slurs at the country editors and his insinuations that he, among other politicians, had to "come across," were bitterly resented by the head of the Illinois editors.

"And if there are any here who do not like my language they can 'stop their subscriptions,'" he told his associates in professional terms.

"Men who have been indicted for bribery —and, judging from the bar of public opinion, some have and others should have been found guilty by the courts— questionable lawmakers, men whose reputations are so foul, whose official acts are so pronounced as to chill the blood of lovers of righteousness, and whose official and political records are so bedaubed with scandal as to be nauseating to the nostrils, are in a poor way to minimize the good influence of the spotless country press of Illinois, or to tell it what its God-bounded duties are," asserted Mr. Sheets.

"Party Be Damned' Policy Rules."

"Shame on the situation in Illinois today. It is neither Democratic nor Republican, and therefore I can speak in a manner which otherwise would be forbidden by our bylaws. It is the 'party be damned' with the political pirates of both parties.

"Politics is good when wholesome and without taint, but in Illinois today some men in power are a hindrance to good government, and the sooner the Brownes, the men he has assisted to office, and those of his ilk, regardless of party affiliation, are divorced from the politics and official family of the commonwealth, the sooner will our great state make the retribution necessary to resume its position in the vanguard of decency, honor, and statehood rank.

"Many good men in the recent legislature," he continued, "were spat upon by the unprincipled element of both parties. It was this latter influence that sought to choke the honest press of the state by attempting to pass alien and seditious laws that would muzzle your pens."

Indorse Sheets' Address.

Mr. Sheets' references to the election of Senator Lorimer and the character of his supporters frequently were interrupted by applause, and Editor Harris Dante, who followed with an address on "The Demand of the Hour," indorsed his statements throughout. The final address of the day was "Rusty Editors," by Terry Simmons, editor of the Marseilles Plaindealer. He said:

"Death loves a shining mark—why shine?"

"Rust is approaching death—why rust?

"To rust is eventually to bust."

Today's addresses will include one by Senator Albert F. Isley; "Advertising," by John Lee Mahin; "Playgrounds of Young America," J. B. Castle; and "The Editor and the Automobile," by W. T. Bedford.

LA FOLLETTE'S weekly is fighting flies as hard as its owner is fighting other pests at Washington. In a late issue this journal suggests this use of formalin:

A good sized bottle is filled with a 2 per cent solution (two teaspoonfuls to half a pint of water), a saucer placed over it, and the whole is inverted. A nick is broken in the mouth of the bottle, or it may be set up on a bit of chip, so that the liquid will partially fill the saucer, and a small slice of bread covered with sugar is placed in one side as an added attraction. Both bottle and saucer may be mounted in a wooden or wire bracket so that it may be hung in any sunny corner about the stable or porch; or, with a little shelf tacked in place, the bottle may be simply leaned up in a corner. During hot, dry weather, with no other water near, this device will cover the back porch or stable floor black with flies that never will lay eggs any more. It is quite possible some such poisoning method employed generally out of doors would prove the cheapest and easiest way of dealing with the whole fly problem. The bottle keeps the strength of solution, and doles it dawn as needed, so that, once set, it requires no attention for weeks, or even months.

When the French first attempted to dig the Panama canal yellow fever killed the workmen and officials by the score. The flies and the mosquitoes were not then generally recognized as disease carriers. In one day three of the medical staff died. Workmen dropped in their tracks, and the flies and mosquitoes were not suspected.

Under the medical direction of Dr. Gorgas, the American administration of the canal work has not been interrupted by mosquitoes and flies carrying the disease. Every house is screened, and all breeding places of the insect are treated with chemicals which kill the eggs and larvæ. So complete is the medical control that even when there are typhoid patients in the hospitals, which is seldom, other patients are treated on adjacent beds. Doctors' families live on the hospital grounds. Many of the nurses are non-immune from the disease, and yet none has taken it. This condition has been acquired through vigilance and cleanliness. So far as danger from disease carried by flies is concerned, Panama is as healthy to the workman as almost any part of the United States; much more so than some.

SEE JURY NEARLY FILLED

Nine of "Prophet's" Peers Are Tentatively Accepted by State.

EVIDENCE COMES ON TODAY.

"Absolute Life" Leader to Explain Relations with Mildred Bridges.

Testimony regarding the peculiar teachings of Evelyn Arthur See, originator of "absolute life," will be given today in his trial on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Bridges, one of his followers.

At the close of the second day of his hearing nine jurors had been tentatively accepted. Three other men have been tendered by the defense. In all probability the remainder of the men who will rule on the guilt or innocence of the "prophet" will be chosen this morning.

Names of Accepted Jurors.

The jurors already accepted are: John W. Rogers, 3239 Congress street; John A. Angst, 4152 West Twenty-first place; Walter A. Nelson, 5620 Prairie avenue; Elias Smale, 4560 Wabash avenue; G. F. Gupper, 4253 Eberly avenue; Ely N. Ellerson, 2006 Potomac avenue; Charles M. Bogue, 317 West Seventeenth street; Harry Serre, 1840 Ballou street; William Bibbus, 4735 West Indiana street.

Arthur Van Vlissingen, brother of Peter Van Vlissingen, convicted of forging checks for large amounts, was called as a veniremian yesterday. He said he had formed an opinion and was excused. Twenty others were excused for the same reason.

Bring "Book of Truth."

Excerpts from the writings of See will be read from the witness stand. Judge Landis issued an order allowing various manuscripts of the "revealer," including the "Book of Truth," to be taken to the Criminal court. In this book See calls Mildred Bridges the "Spirit of Wifehood" and refers to her as "the mother of the new race."

Of the life of those at the temple he writes: "They don't reject anything. They purify themselves from all mortality and then freely, willingly, and joyfully live out what is in them."

COTTON CLOTHES FOR TAFT.

First Bale of This Season's Growth Will Make Suits for President, King, and Governor General.

San Benito, Tex., June 14.—Suits of clothes made from the first bale of cotton of this season's growth will be presented to President Taft, the king of England and the governor general of Canada. At a meeting of the commercial club of San Benito last night it was decided to trace the cotton which was raised in this county to Manchester, England, and have it woven into cloth from which the clothes are to be made.

WITNESS RHODES RELUCTANT; DOESN'T AID LUMBER INQUIRY.

O. E. Book of Flandreau, S. D., Tells Federal Jury of Attempt to Join Dealers' Association.

John E. Rhodes of St. Paul, an official of the lumber secretaries' bureau of information and connected with the Weyerhaeuser interests, was a witness before the federal grand jury yesterday in the lumber "trust" inquiry. He was reluctant and the government's attorney claimed that he revealed none of the suspected methods of the trust.

O. E. Book of Flandreau, S. D., manager of the Flandreau Lumber company, was another witness.

"Several years ago I endeavored to join one of the lumber dealers' associations," he said "When agents for the associations learned that we had farmers on our directorate they refused us membership and then placed us on the black list."

H. B. Scott of Davenport, Ia., and Walt M Manuel of St. Louis were other witnesses.

STATION LACKS REAR ENTRANCE

Northwestern Commuters in Protest Against Closed Canal Street Doors.

FLAW IN NEW STRUCTURE

Suburban Passengers Complain That They Must Walk Around the Building to Enter.

The architect who designed the Northwestern's new railroad station failed to provide a back entrance.

At least this is the claim made by that portion of the army of 60,000 daily commuters whose places of business in the city are north of Randolph street.

Coming to town in the morning fresh and vigorous, the commuters find an exit through the Canal street side of the station.

But in the evening, when they are tired and hurried in their effort to reach their suburban homes, they must travel to Madison street, and after they have entered the station walk north about a block.

Door Works One Way.

The "back door" swings only one way—and that is outward. The three broad exits which spill the workers into the Chicago streets in the morning refuse to accept them at evening.

This arrangement upon the part of the designers of the new station is reminiscent of the trouble the Northwestern has had with its clocks. When the old Wells street station was designed, nearly twenty years ago, the clock tower was found to be entirely hidden by ornamental minarets. These were later torn down—the same defect is found with clocks on the new station.

Commuters Make a Protest.

Karl Eitel of Eitel Bros., and other suburban dwellers, have addressed letters of protest on the "back door" to the president and other officials of the road. President Gardner has promised to remedy the difficulty—if a "difficulty" is found to exist by the officials.

A. C. Johnson, passenger traffic manager, has replied to the criticism with the statement that the company "regrets it would not be feasible to make the arrangement for the reason that no facilities are at hand for receiving or caring for passengers awaiting trains at the particular point referred to."

ÆTNA LIFE

William Porter, of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Erickson, Perkins & Co., was returning to New York from his country home on May 22d with a party of friends. Just outside of Paterson, New Jersey, in avoiding a driverless horse and cart his automobile ran into a ditch and upset. His friends escaped serious injury, but Mr. Porter was crushed under the machine and died June 1st.

On Feb. 5, 1908, Mr. Porter bought a $25,000 Accumulative Accident Policy of the ÆTNA LIFE, on which he paid four annual premiums of $125. Under the ten per cent. yearly ACCUMULATION FEATURE the insurance increased to $32,500.

On Oct. 22, 1910, he bought a second Accumulative Accident Policy for $25,000, paying a single premium of $125.

So for $625 the ÆTNA LIFE on June 2d paid $57,500. Weekly indemnity and surgical operation fees added $1,107 more, making $58,607 in all.

How can an automobilist with any business foresight go a day longer without Accident Insurance? The ÆTNA LIFE has paid over $16,000,000 because of accidents.

Where People Are Buying Things—is The American Northwest

The farmers in the eight states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and Oregon are among the wealthiest men in the country today. Their prosperity is not dependent on the stock market nor does it hang on supreme court decisions; but is permanent, because it is founded, not only on the rise of farm values and the high prices they get for their abundant crops, but on the modern business principles they have applied to farming. The American Northwest is a modern El Dorado where

Farm Values Trebled in Ten Years

The farm lands and buildings in these eight states are worth $4,711,476,120—three times what they were ten years ago. The farm implements and machinery are worth $183,393,000, while the ten leading crops last year brought $486,674,000. Mind you, this crop income was from diversified crops, not all wheat. Is it any wonder these farmers are buying whatever they need—not only agricultural implements, machinery and necessities—but things for their homes and families that many a high salaried city man would consider luxuries.

You Can Get Some of These Sales

Through the advertising columns of that leading agricultural weekly of the Northwest

That virile, splendidly successful farm paper having for its goal the development of the American Northwest, subscribed for by the most wide-awake, money making and spending farmers in those eight prosperous states

With 100,000 Circulation Weekly

Edited by Clifford Willis (a man who has done as much for agriculture in the Northwest as Coburn has for Kansas). Editor Willis and his associate editors, Profs. Bopp and Burlison, were all formerly on the staff of the South Dakota Agricultural College. They have been important factors in the rapid development of this exceedingly rich Northwest. They know their Northwest, its possibilities, the needs of its farmers, and they are able to write out their knowledge in plain, common-sense English that is so live, practical and suggestive that it "gets under the skin" and spurs our readers on to better farming, better living, more efficient, scientific management, the employment of more labor-saving methods. It is this vitality of the editorial columns of the NORTHWEST FARMSTEAD that makes it such a purchasing force.

GETTING MORE EXPENSIVE.

If given time the Hon. William Lorimer will prove an expensive luxury to the entire country. Illinois, which donated him to the nation, is anxious to receive him back as a private citizen. His appearances in Washington are limited to occasions when by the casting of his challenged vote he may jeopardise a national interest. This challenged vote was "yes" to substitute the Bristow resolution for the Borah resolution submitting the question of direct election of senators and "no" on the passage of the Bristow resolution when so substituted.

When Mr. Lorimer's efforts are joined with those of the Hon. James S. Sherman the damage is considerable.

EVEN IN ADVANCE OF KANDAHAR.

Parcels post packages for destinations in Brazil will now be accepted by the United States mails. Sumatra, Tasmania, Archangel, and Kandahar are understood to be next in order, with faint prospect, in the end, of the United States.—New York Evening Post.

We have more confidence. Even before the people of Sumatra or Kandahar have the privilege of shipping a parcel to be taken up by the United States mails and carried across this country to any address given, the people of the United States may be given the right to use their own postoffice for like purpose.

Congress is wise and just, and it will be as considerate of America as it is of Sumatra or Kandahar.

DISCOVERING CASTRO.

The discovery of the whereabouts of Castro bids fair to be one of the exciting industries or pastimes of the summer months. He has become as elusive an individual as Dr. Cook was last year. One day he is found at the Canary islands, and another in Cadiz. Two weeks ago it was said that he was on a steamer bound for Havana, and a little later that he was secreted in New York City consulting with his adherents. The latest report is that he is in disguise on a mysterious steamer at Port de Paix, Hayti.

It is not certain as yet that he really has been discovered. If he has not been the discoveries will continue. Whenever some swarthy stranger of truculent mien shows up anywhere in the West Indies the report will go abroad that Castro has been found. Then President Gomez of Venezuela will spend another sleepless night reflecting on what Castro would do to him if he were to lay his hands on him. Then the American secretary of state would heave a deep sigh and wish that pestilent Venezuelan were at the bottom of the sea, or else planted like Napoleon on a lonely and well guarded island whence escape was impossible.

THE RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT.

The protracted hearings given by the finance committee of the senate to the enemies of the reciprocity bill have served no other purpose than to kill time and give those Canadian interests which are against the agreement an opportunity to organize a formidable opposition. For even as there are those on this side of the boundary line who say that reciprocity would benefit Canada at the expense of the United States, there are those on the other side who say the dominion would be injured and this country benefited. The Canadian Manufacturers' association, copying after the American lumbermen and print paper makers, is spending money to manufacture popular sentiment hostile to the agreement. It has succeeded to some extent in Ontario and Quebec, and apparently there will be more opposition to the agreement in the dominion parliament than there would have been a month ago.

The finance committee has at last reported the reciprocity bill to the senate, and the thing now is to have it voted on as soon as possible. The people understand it and approve it, so there is no need of long, elaborate speeches for it. The consumption of time in talk should be left to its enemies, and whenever they get out of wind a vote should be pressed for.

The senate should be through with the bill before the dominion parliament, which adjourned to let Sir Wilfrid Laurier go to London, shall have reassembled. Enough time has been given the Canadians who are fighting reciprocity.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS.

The annual meeting of the Illinois Press association began with a vigorous and significant address by the president of that influential organization, Mr. J. M. Sheets, editor of the Oblong Oracle. Mr. Sheets took for his chief topic the "blot of bipartisan political dishonesty which has become nationally notorious," and he demanded a concerted effort to wipe out this disgrace and to wrest the machinery of politics and government from the grip of "big business."

On the attitude of the press throughout the state, declared Editor Sheets, and upon the measure of editorial fearlessness in fighting for principle will depend the success of any attempt to clean up our politics, and he appealed against a narrow and mistaken loyalty to party on behalf of the higher loyalty to the public weal.

Editor Sheets voiced the conscience of the Illinois press in his address. Of that there can be no question. Neither can it be doubted that he is right in saying that the success of any movement for reform depends upon the courage, and breadth, and force of the press. THE TRIBUNE is willing to go still further by asserting that such a movement depends upon the attitude of what may be called the lesser press, but which is, in fact, the greater press—the newspaper of the smaller cities and towns, the so-called country press.

The huge metropolitan newspapers are likewise influential and bear upon their shoulders a tremendous responsibility. But the country press is a greater power and sustains a greater responsibility. It is fortunate for the American people that this mighty force is not unfaithful to this service and that so many of those who control and direct it maintain a high sense of duty, courage, and wakeful patriotism.

In Illinois we are passing through a crucial period in which the powers of misrule are making a desperate stand against exposure and ruin. Whether this fight for honest government shall triumph depends chiefly, THE TRIBUNE believes, upon the courage and conscience, the insight and candor of the so-called country editors whose enlightened civic spirit spoke out in the address of the president of the Illinois Press association.

With this press in the van of the fight the fate of Lorimerism, of predatory bipartisanism, of government by organized wealth is sealed in the state of Illinois.

It is the still small voice of the smaller paper that utters what the still small voice in the conscience of the people speaks. And that voice is a voice of thunder.

THERE WILL BE MORE ENCAMPMENTS.

A few days ago some of the veterans, being in a melancholy mood, were predicting that the annual encampment of the Illinois department of the Grand Army of the Republic which has just been held would be the last. They were false prophets and are glad of it. The day has not yet come when the Grand Army men will vote to give up their annual gathering or the rivalry among Illinois cities as to which is to have the honor of welcoming them shall cease.

And may that day be afar off. For these reunions of the men who served their country in bivouac serves another purpose than that of enabling them to grasp the hands of old comrades and indulge in the luxury of reciprocal reminiscences. These reunions and the spectacle of the aged men who participate in them kindle and keep alive the fires of patriotism. They inspire a noble spirit of emulation, a desire to do something for the country for which these survivors of a long war did so much.

"It is ridiculous to talk of this being the last encampment," said one of the Grand Army men day before yesterday. Not so much ridiculous as painful. There should be no talk of a last encampment as long as any of the veterans are with us.

ED HOWE—BAND EVANGELIST.

We who are familiar with the now successful struggle to Save Ravinia have reason to look forward to years to come when Kansas, Nebraska, and neighboring states will be kept up nights trying to "Save the Old Ed Howe."

The retired editor, proprietor of Potato Hill, and publisher of Smith's Quarterly, Howe's Monthly, etc., announces that he srands upon the threshold of his life's ambition. With a brass band of forty pieces he will tour the small towns of western states, driving Harmony and Culture in a double team along unaccustomed highways.

Out at Ravinia they might say that Culture picks up her flowing skirts and sprints nimbly into the tall grass when she hears a brass band coming, but Ed Howe knows better. Culture and a drum major will walk hand in hand if not scoffed at.

Mr. Howe says he has been trying for years to persuade a rich man to finance the band crusade and carry music to towns which hanker for it but are denied. He failed in persuasion, and will undertake the work himself. The concerts will be free, and the Brass Band Evangelist will drop a few words of good counsel into eats which have been softened by the appeal of music.

Our best wishes to E. H. in his undertaking, but a prophetic caution foresees the beginnings of the "Save the Old Ed Howe" movement.

POLITICAL CHARITY AND A LOST SEAT.

By a recent decision of two English justices Sir Henry Seymour King, who had represented the Central Hull district in parliament for twenty-five years, was unseated. When the general elections were announced last November Sir Henry was celebrating a quarter century of public service by sending coal to needy constituents and boxes of candy to children. It was a philanthropy and a kindness with a political intent, but when he began to make his donations no election was in sight.

His troubles resulted because he did not hold back the candy and the coal after the elections had been announced. It was proved that he had said once that he did not propose to have any more majorities so low as twenty votes if he could help it. The justices found that the "boxes of sweets had a political tinge about them"; that the coal went to families bound to be influenced politically by such charity, and that the general effect on the district was bad.

Sir Henry was unseated, and the decision was accepted generally as the only one which could be given under the English election laws. The only objection was that a different verdict was given in the East Nottingham case. Capt. Morrison, the representative there, maintained a relief bureau, but as soon as the elections were announced he shut down, promising that after the polling he would resume his charitable activity. The one case was as bad as the other in reality, it is protested, but the justices found a difference.

We mention these cases with envy, but with the hope that there is coming a time when the elections of the American people will be protected with a like regard for purity.

PAYING FOR VOTING MACHINES.

The board of election commissioners can award a $1,200,000 contract for voting machines, but how is the successful bidder to get his money? That point, so interesting to him, was discussed in yesterday's TRIBUNE by Oscar E. Hewitt, late deputy commissioner of public works, a man who has intimate knowledge of municipal conditions and the laws bearing on them.

The council has made no appropriation for voting machines, but for some unexplained reason the board of election commissioners is eager to let this big contract at once. At first it thought of taking the ground that it had the right to issue bonds to pay for them. That was too preposterous a position to take, and now the claim is made that the board has the authority to spend all "the money necessary to conduct elections properly" in the city, and that it will be the duty of the city to find the money with which to pay for 1,200 untried voting machines if the board shall order them.

It cannot compel the city to do anything of the kind, and of that the companies which have put in bids for the contract should take notice. Manifestly the board is wild to buy machines—which are not needed for the proper conduct of elections—but it is in the same plight as a man who would like to get a contractor to build a house for him, but who has no money, can borrow none, and cannot force anybody else to foot the bill.

ON all proper occasions Joliet stands ready to show that it has other distinguishing features.

LET it be confessed that a narrow bridge with a tendency to swing whenever a boat comes along is not an adequate approach to a $28,000,000 railway station.

CERTAIN vague allusions in the papers lead to the suspicion that Keokuk is building a dam across the Mississippi which will conserve all the water of that eccentric old stream that is not needed for the maintenance of its catfish. Keokuk hitherto has been called the "gate city." Henceforth it will be known as—but this is merely conjectural.

SLOWLY the people are getting their rights. A Chicago judge holds that a man who takes an umbrella while it is raining and he has none is not guilty of stealing.—Rochester Union and Advertiser.

It is taking the truth a long time to catch up with that one.

YET we have a dim impression that Boston many, many years ago bought a lot of Chicago baseball players and won a championship pennant with them.

AT this junoture the chief exponent of "the absolute life" would seem to be in need of absolution.

THE old mint in New Orleans has been discontinued as a mint and is to be used hereafter as a storage warehouse for Uncle Sam's silver dollars, of which he has at present a bulky surplus, as probably you know, Mr. Bryan.

IT might do no harm, meanwhile, to investigate the charge that some of the policemen are assisting the labor sluggers. It seems to come pretty straight.

THE "third floor" will do some legislating on waterways this time, or the "second floor" will know the reason why.

C. W. T.

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

IT is not qute correct to state that Prof. Edward C. Pickering, director of the Harvard university observatory, who has just received the Prussian Order of Merit, is today the only American knight of that body, and it is equally erroneous to state that the late Profs. Alexander Agassis and Newcomb were the only Americans to have received this distinction in the past.

The painter, John S. Sargent, is one of the living American members of the order, while another member was the historian, Bancroft. The Rt. Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington, also has the Prussian Order of Merit, as well as that of England.

How highly the distinction is prized abroad may be gathered from the fact that although Thomas Carlyle refused the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, and even a peerage, at the hands of Queen Victoria for his services to literature, he readily accepted, with keen appreciation, his election to the Prussian order. "Pour le Mérite," which was founded by that Frederick the Great of whom he remains the most popular biographer.

There had previously been a Prussian military order, styled the Order of Generosity, which came into existence in 1665. Frederick the Great reorganized it in 1740 and rebaptized it in the French language, which he so much affected, as "Pour le Mérite." But he restricted it to military men, thirty in number.

Frederick William IV., acting under the advice of Alexander von Humboldt, added the civil division, the statutes of which differ from those of the military members. For the military order is solely and entirely in the gift of the kings of Prussia, whereas in the case of the civil division the monarch merely ratifies the choice of the chapter, in which his military knights have no voice.

Alexander von Humboldt's idea in suggesting this addition to the order was based largely upon the principles of the Academy of France, the relations of Cardinal Richelieu in connection with the latter's foundation Humboldt was eager to emulate.

His views, however, about the creation of a civil division of the order did not meet with the approval of the famous German poet, Ludwig Uhland, who, taking the ground there should be no question of hierarchy in the world of letters, was the first to decline the order. His example in this respect was followed by several others, the most notable instances being Pasteur and the late Herbert Spencer.

While there are therefore two divisions of this Prussian order, there is but one class. The membership carries with it no title or nobiliary rank. In fact, the majority of the thirty native members of the civil division belong to the bourgeoise. But they constitute the cream of the science, art, and literature of Germany. The foreign knights are restricted to the number of twenty-five, and are elected by the civil German knights.

The insignia consists of an eight pointed blue enamel cross, mounted in gold, between the branches of which there are four Prussian eagle, spreadwise. The cross is surmounted by an "F" and a crown. This is the military insignia.

That of the civil division is slightly different, the cross being environed with a blue enameled, gold bordered band, which has the effect of framing the badge into a sort of medallion. In both instances the insignia is worn suspended from the neck by a ribbon of black moire, with a narrow border of silver.

Sir Francis Bacon's fine statue, by F. W. Pomeroy of the Royal academy, is one of the features of the Royal academy exhibition this year in London. In view of the fact that Sir Francis is the inventor of that method of preserving meat by the frozen process, to which the Argentine Republic owes so much of its prosperity, it seems eminently fitting that the effigy should have found a purchaser in one of the English stockyard barons of Argentine, and that its future home will be in his house, or rather palace, at Buenos Aires.

In this connection it is well to recall that New Zealand already has erected a monument to Sir Francis Bacon, popularly but erroneously known as "the great Lord Bacon," in recognition of his services, not in writing the works of Shakespeare, as some people allege, but for inventing that method of preserving meat by the frozen process to which New Zealand, like Argentina, owes so much of her prosperity.

It seems that Sir Francis was not only the pioneer of the freezing process but actually brought about his death by his enthusiasm in experimenting with the notion. Driving in Highgate one day he left his carriage to collect snow with which to stuff a fowl, by way of noting the effect of cold in the preservation of its flesh. In doing this he brought on an attack of bronchitis, to which he succumbed in a few days.

It has taken nearly three centuries for the idea to work out to the practical benefit of the United States, Argentina, and Australasia. But, late as it is, the leaders of the great frozen meat industry of this country might do worse than follow the example of New Zealand and erect, preferably in Chicago, a statue to the man who, while he may not have written Shakespeare's works, certainly did invent the method of preserving meat by means of cold.

Incidentally it may be stated that it is incorrect to speak of this philosopher, lawyer, statesman, and inventor as "Lord Bacon," many of his English biographers, even, being guilty of this mistake. His correct designation was "Sir Francis Bacon," after which he became Lord Verulam, and he died as Viscount St. Albans. But he never was "Lord Bacon."

How he came to be styled thus was as follows: While still a mere knight he was appointed to the dignity of lord keeper of the great seal, which caused him to be addressed as "My Lord," although not a peer of the realm. In fact, he used to be known in those days as "Lord Keeper Bacon."

At that epoch the offices of the keeper of the great seal and of the lord high chancellor were separate. Twelve months after being appointed lord keeper of the great seal he was elevated to the woolsack as lord high chancellor, and at the same time was created a peer of the realm as Lord Verulam.

Dying without issue, his viscountcy of St. Albans and his barony of Verulam became extinct, although descendants of his elder brother still exist, the present head of the family being Sir Hickman Bacon, the premier baronet of the realm.

The latter, I am sorry to say, claims to trace his descent from the celebrated Friar Bacon, which is a reflection on the ecclesiastical celibacy of that ingenious divine, who is credited with the invention of gunpowder. The present Lord Verulam is a Grimstone, and his relationship with the Bacon family is through the distaff side of his house.

Although one frequently hears of persons sent to jail in the monarchical countries of continental Europe on charges of lese majesty, for insulting living sovereigns, yet it is equally dangerous to refer in a slighting manner to monarchs who are dead and gone. Thus at Vienna a woman has just been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for casting aspersions on Empress Maria Theresa, who was laid to rest four years after the American declaration of independence.

From this it will be seen that historians as well as playwrights and novelists, who introduce historical personages into their works, must be careful to do so only in a laudatory manner. Even in monarchical countries where the lese majesty laws do not prevail the ordinary civil code affords a greater protection to the memory of the dead than exists either in this country or in Great Britain.

"THE FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE."

A MOMENTOUS SUBJECT.

Chicago, June 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would like to know about a bush that is in an alley behind a residence, but was not planted by any one, but merely grew up there. This year when in bloom some one in the neighborhood picked some blossoms, and the people raised an outcry, claiming the tree as theirs. This alley is in the rear of Southport avenue, north of Devon. I would like to know whether this bush may be claimed by the residents, and whether it does not belong to the city. Could it be removed without these people's permission? X.

If the alley is a public one the bush should not be there. Why not leave the blossoms on it and let all enjoy them?

BASEBALL IN WEST PARKS.

Chicago, June 14.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In answer to your communication inclosing letter addressed to "Friend of the People, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE," I beg to say, in refutation of the statement that there are no baseball grounds in the west park system, that there are three baseball diamonds in Humboldt park, which were used during the entire season last year and are now in daily use.

There is no room for a baseball diamond in Garfield park on account of the space occupied by the golf grounds and the large number of tennis courts. The southern portion of Douglas park is now being improved and this will be put in condition so as to be used next year. It is the intention of the commissioners to lay out at least four baseball diamonds in this portion of Douglas park.

The West Chicago park commissioners are doing everything possible to the west park system to find a place for the recreation of the American boy, but it is impossible to use more of the meadow spaces, which are constantly used during the summer for the recreation of the general public.

The West Chicago park commissioners have not the space to lay out the number of diamonds that the South park commissioners have provided, Jackson park alone being twice the size of Garfield park, giving the South park commissioners ample space for diamonds.

The diamonds in Humboldt park are open to all players, and they make their application at the office in Union park and are assigned one of the three diamonds for a certain hour specified in the permit. In the afternoons there are usually two games, from 2 to 4 and 4 to 6 o'clock, thus providing for six baseball games in the same afternoon.

Had we additional space we should be only too glad to use it for this purpose, but with the amount of ground at our disposal this is the best we can do, until the Douglas park improvement is completed.

GEORGE A. MUGLER, Secretary.

THE WATER SITUATION.

Chicago, June 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Under date of May 19 you published my letter on the water situation with Mr. John Ericson's reply. It is something to look forward to that in August next the difficulty of people living on third floors obtaining a proper supply of water will be a thing of the past.

Will you, however, please explain why on such a day as this, with the thermometer in the neighborhood of 100 degrees, we should be without a drop of water, whereas at all other times we have a normal supply? It cannot be on the score of sprinkling, because this is not allowed during the day, and the various plants do not use more water on these hot days.

The whole thing is anything but creditable to a progressive and seemingly sanitary city like Chicago. You can never hope to improve these latter conditions until this city has a supply of water worthy of the place. In this matter it is years behind.

NO NOISE ORDINANCE.

Chicago, June 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Thank you for printing and answering my other questions. I live on a car line, and I would like to know if the wagons driving on the car tracks must make the fiendish noise they often do for blocks. The wheels are not straight in the tracks and squeak and grate horribly. For one in ordinary health it is annoying, and sick and nervous people are driven nearly crazy. The noise of the cars themselves is nothing to it. E. H. D.

If Chicago had a proper noise ordinance and enforced it such nuisances could be stopped. At present all you can do is to stop your ears.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

SUBWAYS OUT FROM THE LOOP.

Chicago, June 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your paper has had accounts of the crowds that cross Madison street bridge to reach the new Chicago and Northwestern railroad depot. You place the number at not less than 60,000 daily, but don't note the 20,000 that cross the Lake and Randolph street bridges to reach the depot through the entrances on Canal street at Washington and Randolph streets; a great accommodation. Also, you fail to note the 10,000 that go to the depot from the manufacturing district between the river and Desplaines street, and who don't cross any bridge—say about 10,000 more, making a total of 100,000 daily.

Now, I venture the statement that at least one half, if not more, of this great number get off the cars at stations in Chicago or nearby suburbs, and the city gets no 55 per cent of the receipts. Why do the people walk many blocks to take these steam cars instead of the surface cars at their door both going and coming? They want to feel themselves going and coming quickly. Yet when you take into consideration the time spent getting to and from the depot they don't gain so much, but they feel they do.

Now, why does not Chicago take advantage of this feeling and instead of wasting time and money in advocating a subway in the loop for elevated and surface cars, leave the elevated roads as they are and build subways at once out from the loop with four tracks, two inside ones express, and it will be a surprise to note how the people will flock to those cars and Chicago will get $3,000,000 a year by way of 55 per cent, instead of the $1,500,000 it now gets.

CRAP SHOOTING IN GRANT PARK.

Chicago, June 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I frequently walk down Michigan avenue between 1 and 2 o'clock and note that for some time past there is a crap game in progress just opposite the public library on the ball grounds.

Yesterday I passed there and saw a special or park policeman grab one fellow and walk him down to Michigan avenue and Madison street and then let him go. If gambling is allowed to proceed in this way there is no wonder that there is so much gambling existing today. B. F. K.

TAFT AND RACE PREJUDICE.

Chicago, June 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Taft's broadmindedness in sitting down hard on race prejudice is the common trait of a wholesome American. Some narrow-minded and un-American people get stuck on nationality and lose sight of honesty and integrity, and the less we have of such the better.

A few days ago I asked a negro servant what per cent of him was white. He denied being part white, and claimed to be a true blue full blooded negro with such wonderful and great delight and pride that I saw the cheapest pride on earth one can have is the pride of nationality. The Indians and Hottentots are equally stuck on their own nationality, like many of our common criminals; such lack the deeper sense and good judgment and sanity to judge men by their integrity, manliness, and conduct [the only measure for any true American], and not by nationality, tribe, or clan.

Our nationality is simply a matter of accident to each of us, because we had no vote or choice as to where we would be born, and, therefore, it is neither a matter of merit or demerit to anyone; but integrity and manliness are matters of choice and development by process of reasoning, and are, therefore, matters of merit to each of us.

Should one object to a Turk because he happened to be born a Turk, or because he happened to be born into the Mohammedan religion, regardless of his will? We can only object to him if he will not exercise his mind and think himself into good conduct and manliness. DELTA DEVO.

GAGE PARK.

BENEFITS OF INDUSTRIAL FREEDOM.

Chicago, June 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The wage worker under industrial freedom can choose without restraint for whom he will work, with whom he may work, conditions of employment, the wages, hours, etc. He does not pay for the privilege of earning an honest living or contribute to the support of an organization that many times does nothing for him but get him in trouble by enforcing idleness, thus making it impossible for him to support those to whom he is under the most sacred obligations—i. e., his wife and little ones.

By joining a labor organization of the Gompers stamp he necessarily limits his earning capacity; for the time he is engaged in striking and the money he pays for dues and assessments, deducted from the wages he receives as a union man, make his average wages 10 per cent less than the independent workman.

He places himself in antagonism to his employer by selling himself to a syndicate, thus losing his individuality and his right to dispose of his own labor. He takes an obligation that is in line with the restrictions above enumerated, and contrary to the teachings and example of our patriotic forefathers.

If he continues in this school of the agitator and revolutionist, graduates, and becomes poisoned with the virus of class and class hatred, he joins the army of socialism, and being taught that the only panacea for all of our industrial ills is the cooperative commonwealth, he undertakes to supplant the republic so gloriously founded by Washington and Jefferson, cemented and perpetuated by Lincoln and Grant, with the impossible utopia of the billious and discontented, advocated by Marx and Berger.

If trade unions are fair and willing to stand or fall on the merits or demerits of their cause why is it they cannot go along peaceably with the other 95 per cent of the workmen of our country, until the greater practicability, justice, and equity of trade unionism would be recognized by all. Then the gun man and slugger, the boycott and bludgeon would not be known as the militant means of establishing trade unionism.

Why should not the closed shop and the open shop get along just as peaceably as the Catholic church and the Protestant church do in this country?

SCORE ONE FOR THE POLICE.

[Chicago Evening Post.]

One of the pleasantest stories printed in a long time about the Chicago police department is that published this morning in THE TRIBUNE concerning the uniform willingness of the department to furnish protection to unescorted women.

It was a sudden test. Ten police stations all in different sections of the city were asked over the telephone if they could provide an officer to meet a lone woman and escort her home. And without exception the answer given by the desk sergeants were prompt, courteous, and obliging—a pretty good showing.

The test has more value, however, than a mere compliment to the good will of the police. It shows every woman that she has the power to summon help and protection whenever it is necessary for her to venture out alone after nightfall. She need have no fear that she is making an unfair request, because the patrolman might just as well be patrolling his beat acting as her escort as patrolling it alone. If there was greater realization of this opportunity there would be fewer distressing affairs like the Lob case.

BY SAM WELLER.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—[Special.]—Ed Walsh and Chief Bender fought it out on the pitching mound today and the Indian won in the tenth inning by a score of 2 to 1. Walsh did the better pitching for nine rounds and except for a break in the defense the White Sox would have beaten the champions in regulation time, 1 to 0. In the tenth inning the world beaters landed on the Chicago twirler and drove home the winning run.

The defeat hurt the Sox. It should have been their game. To make matters worse, the loss shoved them from third to fifth place in the pennant race.

The Athletics gained a run in the first inning because Matty McIntyre dropped a long fly ball close to the right field wall. Eddie Collins was on first at the time and two men were out, so, of course, he was running for home when the ball was hit. The error let him score and let Baker, the batetr, reach third, but Walsh got the next man and stopped further damage.

White Sox Tie Count.

In the second the Sox pushed a run around, tying the count, and it stood that way until the tenth. Never did Big Walsh look better than today for the first nine rounds. He fanned nine of the slugging champions. His spitter was breaking beautifully and he could put it over under any conditions. Chief Bender was going along at almost as good a clip, although he had to depend on his mates more than the big Chicago man.

It was a desperate battle, round after round, with a crowd of eager spectators numbering 8,000 howling at every possible chance to get the needed run. As inning after inning was played it seemed that winning run never could be legitimately earned, and it was a question of which team would break first or which one luck would favor. Finally the last half of the tenth inning began with the weaker hitters of the Athletics coming up, and Jack Barry, who has been an easy victim every time before, caught one squarely on the nose and lined it to left field for a single.

Luck Favors Athletics.

Then the luck broke and favored the Athletics on the next play and gave them the game. Ira Thomas was the hitter, and after one strike and one ball had been called he gave the hit and run signal to Barry. Sullivan had guessed as much and signaled Walsh for a pitch out. He shot the ball more than a foot on the outside of the plate and Thomas threw his bat at it and bounded a nasty single through Mullen at first base. Mullen was coming in on the ball and it took a peculiar bound and got through him, rolling to right field and letting Barry go to third, with Thomas at first and no one out.

The 8,000 fans rose and screamed and made ready to leave the park as soon as the run got home. Bender was the batter and he waved his stick like an Indian club in the face of Walsh. His best was a bounder to Walsh and Barry was run down between third and home. Thomas in the meantime had run around nearly to third, and as Lord tagged Barry while the latter was trying to slide back to third, all he would have had to do was reach in the other direction and tag Thomas too, but in the excitement of getting the first man he did not see Ira until it was too late and then made a diving tag at him, but missed. Bender stopped at first.

Wily Mr. Mack then sent out Topsy Hartsel to run for Thomas, and Walsh, Sullivan, Callahan, and Lord held a moment's consultation as to the best way to dispose of Briscoe Lord, the next hitter. Whatever they decided upon was the wrong thing, for Lord, who had not made a hit all day, lined one to right field that hit the concrete wall on the fly.

Sox Watch Game Sail Away.

The Chicago outfielders were playing in close enough to throw a man out at the plate, should a ball be hit to them, so all they could do was take a glance at the ball as it passed over McIntyre's head, then start running for the carriages. Hartsel trotted home. Chief Bender trotted down and jumped on second base, which was not necessary as there was only one man out, the crowd yelled with delight, and the game was over.

It was a great game for the Athletics to win and a tough one for Chicago to lose. Its the team that wins those close games that's in the fight for the pennant and the White Sox weren't able to land this one today.

They have played daring ball against Boston, New York, and Washington, but today played as if their hearts were in their mouths. It was the splendid pitching of the Indian chief that restrained them. They could not get on the bases often enough, and when they did get on they stuck to the bags, waiting for base hits to drive them around. Not enough base hits were forthcoming.

They did not try to steal bases, neither did they try the hit and run play. Four times base runners were forced at second base, once by a double play, and all this time the score was tied when it would seem daring things were most appropriate.

Tannehill Slow on Bases.

In the ninth inning Lee Tannehill poked a hit to right field, both Collins and Murphy going after it and getting a bit mixed. The ball got away far enough for a fast man to have made second easily. Lee did not even try, making only a bluff to go and Eddie Collins scooped the ball and threw it to the middle bag ten feet wide. After Mullen had flied out Billy Sullivan came up with a line hit to center field that would surely have brought a man home from second, but Tannie was at first and got no farther than second on the hit.

The only bit of daring on the part of the Sox was by young Mullen, who in the seventh with one out popped a high one back of second base that four men tried to catch, but no one could reach. Instead of stopping at first he dug for second and made a double of the hit, but he died there when the next two men went out.

A base on balls to Eddie Collins paved the way for the first inning run for the Athletics. Two were out at the time. Baker then pulled his long fly to right field and McIntyre backed up nearly to the fence, but was set for the catch. The ball landed in his hands and dropped to the ground. Collins got home on the error and Baker to third, but McInnes bounded a feeble one to Walsh and ended the inning.

Sox Go Into Tie.

In the second inning the Sox tied it up, taking advantage of a spell of wildness by Bender. With one out Zeider got a base on balls. He faked a start for second base that caused Eddie Collins to start to cover the bag and at the same time Tannehill tried to poke a hit through that spot, but the agility Mr. Collins stopped, bent back to his left, grabbed the ball and tossed to Barry, forcing Zeider at second base, thereby turning their well planned play upside down. Then Mullen got a base on balls, moving Tannehill to second. Sullivan followed with a clean single to center field that brought Tannehill home. Walsh flied to left field and closed the round, and the score stood a tie until the Athletics got lucky and a batting streak at the same time in the last of the tenth.

JOHNSON RETURNS FROM TRIP.

League Head Insists That No Significance May Be Attached to Long Absence in East.

President Johnson of the American league returned to the city after three weeks' absence in the east on business. This is the first instance Mr. Johnson has been away from his office that length of time on business since the circuit was formed. He declared there was nothing startling in his long absence. Routine matters that could be taken up better personally than by mail occupied his time. Mr. Johnson was busy all day digging into a large quantity of mail which had accumulated while he was away and denied himself to all visitors.

SAM WELLERISMS.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—[Special.]—Jim Scott rejoined the Sox and will pitch against the world beaters tomorrow. Krause is named as the twirler for the Athletics.

Scott reports that Roy Corhan still is feeling badly. He was left in a New York hotel in care of a trained nurse, and it is not known when he will be able to leave.

In the third inning Baker smashed a single to right with one man out and he was caught trying to steal second. McInnes then beat out an infield hit and Murphy popped.

Harry Lord was so determined to sacrifice McIntyre to second base in the eighth when the latter opened with a base on balls that he bunted after two strikes were called and the ball went foul, whereupon he was called out.

Dan Murphy got a single in the seventh inning on a slow bounder between Tannehill and Mullen. Tannehill seemed to expect Mullen to go after the ball, but the youngster ran to the bag instead. It was doubtful if either could have fielded the ball, but what made it look bad was that neither tried.

Walsh pitched himself out of a bad hole in the last of the ninth when Eddie Collins opened that round with a single to right. Baker followed with a sacrifice and McInnes was the next batter. It looked like Walsh pitched nothing but spitters to McInnes, finally making him bound one that Walsh grabbed, and after driving Collins back to second tossed the batter out at first. Then Murphy lifted an easy fly to Bodie.

The Athletics look 50 per cent stronger than when they played in Chicago last month. Bender, Coombs, Plank, and Krause are working in fine form, and the team is hitting as hard as ever, while Collins and Barry are both back in the game. These two, with Baker and McInnes, make an infield that is airtight, and every one is a hitter. It looks now like it'll be another great year for Connie Mack.

BY HANDY ANDY.

Dooin's Daisies, nineteen strong, arrived in the city yesterday at 7 bells in the a. m. and are quartered at the Brevoort hotel for four days, during which time they will gambol or gamble with the Cubs at the west side arena. Much depends on the standing of the two clubs in the league race as a result of this series and the visitors are anxious to reverse the four straight defeats handed them on their home lot by the champions.

The advance sale of seats, while not up to that of the Giant series, comes so close that the difference in money would not pay for the new sign board being erected at the Wood street end of the yard. This sign when completed will be covered by an enormous TRIBUNE ad, probably the largest of its kind in existence.

President Fogel accompanied his charges on the trip and will be an interested spectator during the next four days. The former scribe is open for a trade to bolster up a weak spot in his outfield caused by the absence of Veteran John Titus, who recently broke an ankle. If he gets the ear of President Murphy and receives the same treatment as President Russell of Boston he probably will be no more welcome in Philadelphia than will Mr. Russell in Boston.

Two Klings in Trade.

Reverting for a moment to the four cornered deal with the Rustlers, President Murphy yesterday took occasion to explain an angle yet unheralded. There were really two Klings in the deal. Boston was after and got what it thought was the Kling who had been acclaimed from coast to coast as the greatest catcher in the business. The Cubs disposed of the Kling who has gone back and who had outlived his usefulness as a member of a championship team. President Murphy would not say that Prexy Russell was told he was not getting the Kling he sought.

President Murphy believes he still owes Boston something. With this in mind he will try and convince President Fogel of the Philadelphia team, who had been promised flag raising day on the west side lot, that Boston should be allowed the honor and the money accruing from such a momentous event. Whether Mr. Fogel will see the proposition in this light remains to be seen, but, all things considered, it looks as if Boston would be given the date on the team's next trip west.

Puts Cubs Through Practice.

Manager Chance had his cripples out for morning practice and put them through the regular stunts just as if they needed the work. The P. L. expressed the opinion that he would work the veteran pitchers against his rivals from Quakertown, Brown doing the slab work today, with Cole, Reulbach, and McIntire as other choices for the series. Manager Dooin was not sure who would do the twirling for his aggregation in the opener, although Bill Burns is picked. The Texas farmer's name did not appear on the hotel register as being a member of the party, but Bill is one of those funny fellers and may be stopping at the Union station.

Chance probably will not be in the game again for some time, according to his belief yesterday. His head still hurts and he is troubled more or less with pains in his feet. The nervous strain under which the P. L. has been working almost put him out of business, and it will take some time to get him back into his regular stride. He is anxious to get back into the game, but will not attempt it as long as he has fortified his garrison through the shanghaiing of a GOOD fielder to take Hofman's place, so the latter can hold down the initial sack.

Pirates' Appeal Causes No Worry.

The report the Pittsburg club had appealed to the board of directors of the National league from the decision of President Lynch ordering the Memorial day morning game between the Cubs and the Pirates played over did not appear to worry President Murphy. According to the west side magnate, the Merkle technicality is entirely foreign to this case. Archer did not use Merkle gray matter when he left first base but was ordered to the bench by the umpires, and when the decision was reversed the catcher was instructed to return to the sack. Archer called attention to the fact that he was not out and stuck to the sack until ordered to vamoose. Chicago, of course, will present its side of the case at the proper time and will ask that President Lynch's finding be upheld.

President Murphy unearthed a phenom southpaw twirler yesterday. Frank Bovardis, chief driver in charge of Mr. Murphy's stable of automobiles, after watching McTigue, the Boston side wheeler, shoot the ball most anywhere but over the pan, declared he could do better than that himself, and he immediately caused the Cub boss to sit up and take notice. Frank already has his suit. All he needs is shoes, stockings, belt, cap, a red undershirt, and a little more nerve and he'll make good. Frank is so left handed that he drove around the ball park three times yesterday before he found out how to turn to the right.

Charlie Williams and his ticket takers pastimed many hours in the afternoon in an effort to beat the Cub park peanut venders. When darkness fell everybody rushed across the street, the scorekeeper was taken home in an ambulance, and the result of the melee was lost during the confusion attending the exodus of the pencil pusher. The score looked something like this:

Ushers ....5 0 4 0 3 0 0 0 0—12 8 6

Verily nothing.

This is to inform you that the mind bet I had with you at your favorite price, 8 to 5, is now due and payable. If you got me on your mindless wire it was to the effect that Johnny Kling would run true to form and join the Doves, à la Damon—or was it Pythias? E. R.K.

This one from an Aurora disconsolate is real sentimental like. There is a sob in every line:

For many years he was the peer of all,
A true and noble exponent of baseball.
His play was clean, without a flourish,
A trait which one and all did cherish.
Alas! one cannot always stand the grind,
But eventually must fall away behind.
So whether the future's business or leisure,
We will recall his deeds with greatest pleasure,
And wish him the best of success in everything,
For we will miss him, good old Johnny Kling.

HINSDALE HARRY.

The international polo match, America vs. England, was associated with considerable misadventure, as it were. In the first instance, the English ponies were woefully deficient, so to speak. The American players were prodigiously favored in the important element of mounts. The English players may have been (and doubtless were) vawstly superior in their knowledge of the game, but what chawnce did they have under the handicap of unspeakable cattle? Absobloodyiutely none. Quite so. Then on top of this came the beastly weather, which in great measure was responsible for the utter collapse of the match. There is no word for it, really. However, much good fellowship was engendered and the visitors, despite the annoyances, have been gracious enough to vote their visit quite a lark and their hosts, for a considerable part at least, downright ripping good fellows, and all that.

Yes, Jeems, we abundantly recognise "the quality of sport" in a "reliability run" and "the purity of its motive" and the value of its results. Such runs do not pander to the morbid nor depend upon gate receipts. They are all right, absolutely. Grasp that firmly.

Nothing doing in the White Sox-Red Sox "deal." John I. Taylor's mood must be experiencing one of its normal spells.

The old country has sent us over a real fighter in this Matt Wells. The better they are the more welcome they are and the more of us they lick the better we like them. That's the difference—or one of them.

KLING TO MANAGE BOSTON, SAYS PRESIDENT RUSSELL.

Catcher and Head of Club Both Satisfied with Terms of Agreement—John Explains His Stand.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 14.—[Special.]—John Kling, who now is a member of the fag ending Boston Nationals, and President Russell of the club were interviewed today regarding the deal. Russell, who says that Kling is of the type of heady player that makes the national pastime what it is, will be appointed manager, and Kling remarks that he is fully satisfied. Kling insists his chariness in joining the Nationals was due to the fact that he did not want the Chicago team "putting one over on him."

President Russell said: "The minority stockholders who complain know nothing about the inside workings of baseball or anything about the merits and condition of the players Chicago got from Boston. I think I know all about the players we secured in the deal, and both Manager Tenney and I are satisfied with the trade we made. In Kling we secured a good catcher and one of the best ball heads in the business."

"Will Kling get his share of the world's series games, provided Chicago wins the National league pennant?" President Russell was asked. "Now, that is another question. I am not going to give out any information. Kling is satisfied in every particular."

Kling expressed himself as follows: "I am satisfied with the deal. At first it was a great surprise to me. I was in a Chicago uniform in the dressing room when informed by President Russell. At first I refused to go along. Tenney is a good friend of mine, and I did not want the Chicago club to put anything over on me. I was not signed up for two years with the Chicago club, and I wanted Tenney to know the true arrangements I had with Chance. My two years' arrangement with the Chicago club was only verbal.

"As a matter of fact, I had already told the Chicago management I was not going to play ball next season and I wanted President Russell and Manager Tenney to know that."

TIGERS TRIUMPH OVER YALE, 1 TO 0

Two Errors Result in Lone Run, Giving Victors the "Rubber" Game.

WHITE PUZZLE ON SLAB.

Princeton Hurler Holds Elis to Three Hits, Only One Being of Clean Variety.

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—Yale and Princeton played the deciding game of their 1911 series at Washington park this afternoon, the Jersey Tigers, often preëminent on the diamond and never mediocre, winning by a score of 1 to 0. The score is an appropriate index to the game as it was played. The pitching was capital on both sides and the hitting proportionately weak.

Princeton made four hits, while the Elis sprinkled their batting endeavors with a scant three. With the hitting so weak and scattered, the support was bound to be a big factor, and a big factor it was. Two Yale errors resulted in Princeton's run, whereas Princeton committed only one misplay.

White came near pitching a no hit game. One Yale hit was an infield scratch, another was nearly caught by the short boy who adorned right field for Princeton, and who made a gallant try for it, but the third was a clean, short poke over second base by Badger. Score:

RELIABILITY RUN RECORDS BROKEN

Forty-one Cars in C. A. A.-C. A. C. Two Day Event Smash Mark for Affair.

CHERRY CIRCLE IN LEAD.

Start Will Be Made This Morning, with Janesville as the Objective Point.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

With a record breaking entry list of forty-one cars, the fourth annual interclub reliability run between motorists of the Chicago Athletic association and the Chicago Automobile club will start this morning, with Janesville, Wis., as the objective point. The run, which is to be a two days' affair, is to terminate when the motorcade returns to Chicago tomorrow afternoon after covering a route that totals 240.1 miles.

Never before in the history of the annual interclub matches has such an interest been taken in the event. As to the number of nominations, each club has exceeded any previous efforts. A meeting of the entrants, officials, and observers was held at the C. A. A. last night, at which time Capt. Charles T. Knisely of the Cherry Circle and Capt. Allen S. Ray of the C. A. C. announced their complete entry lists.

C. A. A. Cars in Lead.

When the figures were checked up it was found that the C. A. A. was far in the lead with twenty-six drivers on its team. The C. A. C. team numbers fifteen, which gives a total of forty-one for the run. The largest number that started in any previous run was twenty-five. Added to the number of contesting cars will be four or five official machines, and as each car is expected to average four passengers, it is figured a crowd of about 180 motorists will make the trip.

While the C. A. A. team far outnumbers that of the C. A. C., the first named will have no particular advantage owing to the scheme of making fractional penalizations where one team is larger than the other. In the three contests already run or the interclub shield the C. A. A. has been successful twice, while the C. A. C. has taken the trophy the odd time. With a number of veterans on its team and all driving high class cars, members of the Automobile club are determined to even up matters this time and assure a "rubber" match for 1912.

Start from Grant Park.

The original intention was to start today's match from the C. A. A., but owing to the torn up condition of Michigan avenue the contestants will be sent away from Grant park at a point near Van Buren street, the first car, driven by Capt. Knisely of the C. A. A., getting the word at 9 o'clock. Capt. Ray of the C. A. C. team will follow next and the others will leave at one minute intervals until all are under way.

On the outgoing route the motorists will cover 128 miles, going through Maywood, Lombard, Geneva, and St. Charles to Marengo, where a stop will be made for luncheon, which is to be taken out on a Mais truck and dispensed at the roadside.

After a forty-five minute stop the route will be again taken up, passing through Belvidere, Rockford, Roscoe, and Beloit into Janesville, which the first car will reach at 4:25 this afternoon.

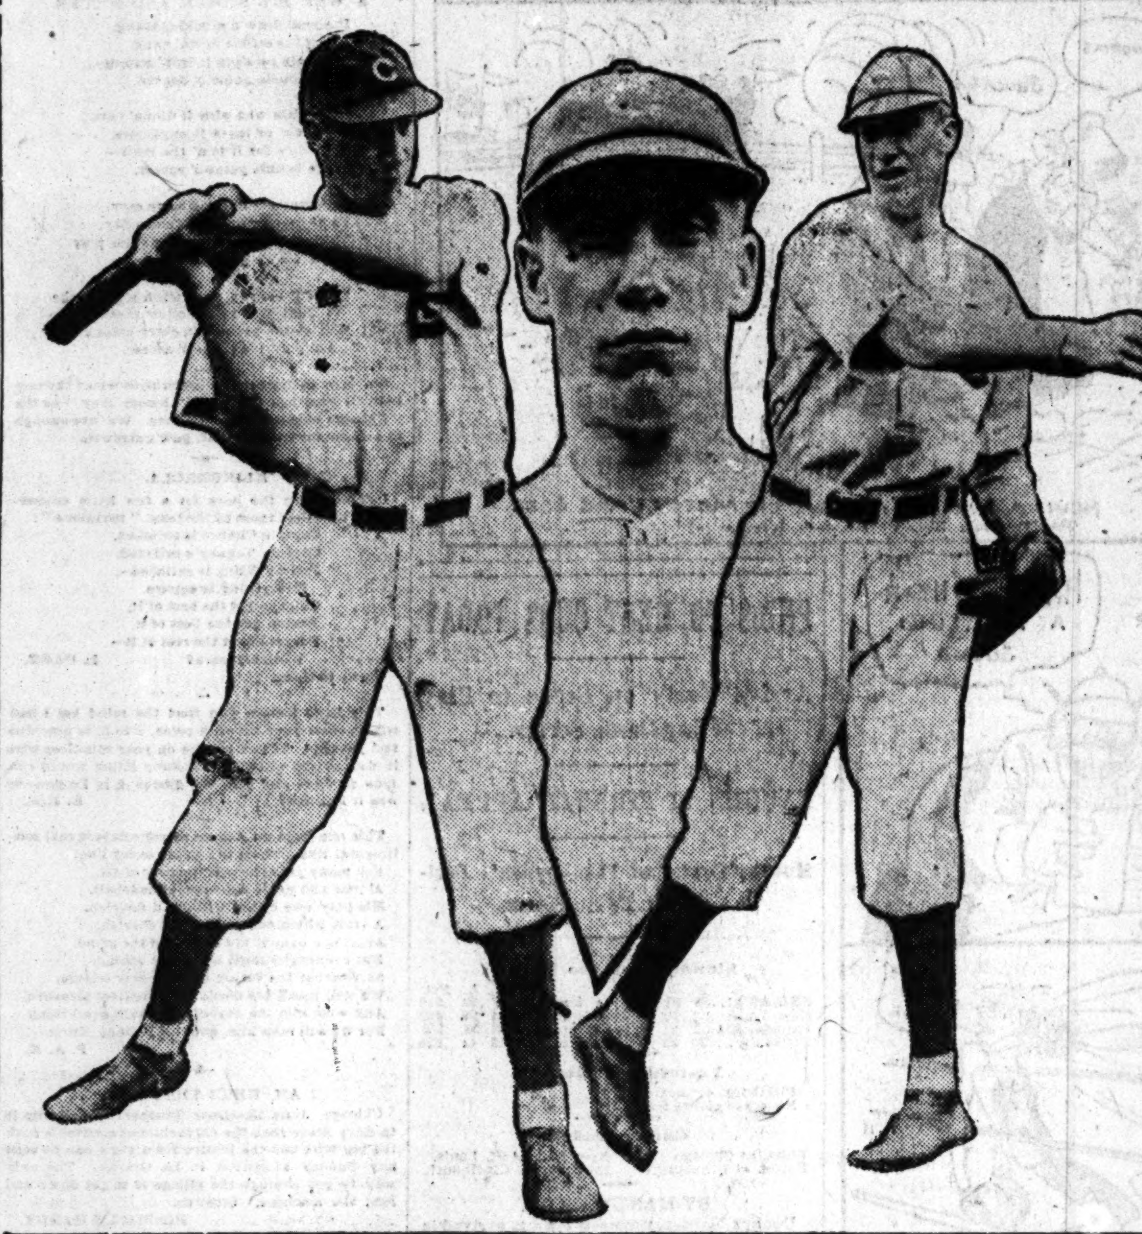

N. H. Van Sicklen will referee the run and his car will be Jack Banta's Locomobile, which also will act as pacemaker. The pilot will be A. M. Robbins, who will scatter the confetti from an Abbott-Detroit. Chief Checker H. P. Branstetter will drive a Kisselkar, while the judges will be taken over the route in Gaylord Warner's Thomas Six. The press car will be a Cole, driven by Harry Knight, for whom application has been made for a Carnegie medal for his feat in wrecking his car to avoid a fallen fellow driver at the 500 mile race in Indianapolis.

New Car Is Stolen.

During last night's meeting of the contestants, a Garford car, 1911 model, owned by J. P. Morrison, was stolen. The car was left standing near the Madison street entrance to the C. A. A. and disappeared about 10 o'clock. It was a seven passenger, green machine, and its number was 11,614. An identifying mark was a scroll "Garford," on the radiator.

AVIATORS FLY AT GALESBURG; ONE GOES SKYWARD 6,000 FT.

Meeting Featured by Three Successful Flights—Mathews of Chicago Takes Two Cycle Races.

Galesburg, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—The aviation meet today was featured by three successful flights. Rene Simon made two trips, covering forty miles. On his second trip he rose to a height of 4,500 feet and then, descending, circled over the south end of the city, from where he went to Knoxville, returning to the starting place.

Rene Barrier took his monoplane to a height of 6,000 feet and sailed over the north part of the city, making a safe return after being in the air twenty minutes. Capt. John J. Frisbe made an ascent in his biplane and circled about a few moments at an altitude of 1,000 feet. The weather was perfect and not a hitch marred the performance.

The motorcycle races for ten and twenty-five miles were won by John Mathews of Chicago in 11:06 2-5 and 28:46 respectively. The five mile race was won by Ardo Lelander of Galesburg in 6:47.

FREY DELIRIOUS IN HOSPITAL.

German Aviator, Injured on Last Leg of Paris-Rome-Turin Aero Race, Will Recover, Doctors Say.

RONCIGLIONE, Italy, June 14.—Herr Frey, the only competitor in the Paris-Rome-Turin aviation race to attempt the final leg of the course, lies in the hospital here with his right arm and left leg broken and his lower jaw fractured. In periods of delirium he fights again the battle with the fog that was his undoing yesterday. Frey does not appear to have been injured internally, and the physicians believe that he will recover. The airman's wife came from Florence during the night and is with him today.

New Britain, Conn., June 14.—Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, has just completed a novel stunt. He towed an aeroplane behind his automobile from Squantum, Mass., a distance of 148 miles, and made the trip in six hours.

Hamilton was in a hurry to get here to be made an Elk and could not spare the time to take the aeroplane to pieces for transportation by freight.

TENNEY TO HAVE STRONG NINE.

Captain of Advertising Team Predicts Hot Game with Agency Men at Sox Park on Saturday.

Capt. J. A. Tenney of the Chicago Advertising association squad announced last night he would use the same lineup in the game with the Agency Men and Publishers' Representatives' squad Saturday as is playing in the "Ad league." He predicts a hot battle at Comiskey park when the rivals meet for the benefit of the Off the Street club.

Prominent among the players for the club will be Malcolm Stearns at first base, a position he played at Dartmouth. A. A. King has been secured to pitch. He is connected with Outing Magazine.

The C. A. A. men lead the "Ad league" at present with three won and none lost. E. C. Patterson, one of the organizers of the Suburban league, will play an infield position for the agency men.

Dahlen Suspended and Fined.

New York, June 14.—Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn club today was suspended for three days and fined $25 by President Lynch of the National league for his trouble with Umpire Eason in the game at Pittsburg yesterday.

GRADUATION FOR ILLINI STARS.

Butzer, "Heavy" Twist, Bernstein, Lyons, Roper Herrick, Drakes, Graham, and Burns Get Degrees.

Champaign, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—Many University of Illinois athletic stars ended their careers today at the annual commencement exercises. The football men, Butzer and "Heavy" Twist, Louie Bernstein, the nervy little pony back, and Ed Lyons, the whirlwind end, have gone. Lyons had another year to play, but received his bachelor's degree. The track team lost Capt. Roper and Herrick, middle distance runners; the Drake twins, hurdlers; Graham, the pole vaulter and broad jumper; and Burns, in the weights. The baseball varsity fared the best, losing only Butzer.

FORBES TO FIGHT TONIGHT

Ex-Bantam Champion Will Meet Homeland at Janesville.

BOUT EIGHT ROUND AFFAIR.

Entrants in Interclub Reliability Auto Run Will Be at Ringside.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Harry Forbes, the "come back champion," and Joe Homeland, one of the cleverest of the local crop of bantams, will mix matters at Janesville, Wis., in an eight round bout tonight. Homeland is a rugged fighter who can stand a lot of punishment. Homeland realizes he has a chance with the former king of the bantams, and yesterday said he would give Forbes one of the hardest fights he has had since returning to the ring. Forbes is in good condition for the bout.

The reliability run between the Chicago Athletic association and the Chicago Motor club will have its terminal point on the first day at Janesville. Many of the persons who will make this trip have seen Harry in action when he was in his prime, and they are anxious to see him again.

In the semi-windup, Tony Conci of Gary, Ind., will meet "Kid" De Mun of Janesville in an eight round go and Jimmy Travers, a local featherweight, will meet "Kid" Cox of Janesville in the preliminary.

Negotiations are pending for a match between George ("Knockout") Brown, the local Greek welterweight, and "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson to take place before the National A. C. of Gary, Ind., on July 4. The promoters of the Hoosier club tried to get Billy Papke to meet Thompson, but Papke declined the match. Brown and Thompson should put up a good go and it will be sort of an elimination bout to pick the man who will meet Papke for the middleweight title. Brown already has agreed to the club's terms and the promoters believe Thompson will sign the articles within the next few days.

Emil Thiry, manager of Packey McFarland, yesterday received word from New York that "Knockout" Brown will not meet McFarland under any conditions. McFarland agreed to meet Brown over any distance and the south side battler offered to make 133 pounds at 3 o'clock for the easterner, something he has not agreed to do in many moons. Brown said he will allow Ad Wolgast only to dictate to him. And that under no conditions would he meet McFarland until the latter gets a reputation. McFarland's manager took offense at Brown's statement, and if the two boys ever meet the bout is certain to result in plenty of bloodshed. According to Thiry, McFarland is considered more of championship timber in New York than Brown, and the local fighter's manager cannot figure how Brown has a chance to tell McFarland what to do in regard to the weight question. Thiry said he has nothing definite "on" in the way of matches for McFarland.

Danny Goodman, the Ghetto battler, and Freddie Daniels have been matched to box fifteen rounds at St. Joe, Mo., on July 2. Walter Little, who is acting as his own manager, will meet Jake Barada over the fifteen round route in the semi-windup. Goodman is working every day at O'Connell's.

Cleve Hawkins, the local colored fighter, finally has secured a match with an unknown at Duluth, Minn., on June 23. Cleve has secured a guarantee and telegraphed his acceptance. Hawkins is in good shape and it will take a mighty good man to beat him over the fifteen round route.

Ernie Zanders, who is under the management of Darby Kelly, has been matched to meet Tommy Sheehan of Hammond, Ind., in one of the preliminaries at Gary on July 4. Zanders was matched to meet Sheehan in the semi-windup to the Clabby-Brown fight a short time ago, but owing to a breakdown on the railway, Zanders did not arrive in time for the bout.

"Kid" Broad of Philadelphia is working every day at O'Connell's and he is seeking a match with Ray Bronson of Indianapolis or Brown of Chicago. Broad boxed four rounds with "Young" Ketchel yesterday and the Quaker City boy looks good. Broad is recovering from a siege of sickness.

"Mickey" Sheridan and Chuck Larson, the local lightweights, have been matched to box fifteen rounds at Gary some time in July.

Message and Krone have been appointed matchmakers for the National A. C. of East Chicago, Ind., and they are making plans to match Phil Schlossberg, the navy champion, with either Hugo Kelly or Eddie McGoorty on June 28. Herman Fleaher is president of the club.

JEFF WILL DODGE CORONATION.

Former Champion Gives Big Crowds as Reason and Not Because of Johnson Being on Hand.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, June 14.—James J. Jeffries, former champion heavyweight, arrived in Paris this afternoon, the picture of health. When asked if he was having good time, Jeffries said he never really enjoyed himself away from Los Angeles. He is not going to the coronation, he said, because he hates crowds and not because of the fact that Jack Johnson, who defeated him at Reno, is in London.

JACK WHITE LANDS HAYMAKER ON JAW OF TOMMY BRESNAHAN.

Chicago Boy Knocks Out Omaha Opponent in Tenth Round of Fifteen Session Bout at Akron, O.

Akron, O., June 14.—[Special.]—Jack White of Chicago put the cleaner on Tommy Bresnahan of Omaha in the tenth round of their scheduled fifteen round battle here tonight. White sent Bresnahan down for the count at the beginning of the round. After the Omaha boy got to his feet White delivered a telling left swing on the jaw which sent him to the floor for the count.

From the start of the fight it was clearly seen that White was the better man. He hit Tommy at will and each blow was a telling one. In the fourth round White landed on Tommy's jaw with a vicious left swing and almost had him out, but he recovered.

Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg and Clyde Lemaster of Akron fought a game fifteen round battle previous to the main go. The honors, however, were in favor of Brannigan. The preliminary between Johnny Griffiths of Akron and Cal Dehaney of Cleveland was all Griffiths for the six rounds.

'BIG GUNS' READY FOR MEET

EYES TESTED IN PRACTICE.

Grand Chicago Handicap Event Attracts the Strongest Field.

Trap shooters from all parts of the country are in the city to take part in the grand Chicago handicap tournament, which begins today at the Chicago Gun club, One Hundred and Twenty-third street and Michigan avenue, and continues through Saturday.

Twenty-five competitors took advantage of the fair weather yesterday to sharpen their eyes and get acquainted with the traps. No scores were recorded, but the accuracy with which the clay pigeons were broken to bits shows good counts will be made if the weather conditions remain the same.

Shooting will begin this morning at 9:30 o'clock and the morning program will consist of ten events, fifteen birds to each contest, from the sixteen yard mark. In the afternoon there will be two twenty bird contests and one at thirty birds, both from sixteen yards. Tomorrow's program will be the same.

Feature Event on Saturday.

On Saturday morning there will be five events, consisting of twenty targets each from sixteen yards. Promptly at noon the Grand Chicago handicap will begin. One hundred targets will be shot at from distances ranging from sixteen to twenty-three yards.

The contests have attracted some of the best shooters in the country and the same entry list which has been nominated for the Grand American handicap in former years has been entered for Chicago's highest trap shooting honors. The Graham brothers from Long Lake, Ill., recognized to be two of the best trap shooters in the country, will be among the contestants. Among some of the local cracks who will compete are Joe Barto, Jesse Young, George Roll, Fred Bills, W. D. Stannard, E. E. Shaw, W. L. Brown, R. A. Winters, W. S. Cutler, H. O. Burnham, and R. W. Clancy.

Some of the out of town experts who will take part are Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia.; C. A. Young, Columbus, O.; H. W. Cadwallader, Decatur; John W. Garrett, Denver, Colo.; W. J. Roup, Janesville, Wis.; R. W. Maxwell, the one arm shot from Hastings, Neb.; Lon Fisher, Columbus, O.; William Wettleaf, Des Moines, Ia., and Hugh Clark of Denver, Colo.

Many "Dark Horses" Entered.

Although the honors in trap shooting seldom go to the acknowledged "cracks," this year's event has more nominations considered in the class of "dark horses" than any contest promoted by the Kensington club. Among trap shooters the Grand Chicago handicap is considered of equal importance with the Grand American handicap at Columbus, O., this year.

Hogan Secures Entries at Latonia and Louisville for Meet to Be Given by Letter Carriers.

John Hogan, the representative of the letter carriers, who will conduct a two day race meeting at Hawthorne race track July 3 and 4, following their field day on Sunday, July 2, is in Louisville after a short stay at Latonia, where he secured seventy-five horses for the Hawthorne meeting. He expects to get together a hundred or more thoroughbreds to ship to Chicago and train here for the meet. The special will leave Louisville on Saturday night.

Among the horses that will come from Latonia will be the stable of Thomas W. Flynn, the Chicago Heights horseman, who had Starry Night entered in the Derby. In addition Flynn will bring on eleven other good ones. Al Coney and Henry McDaniels will ship the sensational 2 year old Amon and the clever plater Setback.

Secretary M. J. Wynne of the athletic committee is being flooded with entries for the athletic meet on Sunday and declares that the program will be a corker. The North Shore Motorcycle club will have charge of the motorcycle races.

"PREP" NET STARS DOWN TO FINALS

Deciding Matches for Cook County Titles at Kenwood Courts Today.

EARLY ROUNDS ARE TAME

Spencer and Voigt of Oak Park Outgeneral Peterson and Wilson of Lane.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

High school tennis players cleared the semi-finals at the Kenwood courts yesterday afternoon, Oak Park, Hyde Park, and La Grange weathering the elimination series in the doubles, and Wendell Phillips, Oak Park, and Englewood qualifying for the finals in the singles. The finals will be played this afternoon at Kenwood, the matches starting at 2 o'clock.

Tolman and Collier, of Hyde Park, Lindauer and Thayer, of Englewood, Spencer and Voigt, of Oak Park, were the victors in doubles and will represent those schools in the final matches this afternoon. Lindauer of Englewood, Spencer of Oak Park, and Wild of Wendell Phillips will contest for premier honors in singles, Wild playing the victor of a match between Lindauer and Spencer. Tolman and Collier will engage the winner of a match between the Oak Park team and the Englewood representatives in doubles. The Hyde Park aggregation is the favorite, while Wild is picked to take the singles. A banner will be given the winning school in the singles and a medal is the prize offered for the single champion.

Contests Are Tame.

Yesterday's matches were rather tame, the brushes between Hyde Park and Englewood and Oak Park and Lane being the sharpest scraps of the afternoon. In the doubles, while Camby of Englewood gave Lindauer a hot fight in the singles, losing two straight games, 6—3 and 7—5. Tolman and Collier were given a tight pinch to win from Lindauer and Thayer of Englewood. Tolman's terrific drives following lobs finally breaking down the Englewood pair's defense. Tolman displayed excellent form at the net while his teammate Collier rescued some back court lobs and cross fire drives in splendid style. Hyde Park won the match, 6—2, 3—6, 6—3.

Peterson and Wilson of Lane, two midget players, gave Spencer and Voigt of Oak Park a stiff argument, playing a careful game and placing their shots well. Peterson's tendency to play too closely to his partner cost the pair the match, Spencer taking advantage of their weakness by shooting half arm cross fires to the alleys. The Lane pair lost, 4—6, 6—0, and 7—5.

Wild Star in Singles.

Wild was the star in the singles, defeating Buhai of McKinley in straight sets, 6—1 and 6—0. Wild bewildered his opponent with his dashing form at the net, volleying like lightning and displaying a slashing service. Buhai didn't have a chance after the first game. Summaries:

SINGLES.

Lindauer, Englewood, defeated Camby, University High, 6—3, 7—5.
Wild, Wendell Phillips, defeated Buhai, McKinley, 6—1, 6—0.
Spencer, Oak Park, defeated Fish, La Grange, 6—4, 6—3.

DOUBLES.

Lindauer and Thayer, Englewood, defeated Weigley and Vance, Waller, 6—2, 6—2.
Spencer and Voigt, Oak Park, defeated Peterson and Wilson, Lane, 4—6, 6—0, 7—5.
Miller and Fish, La Grange, defeated Drifess and Jacobsen, Crane, 6—1, 1—6, 6—3.
Tolman and Collier, Hyde Park, defeated Lindauer and Thayer, Englewood, 6—2, 3—6, 6—3.

DOWNFALL OF "CHICK" EVANS DESCRIBED BY LONDON PAPER.

Writer Says American Deserves Credit for Game Fight—Hooking of Tee Shots Costly to Chicago Boy.

The downfall of Charles Evans Jr. of the Edgewater Golf club in the recent British amateur golf championship at Prestwick, Scotland, is related in the Sportsman of London as follows:

In the afternoon Mr. Evans met his Waterloo, his defeat coming unexpectedly from Mr. Bruce Pearce, the sturdy left handed member of the Tasmanian brotherhood. Nothing looked less likely than the latter's victory from the way in which they started, for Mr. Evans began in nearly perfect style, and had an average of three under fours for seven holes. He would have been on the cardinal green in two clock shots but for his ball, when close home, striking a spectator, but as it was he won the hole in four.

Mr. Pearce, too, played well, but he was two down at the turn and three holes to the bad at the thirteenth. From that point he tackled his opponent courageously. The turning point of the match probably was reached at the fourteenth, where Mr. Evans missed a short putt for a half. Still, he was two up, with three to go, but at the sixteenth he made a bad second shot, sending his ball nearly into the cardinal bunker and losing the hole.

The seventeenth witnessed some extraordinary golf. Mr. Pearce got in a beautiful drive, and was nicely on the green in two, but Mr. Evans pulled his tee shot into the rough. He was bunkered short of the green from his second, and took two to get out. The hole looked a certainty for Mr. Pearce, but probably feeling the nervous strain he took three on the green, whereas Mr. Evans got down in one putt, and so the American was still dormy going to the home holes. Here Mr. eParce got in a good drive, but Mr. Evans was bunkered, and the Tasmanian squared the match by winning the hole in three.

Both sent away fine tee shots to the nineteenth, but whereas Mr. Evans overran the green, and found a bad lie below a sort of sandy step from his approach, Mr. Pearce made a perfect mashie shot to within ten feet of the pin. Mr. Evans obviously realized the serious state of affairs, for he took off his jacket before attempting to extricate himself from his difficult fix. His first shot only sent the ball a few feet towards the green, and his second took him a little way inside Mr. Pearce's position. Then the Australian putted absolutely dead in three, and Mr. Evans, without more ado, held out his hand and acknowledged defeat in the cheeriest and most sportsmanlike manner imaginable.

It was a fine finish to a fine match, in which the Tasmanian's dogged fighting spirit and faculty of recovery after his opponent's brilliant opening stamped Mr. Pearce as one of the best left handed players in the world. Mr. Evans, too, deserved every credit, and had he not developed the fault of hooking his tee shots when the game grew tight he might have emerged successful.

BADGER CREW NEEDS DOCTOR

Samp's Right Hand Badly Infected; Will Row, However.

PENN AND CORNELL ARRIVE.

Varsity Eights Given Spins Over the Poughkeepsie Course.

BY W. D. RICHARDSON.
[Wisconsin Coxswain 1909-'10.]

Highland, N. Y., June 14.—[Special.]—Foresight in bringing a member of the university medical staff east with the Badger crew was shown today when Dr. Van Valzah was called upon to operate on Samp, No. 5, whose right hand has been troubling him for several days. The hand was infected badly, but after the operation the physician said Samp would be able to resume his place in the varsity shell Thursday. His place in the afternoon and morning rows was taken by Denny Crile of Chicago.

Coach Vail is discouraged over the numerous setbacks his varsity has received during the season, Samp being the fifth man out of the shell with the same trouble. The freshmen are in fine condition, with the exception of Tasker, the Chicago lad, who is stroking them. He resumed his seat in the shell today.

Sends Varsity Over Course.

The varsity was sent over the full course. After rowing up to a mile above the start they swung around and after a brief rest Coach Vail started them off. Hare struck a twenty-eight gait and held to the two mile point. The freshmen, who had been sent on ahead, got their orders mixed and got away six lengths behind. Hare hit the stroke up to thirty over the last half and the last quarter mile was rowed at thirty-four.

Except for the rushing of the slides the men displayed good form, applying their power better than formerly. The crews covered sixteen miles in all. The rowing representatives of four of the five colleges in the intercollegiate regatta were on the Poughkeepsie course at practice.

Penn Crew in Workouts.

The Pennsylvania oarsmen arrived this afternoon and soon were on the water. They brought a smaller number of men than any previous Quaker party, having only one varsity substitute and two freshmen substitutes. Reath, the varsity stroke, came with the crews, but will not be able to enter the races, owing to the injury to his right side received in the Annapolis race. Hoagland, formerly at 2, is stroking the eight.

The Cornell crews rowed in the same order in which they have been boated at Ithaca recently. The three freshmen who were reported dropped for breaking training regulations by eating ice cream were in their usual places. Coach Courtney said he had no intention of disciplining the freshmen beyond reprimanding them severely. With the arrival of Syracuse tomorrow all the crews will be here.

PROFFERED STEEL TRUST

...to Suggest Witnesses Investigating Committee to Examine.

[R]AY RATE TAKEN UP

Vice President of Corporation Tells of Outting Prices in 1897.

[Washing]ton, D. C., June 14.—The United [States Stee]l corporation intends to suggest [to the] trust investigating committee the [names of] witnesses whom the committee [should s]ee and who may throw light upon [the] question in the inquiry, and also that questions be asked of certain [witnesses] if the committee fails to bring out [what is de]sired by such witnesses. [Mr. L]indabury, counsel for the Steel corporation, declared this to be his intention to-[day at the] close of the examination of James [Gayley, fo]rmer vice president of the Steel [corporatio]n.

"[Of cou]rse I assume," Mr. Lindabury said, "[the] committee would not refuse to [hear w]itnesses we suggest."

"[That] will be determined when the suggestions are made," Chairman Stanley replied.

[Mr. St]anley had obtained from the interstate commerce commission the rates per [ton] hauled by the Duluth and Iron [Range, t]he Duluth, Mesaba and Northern, [and other] roads, and had employed an engineer to compute from these figures the rates per mile.

[Wa]nts Name of Accountant.

[The pur]pose was to show that the rates [charged] by the steel trust roads resulted in [a los]s to independent owners and thus [increased] unfairly their cost of production. [Mr. Lin]dabury objected to the introduction [of fig]ures computed without the identity [of the] author.

"[He] was an employe of the mine," [Mr. St]anley. "I might say he is thoroughly competent and was formerly in the [employ of] the Carnegie Steel company and [United] States Steel corporation."

[... to] discover why the United [States Steel] corporation could sell steel rails [cheaper a]broad than at home, the committee [announce]d its intention of summoning James [A. Fa]rrell, president of the corporation, to [explain] the situation.

"[Mr.] Farrell is at the service of this committee and will come before you whenever [you desi]re him," said Mr. Lindabury.

[Mr. Gayley] described at length the steel war [which o]ccurred in 1897 and 1899 during which [time] prices fell as low as $17 a ton.

[St]eel Men Closer Together.

"[Did] not that steel war in 1897-'99 bring [about th]e organization of the United States [Steel c]orporation?" Mr. Bartlett asked.

"[I do] not think it had anything to do with [it. It m]ay have had an effect on the formation [of t]he Federal Steel company, organized before the steel corporation was [formed]."

"[Do] you know whether or not there is an [agreement] now between steel rail manufacturers whereby the territory is parceled out?"

"[I do] not."

"[Since] the formation of the steel trust, [have th]ere been no fancied wrongs and no [... on] the part of manufacturers to re[...]?"

"[We] have not," was the emphatic reply. "[Manufa]cturers of steel today have been [brought] more closely together. They are [b]etter acquainted, and there is more [of an] intercourse that has created a [better u]nderstanding. Everything is done [openly an]d frankly now, whereas before each [manufac]turer worked secretly."

[TH]E BANK PLAN EXPERTS.

[Directo]rs of Continental and Commercial Decline to Follow Selection [o]f Jarvis Hunt Design.

[It] has come to light that the new [Continenta]l and Commercial National bank [building] will not be built on the plans and [designs] accepted by the committee of experts [who] acted as judges in the competition. [There] were eleven men on this board [and by a] vote of six to five they recommended [accept]ance of the plans of Jarvis Hunt. [Directors] of the bank, however, ignored [the sele]ction of its board of experts and [gave] the plans to D. H. Burnham & Co.

BOARD DEFINES NEW DUTIES

Illinois Rail and Warehouse Commission Issues Circular.

BEARING ON RECENT LAWS.

Outlines Powers Conferred by Legislature.

Springfield, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—The Illinois railroad and warehouse commission has issued a circular informing the public of its construction of the new duties and powers conferred by the recent acts of the legislature and becoming effective on July 1. Announcement is made that pamphlets containing the full text of the bills soon will be ready for distribution.

The most radical of the bills is one which puts express companies under the jurisdiction of the commission, and is the measure most likely to meet with opposition in the courts if the commission undertakes to exercise all the powers given under it.

The commission is authorized to prescribe, promulgate, and establish reasonable and just rates or schedules of maximum charges for each kind of service performed.

The commission holds that under the terms of the statute it will have the right to hear and adjust complaints, demand and receive reports of the business of the companies and to fix limits for free delivery. It also can provide penalties for noncompliance with its rules.

The new statute extending and defining the powers of the commission permits it to establish what shall be considered reasonable rates for all common carriers except street railways. It makes it unlawful to charge or receive greater compensation in the aggregate for transportation of passengers for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same route, but provides that in special cases the commission may, upon investigation, authorise such charges.

The law will empower the commission to fix or establish rules or regulations regarding demurrage and storage, grants power to inquire into the business management of carriers, permits it to demand information concerning the distribution of cars, location of side tracks, building of depots and other matters and makes it one of the duties of the body to enforce safety regulations.

HEARS MANY PLEAS FOR PARCELS POST

House Subcommittee Shows Itself Divided on Issue as Inquiry Opens.

WEEKS LEADS IN ATTACK.

Opponents Admit Express Companies Are Allowed to Violate the Law.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—Appeals by congressmen, farmers, and merchants in the cities for establishment of a general parcels post were heard today by the Lloyd subcommittee of the house of representatives.

After the opening day of the investigation it is possible to make the following generalizations on the basis of the discussion:

Establishment of a general parcels post comprehending the entire country is opposed by several, if not a majority, of the subcommittee members.

If a parcels post must be established it would be advisable, in the opinion of the majority, to limit the experiment at first to rural free delivery routes, with provisions excluding all except local tradesmen from access to channel.

A parcels post system should not be established, according to the majority, unless it can be made to pay expenses without receiving financial assistance from other more profitable classes of postal business.

The express companies and the mercantile lobby favor the immediate reduction of letter postage to 1 cent, so it will appear the department cannot afford the expense of a parcels post experiment.

Lobbyists on Hand in Force.

The farmers, officers of the Postal Progress league, and other advocates of the parcels post, and the lobbyists representing the express companies and allied organizations were on hand in full strength when the hearings opened. The members of the subcommittee, upon whose decision eventually parcels post legislation by this congress will win or lose, are: Democrats—Lloyd of Missouri, Mays of Florida, Bell of Georgia, Gregg of Pennsylvania. Republicans—Weeks of Massachusetts, Gardner of New Jersey, La Fean of Pennsylvania.

Representatives Weeks and Gardner led in attacks upon the reasons given by the witnesses for their demands for a parcels post. Chairman Lloyd betrayed fear that the proposed institution would benefit mail order merchants at the expense of country retailers.

"In asking the establishment of a parcels post," said John M. McSparran, a Pennsylvania farmer, "we country folks are merely asking for the same benefits of civilization enjoyed by our city brothers. We have supported the government just as much as city folks have, but we don't have the benefits. The express companies do not cover the country districts. The express companies are making millions of profits—out of all reason—and the railroads are overcapitalized and making millions of profits on water."

Would Send Produce by Post.

"Do you contemplate sending cabbages, onions, and other vegetables from your farm by parcels post?" asked Mr. Gardner.

"Yes, replied Mr. McSparran. "Why not? I would send anything of that kind. There is no mystery about this proposition. I would send butter, eggs, etc."

"Why not? They do it in all foreign countries," interposed Congressman Sulzer, who, although not a member of the committee, was unable to contain himself longer.

Mr. Weeks and Mr. Lloyd admitted that express companies are allowed to carry mail matter contrary to the law and the constitution and that these concerns are making gigantic profits on short haul package business while leaving unprofitable long hauls to the postoffice system.

"You will find that all the farmers in the country want the parcels post," said W. T. Cressy, another farmer, who is an officer of the Pennsylvania grange.

Would Help Local Retailers.

E. W. Bloomingdale, representing the Retail Dealers' associations of New York and St. Louis, said "the parcels post would bring the country consumers into close touch with metropolitan markets so that they would be able to get better and cheaper goods while the local retailers would retain the bulk of their trade and take advantage of the system to buy more cheaply."

Frederick C. Beach, president of the Postal Progress league and editor of the Scientific American, called attention to the American Express company's contract with the British postoffice under which it carries a three pound foreign package from New York to San Francisco for 37 cents, while charging $1.76 on a three pound domestic package.

TRADE DELEGATES IN WHIRL

Association of Commerce Envoys Given Busy Day at Boston.

VISIT MILLS BY MOTORS.

Take Trip on North Shore; Guests at Luncheon and Banquet.

Boston, Mass., June 14.—[Special.]—The members of the visiting delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce were put through a whirl of entertaining today that portends a strenuous three days' visit. From early morning, when they were motored to the north shore, until late tonight, when "Chicago night" at the "pop" concerts came to a close, not a dull moment has been allowed to creep in. The visitors saw a lot today, heard a lot, smoked a lot, said a lot, and found it all worth while.

The procession of loaded motor cars left the Hotel Somerset at 9 a. m. and proceeded over the state highways to Beverly to the plant of the United Shoe Machinery company. The Chicago visitors saw all parts of the plant, and guides explained the processes of making the various machines used in the manufacture of shoes.

Guests of Merchant at Luncheon.

Leaving Beverly, the automobiles were directed along the north shore, so that the visitors might obtain some of the best impressions of the region. At Beverly Farms the cars swung into the entrance to Hetmere, the summer estate of A. Shuman, a Boston merchant and head of the Boston City hospital. Mr. Shuman met them at the gate and led the way to the dining room, where luncheon was served.

Mr. Shuman made a brief speech welcoming his guests, and a glee club of the Chicago party cheered and sang "Chicago—Go" to the tune of "Boola."

After the call at Hetmere the automobile continued on to Magnolia, where a stop was made for luncheon at the Oceanside hotel. Bernard J. Rothwell of the Boston chamber of commerce presided and welcomed the Chicago men.

Following Mr. Rothwell, speeches were made by F. T. Simmons, chairman of the Chicago committee; H. A. Stillwell and Edward M. Skinner, former presidents of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and W. P. Sidley, president of the Union League club of Chicago.

Visit Estate of H. C. Frick.

This afternoon the estate of Henry C. Frick of Pittsburg at Pride's Crossing was visited by the motorists.

At the Algonquin club tonight the visitors were banqueted, and there was more speechmaking and informal binding of the commercial ties between the Chicago and Boston men.

NEW POTATOES SOAR; GENERAL GRADE ADVANCES 20 CENTS.

Southern Producing Areas Badly Damaged by Drought, Receipts Small—Poultry Lower, Buyers Active.

A car of fancy new potatoes sold at $2.15 per bushel, an advance of 25c over best previous quotation, and the general market was 20c higher. Demand was active, but business was restricted by the small offerings, receipts being only six cars.

With no hope of immediate relief in the way of increased supplies, buyers are pretty much at the mercy of sellers, and it is hard to tell where the advance will stop. Damage from drought is reported in most of the southwestern states, and as this section of the country usually supplies potatoes at this time of the year is looks much as though the consumer will have to curb his appetite until shipments can be made from other territory. The sharp bulge in prices for new potatoes naturally affected the market for old stock, and a gain of 10c per bu was recorded here. Arrivals were light at 27 cars, and some stock was brought out of cold storage. Buyers were not a bit backward in bidding for stock, and the small offerings were rapidly disposed of.

The late decline in prices for old chickens proved to be the necessary stimulant, judging from the way the trade bought yesterday, and though the offerings were heavy they were readily absorbed and the market ruled firm. Other kinds of live poultry were also in good demand, home dealers and speculators taking the bulk of the stock. Butter and eggs values were unchanged. Strawberries in fair request at steady prices.

GROSSCUP GIVES TRUST REMEDIES

Tells Iowa Graduates That He Would Use New Methods for Their Control.

"SQUARE LAW TO FACTS."

Federal Incorporation Shown as Big Step in War on Illegal Combines.

Iowa City, Ia., June 14.—Declaring the Sherman act, "even as now interpreted, an ineffective remedy in the just complaint of the ordinary man against monopolies," Judge Peter S. Grosscup of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago proposed, in the commencement address before the University of Iowa today, a new method of dealing with trusts.

"To recognize combination and monopoly as something necessarily here—square the law to the fact—and then, as a condition to granting corporate power at all, reserve the right to regulate dividends," is the remedy Judge Grosscup advances.

Urges Federal Incorporation.

"But to which government, the national or the state, shall be given the power to apply the remedy," he added. "My answer is that, in the case of the big so-called trusts, such as the packers or the Standard Oil company, the principle I am urging should be applied by the national government, through such processes as will make it practical, compelling that enterprises of this kind organize as corporations under the United States laws.

To Prevent Monopoly.

"But this does not mean that the smaller manufacturing and trading corporations in any given field of enterprise should be nationally incorporated. From these arises no monopoly. And where, among these smaller concerns, combinations arise in unreasonable restraint of trade, the Sherman act, as now interpreted, would probably be sufficient.

"National incorporation should depend on whether the business involved is chiefly national or chiefly local. In other words, if the bulk of the business of the company is national, let the nation be the parent and regulator of the corporate advantages under which it is conducted, and if it absorbs enough of the business to enable it to throw off effective competition, let the principle of fair dividends be applied."

New Hotel Company Formed.

Articles of incorporation of the New Gault Hotel company were filed yesterday in the county recorder's office. Incorporators are Owen Ahern, Anna Ahern, and Arthur Ahern. The capital is $10,000 and the site of the company's property is at the southwest corner of Market and West Madison streets.

MONEY MART HAS AN EASIER TONE

Rates Advance a Shade in Fortnight; General Demand Slow.

BOOTH FISHERIES DOWN.

Insiders Seek Stock, but Refuse to Bid Up Prices; Watch Business Slow.

Money conditions have grown considerably easier in the last fortnight. Rates may be possibly a shade higher than they were at the previous low level, but the general demand is slow. The minimum rate for commercial paper of the most desirable class is about 3½ per cent. Some paper does no better than 4 and 4½.

On loans other than commercial paper the banks generally hold to a minimum of 4 per cent, though call funds are slightly shaded.

Such demand as exists is from borrowers other than constructive industries. In these branches of business the demand is decidedly light. The usual demand exists from certain wholesale lines.

The securities markets are but moderately active and in consequence the requirements from that source are relatively small. General business sentiment, however, does not fall in optimism, though trade is dull.

Accumulating Booth Fisheries.

The market for Booth Fisheries stocks seems to indicate a willingness on the part of insiders to accumulate offerings, but not to bid up the price. Both the preferred and the common have had marked declines. The preferred has gone from around 81 to 65. The common has dropped from better than 60 to a bid price of 35.

This price for the common seems to be suggestive, for although 35 was the best bid in the market at one time yesterday, an offering of the stock at 38 was quickly taken. This market method of accumulating stock is not new, but is always significant.

Watch Business Trifle Slow.

The statement read at the annual stockholders' meeting of the Elgin National Watch company yesterday showed a falling off in business during the year of about 10 per cent, as compared to the previous year, indicating that the watch business was affected by the policy of curtailment that has been followed during several months past in many lines of industry. Earnings of the company for the year were about 12 per cent on the capital stock of $5,000,000, however.

The following directors were reëlected: A. C. Bartlett, Henry A. Blair, Ernest A. Hamill, Charles H. Hulburd, Louis E. Laflin, Martin A. Ryerson, and A. A. Sprague. Officers of the company will be elected at the directors' meeting to be held next week.

Greenebaum Sons Get Charter.

Greenebaum Sons' Bank and Trust company yesterday received its charter to operate as a banking institution. The capital is $1,500,000. The company takes over the business of Greenebaum Sons. The firm was organized in 1855. Elias Greenebaum, founder of the firm, is 89 years old. He still may be found daily at his desk in the office.

The officers and directors of the reorganized company follow: President, M. E. Greenebaum; first vice president, H. E. Greenebaum; second vice president, J. E. Greenebaum; cashier, Walter J. Greenebaum; assistant cashier, Milton E. Falker; directors, M. E. Greenebaum, H. E. Greenebaum, J. E. Greenebaum, A. G. Becker, W. N. Eisendrath, and H. L. Stern.

Harris Trust Stock Dividend.

Stockholders of the Harris Trust and Savings bank yesterday authorized an increase in the capital stock of the bank from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000. After the stockholders' meeting the board of directors authorized the transfer of $250,000 from the undivided profits account to the capital account and the distribution of this additional $250,000 stock to stockholders of record May 29, 1911, pro rata, according to their holdings of stock on that date. This action makes the capital and surplus of the Harris Trust and Savings bank $3,000,000.

The prospect of this melon has caused an advance in the stock to 500 bid. The dividend rate is 12 per cent.

Steel's Unfilled Tonnage.

Unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation of May was much better than expected and unfavorable reports bearing on the industry from day to day during the month were not justified according to a report for the month which has just been made public. The reduction amounted to 105,517 tons, compared with estimates of a shrinkage ranging from 150,000 to 250,000 tons.

It is deduced from the statement that orders in May were as large, if not larger, than in April. As shipments in May were comparatively large, the falling off of not much more than 100,000 tons evidently was not the result of a heavy contraction in shipments to consumers. This leaves the conclusion that the reduction in steel prices brought out more business than was expected. Besides there was a better demand for rails, structural steel, and wire products.

May Shrinkage Lighter.

The shrinkage of 105,517 tons in May compared with a falling off of 228,597 tons in April. The Steel corporation now has on its books 3,118,187 tons, sufficient for approximately three months' operations for the mills.

Heavy orders for steel for export was one of the reasons for the improved showing. The export business has been the mainstay of the Steel corporation for the last twelve months. Not only has it tended to keep costs of production down, but has kept employed thousands of men who would have been idle if orders had been confined to domestic consumers.

Hibernian-Continental.

President Lewis of the Hibernian Banking association yesterday appointed the following committee of five to represent the stockholders of the bank in its dealings with the Continental and Commercial National:

D. R. Lewis, president of the Hibernian; H. V. Clarke, L. B. Clarke, vice presidents; R. H. McElwee and W. A. Tilden, directors.

No meeting has yet been called of the stockholders of the Continental and Commercial National bank to ratify the action of the directors in voting to purchase the stock of the Hibernian.

There was considerable activity in Continental and in Hibernian shares yesterday. Continental sold up to 289 and closed at 287 bid. Hibernian sold at 248 and closed at 283 bid.

Personal Mention.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental-Commercial National, returned yesterday from Detroit, where he addressed a meeting of bankers on the currency question. He will leave tonight for Des Moines to address there an association of bankers on the same subject.

General Financial News.

The United States Realty and Improvement company has closed a contract with the Canadian Pacific railway for the erection of an office building in Toronto to cost $1,000,000.

The New York subtreasury lost $347,000 to the banks on Tuesday, but since last Friday has gained $248,000 from the banks.

The Illinois Steel company reports contracts for rail orders closed during last week to the amount of 16,510 tons. The Carnegie Steel company contracted to sell 794 tons, and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company 50 tons.

A director of the American Can company is reported as saying that net earnings since Jan. 1 have exceeded those of any similar period in the history of the company.

Chicago Securities.

Several bids were made on the local stock exchange yesterday for receipts for deposits of stock of the elevated railroad companies. The bids, however, were below the market for the stocks and no transactions were recorded. Inasmuch as the receipts are of equal value with the shares, there is no reason why they should sell under the market for the latter.

McCrum-Howell common sold at 50, while the preferred, after opening at 97, closed at 96¾. Illinois Brick shares were fractionally lower. Sears-Roebuck common was off 2 points, closing at 142½. Commonwealth Edison was irregular, selling up to 129½, but closing 1 point below that price.

NEW YORK RISE IN STEEL STOCK

Shares Go Up Following Reception of Good News of Products Trade.

OTHER ISSUES FALL OFF.

Irregularity Characterizes Market, with Early Declines in Some of Leaders.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—Since June 1 the average daily orders received by the United States Steel corporation have been a little larger than the average daily orders received either in May or April. This information gives definite support to the view generally expressed in steel trade circles today that conditions have improved since the price readjustments were made three weeks ago. The better news regarding the steel trade found reflection in today's trading on the stock exchange, a noteworthy feature of which was an advance of 1⅛ points in United States Steel.

The market, as a whole, showed considerable irregularity, particularly during the earlier hours of the session, and declines which occurred during this period left some of the leading issues lower at the close than they were on Tuesday. The reaction in copper shares, following their noteworthy strength on the previous two days, was a feature of the trading.

Rush for Chinese Bonds.

Advance subscriptions for the Chinese government bonds which were offered for public subscription today were so numerous that the $7,500,000 issue promises to be largely oversubscribed. It is realized that this financing and the participation in it of four of the great powers mean much more than the mere investment of some $30,000,000 of foreign money in China.

Great interest attaches to this transaction by reason of the things which it implies, among which, in the estimation of those who followed the prolonged negotiations which led up to the issue, is the fact that American trade in Manchuria may reasonably hope for advantages not now enjoyed as a result of the position in Chinese affairs assumed by this country and three European powers in connection with the present bond flotation.

Will Benefit Our Trade.

Looking to currency reform in China, following a possible further international issue to be shared in by the United States, there is presented a prospect the realization of which may accomplish much good for our trade with the far east.

The country's foreign trade for the month of May, record of which was published today, shows the largest exports and imports ever put down for that month, with an excess of imports which is the second largest in the last five years. Compared with May a year ago, nonagricultural as well as agricultural exports show a large increase. For the eleven months the excess of exports, which is $50,000,000, has been exceeded during the last ten years only in 1908, when imports were curtailed and exports stimulated as a result of the financial disturbances of 1907.

Money on call steady, 2⅜@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜; closing bid, 2⅜; offered at 2½. Time loans easier; sixty days, 2½ per cent; ninety days, 2⅞; six months, 3¼@3½. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.84 for sixty day bills and 4.8590@4.8595 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83¼. Bar silver, 53⅛. Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, June 14.—Money was plentiful and discount were firmer today. The stock market was more cheerful, with gilt edged securities and consols better under fair support. Home rails were steadier, although the shipping troubles checked operations. Foreigners ruled firmer and copper shares showed continued strength. American securities opened steady and ruled rather irregular. A better tone, however, developed later in the session under support of United States Steel shares, and the closing was steady.

COTTON.

NEW YORK, June 14.—[Special.]—Liquidation in the cotton market today, supposedly overbought on the recent sharp advance, gave prices a noticeable setback. WATER WORKS BONDS

DATED MAY 1, 1911 DUE MAY 1, 192[…]

MATURITIES:

$ 56,000 May 1, 1923. $170,000 May 1, 192[…]
$160,000 May 1, 1924. $164,000 May 1, 192[…]

Bonds are payable by taxes levied against all real property in the Works District, having an assessed valuation of $7,544,422, and a value of over $20,000,000.

Bonds are further secured by a FIRST MORTGAGE on the Works plant of the City of Fort Smith, having a value largely in excess of the bond issue, and are also a first lien upon the earnings.

A statement of the earnings of the plant for the last three years follows:

	Gross.
For the year 1908	$61,434.21
For the year 1909	66,098.35
For the year 1910	66,856.57

It will be seen from this that the net earnings are not only sufficient to pay all interest charges, but also create an annual surplus which, taking into consideration the reasonable annual increase, will provide a sinking fund sufficient to retire substantially all bonds at maturity.

The City Council of Fort Smith has by ordinance granted franchise privileges covering the operation of the plant and the charging of adequate rates by any purchaser of the plant under foreclosure proceedings, thus insuring the payment of principal and interest of the bond issue—first, the direct taxes levied against the real property in the District; and second, the operation of an income from the plant.

DAMAGE REPORTS ADVANCE GRAINS

July Wheat Shorts Alarmed at Firmness Shown and Cover on Big Scale.

NEED RAIN NORTHWEST.

Oats Market Erratic, with Wide Price Swings; More Pressure on Corn.

July wheat was in demand yesterday and short sellers who were enthusiastic in selling this month the first of the week were scrambling to get under cover at the close. The bull houses were credited with buying the July and selling the September, and there was also a quite general belief that the bulls had bought a good sized portion of the wheat sold from 92c down to 87c. Closing prices were %@¾c to ⅞c higher.

Northwest crop damage news was the big feature of the day, and reports from South Dakota were used with good effect in stimulating buying. Notwithstanding the predictions for unsettled weather over the spring wheat belt the trade did not hesitate in buying in shorts. The demand, it is claimed, has been caused by continued drought, especially in the "Jim" river valley.

Tone Is Weak at Start.

Offerings were liberal at the start, and after an initial bulge the market declined sharply, recovering in the later part of the session. Winter wheat country reports continue to emphasize the rapid progress of harvesting, and foreign news was anything but bullish. Broomhall estimates surplus of exporting countries will be about 80,000,000 bu over requirements, without taking into consideration the United States.

Liverpool was ⅛d lower; Paris, ½@1¼c off; Antwerp, ⅜c up; Budapest, ⅜c higher, and Berlin, ¼c better. The advance in Budapest was due to reports of the Hungarian crop having been damaged by insects. Russian offerings continue liberal and there was not a specially active demand for spot wheat abroad. Argentine conditions are favorable.

Flour Trade Is Slow.

The cash demand was fair locally, but outside millers are taking no interest in the market. Sales were 5,000 bu here. St. Louis cash wheat was ½@1c higher. A cargo of Duluth No. 1 northern was sold to come to a local miller. Receipts continue liberal, and in the northwest farm deliveries are said to be about as large as they were last fall. This counteracted the effect of the bullish crop reports to some extent. Northwest receipts were 3?? cars, against 148 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg had 152 cars, or 100 more than last year. Receipts here were 21 cars, with 18 for today. Total western run was 388,000 bu, against 239,000 bu a year ago.

Canadian reports indicate a high condition of spring wheat and the promise for an immense yield. Flour trade is kept dull by the possible passage of the reciprocity bill, and a reduction in prices here and northwest did not serve to stimulate the trade any.

Corn Bears More Aggressive.

Corn had a heavy tone, and although prices rallied with oats net losses for the day were 1-16@⅝c. Cash prices were relatively firmer than the option, being ⅛@½c lower. Notices of consignments from the country showed a big falling off. Sales were 115,000 bu corn. Cables came ⅝d lower, due to the pressure of heavy Russian offerings. Weather conditions were not much changed, but rains were predicted over entire belt.

Armour, Bartlett-Frazier, Cudahy, Lindman, Thelgens, and Shearson-Hammill were on the selling side. Nye-Jenks, Geahart, and Comstock were the buyers. Receipts here were 564 cars; 314 cars estimated yesterday. Total primary receipts were 667,000 bu, compared to 565,000 bu last year. Southwestern reports indicate damage to the crop in the south, and drought conditions are serious in some sections.

Oats Rally After Break.

Oats had a bad break early. Later the selling power was exhausted and the market had a big upturn. Later profit taking on long lines again took the edge off the market and final prices were unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher. Bad reports continued to be circulated and there was good buying on the break, led by Bartlett-Frazier and Nye-Jenks. Weigens and Howe were credited with selling freely. Cash trade was fair with prices steady and sales of 215,000 bu. Receipts here were 301 cars, with 227 cars the estimate for today. Primary receipts were 707,000 bu, against 477,000 bu last year.

Dull Session in Product.

Trade in provisions was dull and uninteresting. Prices at the close were not much changed and there was little feature to the trade outside of a little buying of ribs and local selling on the continued liberal receipts of hogs. Arrivals here were 33,000, with 27,000 the estimate for today, and in the west receipts were 127,300, against 72,800 a year ago. Hams were 2s higher at Liverpool, and in the last ten days this product has advanced in that market the equivalent of 1⅜c a pound. Lard was 6d lower and Cumberland sides 6d higher. Domestic cash trade is of fair proportions. Receipts were heavy at 75 cars; shipments, 179 cars.

Better Demand for Rye.

Rye met with a better inquiry and prices were firmer. No. 2 sold at 91¼c to arrive, No. 3 was quoted 88@90c, and No. 4 75@85c. There were no cash receipts on the market.

Barley was unchanged. Malting was quoted at 75@97c, feed 65@68c, and screenings 50@51c. Receipts were estimated at 12 cars.

Duluth flax remained unchanged to 1c lower; July, $2.33; September, $1.90; October, $1.85. Receipts, none. Minneapolis, 1c lower; cash on track, $2.42. Receipts were 6 cars.

Timothy seed was stronger. August closed at $9.60; September, $8.25 bid; October, $8.25 bid; December, $8.10 bid. Clover seed quiet; October $10.85 nominal.

Minting to Cease in New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—The historic New Orleans mint will cease to exist as such after July 1. After that time it will be conducted as an assay office and a storage place for 22,000,000 silver dollars which will be stacked in the only one of its old vaults now considered burglar proof.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The dry weather that has been in evidence all through the spring in the "Jim" river valley and west in South Dakota became a factor in the wheat market and was used as a club to drive in the shorts. There were messages from a number of different firms in the northwest claiming conditions were serious. Van Dusen-Harrington, Minneapolis, wired that authoritative advices from South Dakota said the territory was about 75 miles square, commonly known as the Jim river country. In this section some of the early sown wheat has been plowed up and planted to corn and general prospects are poor. Armour had a number of messages to the same effect and Minneapolis advices to Shearson-Hammill confirmed these reports.

The market promises to be unusually responsive to any bad news from the northwest this summer because of the lowering of the estimates of the winter wheat crop. In North Dakota and Minnesota precipitation has been closer to normal than in South Dakota, especially in the territory near the boundary line. Farmers in most sections in the northwest are not worrying much over prospects, judging from the way they continue to sell wheat. Hulburd-Warren-Chandler had a message from Minneapolis saying elevator concerns reported farm deliveries about as large as last fall.

The weekly report of the Northwestern Miller as wired to Logan-Bryan said: "The Minneapolis flour output last week was surprisingly small, decreasing 21,965 brls. The output for week ended June 10 was 233,815 brls, against 289,010 in 1910. This week one and one-half more mills are in operation. The capacity in motion should warrant a production of perhaps 260,000 brls. In the corresponding week last year it was 272,895 brls.

"Flour continues dull, with the buying done strictly for consumption. Old contracts are being gradually reduced and no large volume of high priced unfilled contracts remains on the books of most mills. Current directions are poor to fair. Practically no flour was sold for export during the last week. One lot of 2,000 bags to go to Holland was all the business reported."

Wheat traders were a little inclined to doubt reports that Lichtstern had been such a big seller of July after all, and there were some traders who believed that the recent decline was nothing more than a shakeout. Houses supposed to act for Lichtstern were on the buying side, and it was noticeable that there was renewed buying of July against sales of the September, forcing July to a fair premium again. However, Lichtstern is getting credit for about every big trade in the pit, so that it is impossible for traders to figure out the present standing of the bull clique. More traders were inclined to think that the rally was due more to oversold pit conditions than to anything else.

Provision specialist: "More dry weather hogs at western markets supplementing the June receipts that are seasonably due while not having any particular effect on the values of future provisions acted somewhat as a deterrent on investors and trade was very dull.

"Naturally local sentiment is impressed with the hog receipts, but it is the season of the year to get good runs and some stock accumulation, although shipments of product are very heavy and trade is in healthy shape and the English demand is still insistent and leading our markets on both hams and bacon."

O. K. Lyle wired Chapin that he thinks 15 bu a high average for southwest Missouri wheat. It is hot there and there are no signs of rain. In his wire of last night from Springfield, Mo., he says: "In 250 miles today I found wheat all good and being rapidly harvested in ideal weather. Pastures are drying up and complaint is general about oats and hay. Corn is of good color everywhere and shows no signs of suffering yet. I am not feeling concerned about corn."

A cargo of Duluth No. 1 northern wheat was bought by a local miller to come here. The reported price was 10¼c over Chicago September c. i. f. Chicago. There was no special significance in the transaction. Mills usually bring down a certain amount of spring wheat every spring. The general milling demand was quiet except that local mills continued to buy quite freely. St. Louis and Kansas City cash markets were a little firmer. Not much change in conditions was noted at Minneapolis. Country offerings were moderate and there was not much business of any kind in new crop wheat. Cash houses are not contracting wheat freely as yet, and the question of storage room may figure largely in negotiations for the purchase of wheat to arrive.

With few exceptions most of the oats reports being received are of a pessimistic character. Not many bad reports have been received from the northwest so far, but there were a few yesterday and the sentiment in this pit continues to lean to the bull side. Profit taking was heavy yesterday during the forepart of the session and again on the late advance. The market advanced much faster than it sold off, and new buying was in evidence on all the recessions.

"In corn growing and winter wheat states west of the Mississippi severe and dry winds and absence of rainfall were exceedingly hard on vegetation of all kinds," said the weekly government weather report. "Severe drought now prevails over nearly the entire state of Missouri and marked portions of Oklahoma. It is getting dry in nearly all portions of Arkansas, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas."

The census office at Ottawa issues the following on crops in all Canada: Area winter wheat 4.50 per cent, and spring 13.70 per cent over last year, making wheat area 10,503,400 acres, against 9,294,800 acres in 1910, and 7,750,400 acres in 1909. condition, June 1, spring wheat, 96.99; winter wheat, 80.63. Oats are 10,279,800 acres, against 9,864,100 acres last year. Condition June 1, 94.76.

Minneapolis wired: "Local millers do not expect any activity in flour trade on the old crop. The buyers are awaiting reciprocity. Cash wheat is in fair demand and steady. No. 1 northern ½@2½c over July. The big mills are buying moderately. Although flour prices have been reduced, it has not stimulated business. Sales are made only to meet the immediate need of buyers."

L. S. Hoyt to Carhart, Code, Harwood Co. from Bloomington, Ill.: "From Chicago here corn is simply perfect. Wheat is thin on the ground, but has good heads. Oats are much better than expected, are of a fine dark color, and show no drought damage. Some of the early July variety is beginning to head. Men from all parts of state predict an average crop."

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ¼@1c higher, corn unchanged to ⅝c higher, oats ¼c lower to ½c higher, and rye unchanged. Sales were 1 car No. 2 hard winter wheat, 30 days' shipment, 88¼c, track Chicago.

Broomhall estimates that the probable exportable surplus of wheat the coming year will be about 80,000,000 bu over the probable requirements. This estimate does not take into consideration the United States.

Cash corn was ¼@½c lower, with fair offerings and a moderate demand. Oats were ¼c off early, but closed steady. Sales were 115,000 bu corn and 215,000 bu oats. Wheat sales were 5,000 bu.

Receipts of wheat at Winnipeg were 152 cars, compared with 66 cars a week ago and 52 cars the corresponding day last year.

An advance of 3c at Budapest was explained by a later cable claiming the Hungarian wheat crop had been damaged by insects.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 18 cars; corn, 314 cars; oats, 227 cars; rye, none; barley, 12 cars; hogs, 27,000.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 150,000 bu for four days.

I. C. IN FIGHT FOR ST. LOUIS TRAFFIC

Announces Three New All Steel Fast Trains; Cost Over $200,000.

SERVICE STARTS JUNE 28.

Union Pacific Will Have Third Train to Denver; Santa Fe Buys Line.

"When the railroads fight for business the public gets better service" is an axiom which has its latest illustration in plans of the Illinois Central to "cut in" to a greater extent on passenger traffic business between Chicago and St. Louis. To this end a complete revolution in train service and the addition of three new trains was announced yesterday by S. G. Hatch, passenger traffic manager.

The most important of the new trains will be the Daylight special, which will probably run on the time of the present Diamond special. It will be an all steel train, electric lighted, and will consist of an observation-parlor car, café-club car, coach, and combination coach and baggage car. The cost of the "twin" trains is about $160,000. The café-club cars are said each to have cost $28,000.

New Service on June 28.

The new service becomes effective June 28. The Daylight special will probably leave Chicago at 10:02 a. m. and arrive at St. Louis at 6:02 p. m. The north bound train will leave St. Louis at 11:28 a. m. and arrive in Chicago at 7:28 p. m. The cars will be part of a second order for ninety-four new steel coaches.

The present Diamond special will become a new midnight train. It will be entirely new, with practically the same equipment as at present. The train will leave Chicago at 11:45 p. m. and will reach St. Louis at 7:59 a. m. The third new train will leave Chicago at 9:10 p. m. and reach St. Louis at 7:24 a. m. It will be the Chicago express. Returning, it will be known as the St. Louis express, will leave at 9:10 p. m., and arrive at Chicago at 7:15 a. m.

U. P.'s New Denver Train.

Starting next Sunday the Union Pacific will start a third daily train between Chicago and Denver, which will leave Chicago over the Northwestern at 10 a. m. and will arrive in Denver at 1:15 p. m. the next day. The east bound train will leave Denver at 9 a. m. and will arrive in Chicago at 1:30 p. m. The new train will be known as the Centennial state special.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road has announced that with its new schedule, which goes into effect Sunday, its Star Lake country sleeping cars will be handled on the second section of the Pioneer Limited, leaving Chicago at 6:30 p. m. and arriving at Star Lake at 10:45 a. m. Copper country sleeping cars will be operated on the Olympian, leaving Chicago at 10:15 p. m. and arriving at Copper country points about thirty-five minutes later than at present.

At the annual meeting of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway yesterday in its offices in the Commercial National Bank building the following officers were reëlected: President, A. F. Banks; vice president, S. M. Rogers; secretary and treasurer, W. K. Allen. All of the old officers and directors were reëlected.

Santa Fe Gets New Line.

The Santa Fé has taken over the Garden City, Gulf and Northern railroad, which operates a distance of 38 miles between Garden City, Kas., and Scott City, Kas. The work of grading on the completion of the Coleman cutoff, between Lubbock, Tex., and Texico, has begun. When this line is completed, the system will have the lowest level line from the gulf to the coast.

The Illinois railroad and warehouse commission has established a new Chicago office at 206 La Salle street. The office will be used for general consultation and commission purposes.

John W. Dodge has been appointed superintendent of the New Orleans division of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, with headquarters at Vicksburg. He will take the place of B. F. Galvani, who has resigned, and will begin his new duties today.

GRATUITY NOT WITHIN LAW.

Commerce Board Sustains Withdrawal of Corn Rates on Starch Shipments on Railroads in Iowa.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—The interstate commerce commission held today that a privilege, savoring of a gratuity, cannot be ordered continued by the commission, unless the original granting of the privilege rested upon some legal obligation.

This principle was laid down in the case of Douglas and company of Cedar Rapids, Ia., against the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific railway and other western carriers.

The defendants withdrew certain milling-in-transit rates at Cedar Rapids, under which corn was manufactured into starch and the starch forwarded to destinations at the corn rates. The privilege was enormously valuable, but as it was held to be substantially a gratuity to the shippers, its withdrawal was sustained.

PASSES ON PASSENGER RATES.

Interestate Commerce Commission Grants Three Permits to Raise Charges for Short Hauls.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Of fourteen applications by western and southwestern railroads for permission to establish higher passenger rates for short than for long hauls in the same direction the interstate commerce commission today denied eleven and granted three.

Permission to exact higher charges was given to the Illinois Central in instances where the lower fares resulted from state regulations or competition by a more direct route.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana was granted permission until May 1, 1912, to charge its existing rates for through passenger traffic, although they technically violate the long and short haul provision.

REBATE FINE FOR MILK FIRM.

Elm Farm Company of Boston Out $5,350 for Violating the Elkins Act.

Boston, Mass., June 14.—A plea of guilty to two counts of an indictment charging violation of the Elkins act was made by the Elm Farm Milk company of Boston, in the United States District court, today. Judge Dodge imposed a fine of $5,000 with $350 costs. The remaining fifty-eight counts were nolle prossed. The specific charge was shipping 1,285 cans of milk to Boston on Sept. 21, 1910, at the rate charged other shippers for 840 cans, thus accepting a rate concession.

Imperial Chinese Government Loan

5% Hukuang Railways Sinking Fund Gold Loan of 1911

AUTHORIZED BY IMPERIAL EDICT,

Which has been communicated to the Ministers in Peking, of Great Britain, Germany, France, and the United States of America.

The Imperial Chinese Government agrees that Principal and Interest shall be Free from Chinese Taxes and Imposts.

ISSUE OF

First Series of £6,000,000 5% Sterling Bonds,

(constituting part of the above Loan which is limited to £10,000,000) for which subscriptions to the amount of £1,500,000 are being invited respectively in New York, in London, in Germany and in France.

In Bonds to Bearer of £100 and £20 each, with half yearly Coupons attached for interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum payable December 15th and June 15th.

A full six months' Coupon for £2:10:0 per £100 will be payable Dec. 15th, 1911.

Principal and interest payable in London in Sterling, and in New York, Germany, and France, in Dollars, Reichsmarks, and Francs, respectively, at the exchange of the day on London.

The Loan is redeemable at par within 40 YEARS FROM JUNE 15th, 1911, by annual drawings commencing December 15th, 1921, in accordance with the Amortization Table which will be printed on the Bond; the first payment being made on June 15th, 1922. The Imperial Chinese Government has, however, the right, on giving six months' previous notice to the Contractors for the Loan, to increase the amounts for redemption on or after that date; any Bonds so redeemed in advance of scheduled date up to June 15th, 1928, are to be redeemed at a premium of 2½ per cent., viz., at £102 10s. per £100 bond, but after that date redemption will be at par. When drawn, the bonds will be payable at the office of the contracting Banks in London, New York, Germany and France.

For detailed information which has been furnished to the undersigned concerning this issue of bonds, reference is made to a prospectus approved by the Chinese minister in London, from which we quote as follows:

"This Loan is issued to provide capital for the construction of Chinese Government Railway Lines in the two Provinces of Hunan and Hupei (which formerly constituted the one Province of Hukuang) and, incidentally, for the redemption of the outstanding Gold Bonds, amounting to U. S. $2,222,000, of the Chinese 5% Gold Imperial Loan of 1900 issued by the American China Development Company in connection with the agreement obtained by that Company in 1898 and annulled in 1905, for the construction of a Railway from Hankow to Canton."

"The net revenue of the Railways in each year after their construction is to be applied by the Imperial Chinese Government in the first place to the service of the Loan for that year, and any surplus revenue for that year is to be deposited with the contracting Banks in Shanghai or Hankow, up to the amount required to pay the following year's installment of interest on the Loan; and the Imperial Chinese Government undertakes that, after redemption of the before-mentioned gold bonds, the Railways shall under no circumstances be mortgaged nor their receipts given as security to any other party so long as the Loan is unredeemed."

"This Loan, which is the direct obligation of the Imperial Chinese Government, both as to principal and interest, is, together with the second series of £4,000,000, specifically secured by a first charge upon the undermentioned Provincial Revenues, which are declared by the Loan agreement to be free from all other loans, charges or mortgages:—

1. Hupei General Lekin amounting to two million (2,000,000) Haikwan Taels a year;
2. Hupei additional Salt Tax for River Defense amounting to four hundred thousand (400,000) Haikwan Taels a year;
3. Hupei new additional two cash Salt Tax of September, 1908, amounting to three hundred thousand (300,000) Haikwan Taels a year;
4. Hupei collection of Hukuang inter-provincial Tax on imported Rice, to the amount of two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) Haikwan Taels a year;
5. Hunan General Lekin amounting to two million (2,000,000) Haikwan Taels a year;
6. Hunan Salt Commissioner's Treasury regular Salt Lekin to the amount of two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) Haikwan Taels a year.

Total 5,200,000 Haikwan Taels (say at £0.2.8 per Haikwan Tael, £693,333) a year.

"The Loan Agreement provides that so long as the principal and interest of the Loan are regularly paid, there shall be no interference with these provincial revenues; but if the principal or interest be in default at due date, then, after a reasonable period of grace, Lekin and other suitable internal revenues of the provinces of Hupei and Hunan sufficient to provide the amounts above stated shall forthwith be transferred to and administered by the Imperial Maritime Customs in the interests of the bondholders; and so long as this Loan or any part thereof shall remain unredeemed it shall have priority both as regards principal and interest over all future loans, charges and mortgages charged on the aforesaid Provincial Revenues."

"In the event of the Imperial Chinese Government, during the currency of this Loan, entering upon definite arrangements for the revision of the customs tariff accompanied by stipulations for decrease or abolition of Lekin, such revision is not to be barred by the fact that this Loan is secured by Lekin and Provincial Revenues. On the other hand whatever Lekin is required to provide the security of this Loan is neither to be decreased nor abolished except by previous arrangement with the contractors for the Loan and then only in so far as an equivalent is substituted for it in the shape of a first charge upon the increase of customs revenue consequent upon such revision."

Referring to the above, the undersigned, joint contractors with the Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, London, the Deutsch-Asiatische Bank, Berlin, and the Banque de l'Indo-Chine, Paris, hereby offer for public subscription £1,500,000 of the above bonds, at the price of 97% and accrued interest, New York Stock Exchange usage as explained below (£1 Sterling equal to $5).

The subscription will be closed at 3 O'CLOCK P. M., on MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1911, or earlier, the right being reserved to reject any or all applications and also in any case to award a smaller amount than applied for. The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice.

All subscriptions (to be made on forms which can be obtained at the offices of the undersigned) are to be accompanied by a deposit of $25 in New York funds per £100 bond subscribed for. Subscriptions must be for £100 face value or any multiple thereof.

If no allotment be made on a subscription, the deposit in respect thereof will be returned in full. If only a portion of the amount so applied for be allotted, the balance of such deposit will be applied toward the amount due on July 11, 1911, without additional allowance of interest. If any further balance remain, such balance will be returned. Failure to pay the second installment when due will render the first payment liable to forfeiture.

The rate of exchange fixed by the undersigned, for subscriptions in New York, is $4.86½ per £1 Sterling, at which rate the New York issue price of 97% and accrued interest (figuring $5 per Pound Sterling, according to the usage of the New York Stock Exchange) is the equivalent of 99¾ and accrued interest, London usage, not considering stamp.

Payment for bonds allotted is to be made in New York funds as follows:

On application	$ 25.00 per £100 bond.
On July 11, 1911	461.68 " " "	which includes an adjustment of the accrued interest.
Total	$486.68

Upon payment of the final installment, bearer receipts will be delivered by the undersigned in exchange for allotment letters duly indorsed. Warrants for the semi-annual interest due on December 15, 1911, will be attached to the receipts.

The bonds will be delivered in exchange for the receipts as and when the completed bonds are received by the undersigned.

CLOSE BIG LEASE ON CLARK STREET

Premises at 172-174 Bring $200,000 Rent for a Fifteen Year Term.

G. W. JACKSON IN DEAL.

Jackson Boulevard Property Conveyed to John J. Corbett, Former Partner.

A Clark street lease of considerable interest, just closed, comprises the six story and basement building at 172-174 North Clark street, new numbers, across the alley to the north of the Hotel Sherman, which has been leased by Mrs. Elizabeth Lupe of Den[illegible] Solo., to Samuel A. Cohn and James M. Lovelette for a term of fifteen years at an aggregate rent of $200,000.

The lessor will expend about $50,000 in remodeling the building for occupancy as a first class small hotel with all modern conveniences. It will contain about seventy-five rooms. Edgar M. Snow & Co. represented both parties.

The same brokers leased for Vlachas & Chiagouris the store at 311 West Madison street to J. A. Kaley for use as a lunchroom at a term rent of $15,000.

The property at the northeast corner of Myrtle and Taylor streets, 50x112 feet, with brick improvements, has been sold by Albert Cohn and others to Isadore Long and others for $28,500, subject to an incumbrance of $12,000.

G. W. Jackson in Deal.

Corbett, Mr. Jackson's former partner, of the property at 746-756 Jackson boulevard, between Halsted and Desplaines streets, 123x165 feet, improved with five story building occupied by the offices of the Jackson company. The premises 753-755 Quincy street also were included.

It is said the transfer has no connection with the recent troubles of the company, but is purely a personal matter between Jackson and Corbett. The latter is said to have owned the land and the former the building.

The property at the northwest corner of Wentworth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, 75x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by Fred H. Street to Edward C. Badenoch for $28,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

Max Goodman has purchased from Moses Rubin the property at the southeast corner of West Madison street and South Forty-seventh avenue, 100x165 feet, for $10,000. He will improve with a two story store and flat building to cost about $30,000.

The six apartment building in Washington avenue, 250 feet north of Fifty-ninth street, with 50 feet east front, has been sold by Frank E. Hall to H. George Miller for $30,000.

$65,000 Loan Secured.

Christian A. Londelius has given a trust deed to the Chicago Title and Trust company to secure a loan of $65,000 six years at 6 per cent, secured by the Virginia Court apartments with 75x161 feet of ground, west front, at 5629-5643 Prairie avenue.

Record was made of the purchase by Roy D. Keehn from Frank E. Hall of the property at the northwest corner of Champlain avenue and Forty-ninth street, 100x130 feet, with twenty-four apartment building, the consideration being given as $50,000.

Anna K. and Charles T. Knisely have leased for a term of twenty-five years to the Art Metal Fireproof Door and Trim company the ground on Wentworth avenue 97 feet north of Twenty-eighth place, 72x125 feet, east front, 25x125 feet, on same street, 222 feet north of Twenty-eighth place, for an aggregate rent of $14,100. The lessee company will improve.

Another Loan for $65,000.

Oscar H. Haugan is trustee in a loan of $65,000, five years at 5½ per cent, in the shape of a bond issue to Walter S. Bogle, secured by the Cartier apartments, with 126x225 feet of ground, at 428-438 Belden avenue.

The federal government has leased from the Lambert Tree estate for the Garfield park substation space at 3707-3709 West Madison street for ten years at an annual rent of $3,600.

Bruce Worley has sold to Henry E. Miller the property at the northeast corner of Greenwood avenue and Fifty-second street, 180x164 feet, a nominal consideration being given. The land is vacant and may be improved with an apartment building.
